EARTHQUAKE DEATHS MAY REACH 1000

POINCARE SEES GERMANY AS MILITARISTIC; TRIES TO COVER REAL FEELINGS

BY RAYMOND POINCARE,
Former Premier of France
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, Public Ledger.]

PARIS, May 24.—During the war it sometimes happened that a gust of wind or a storm would suddenly upset the camouflage of a battery. Immediately the gunners hurriedly would change the branches and foliage placed there to conceal the battery from the indiscreet eye of enemy planes. In the same manner today after the election of Field Marshal Von Beneckendorf and Hindenburg to the presidency of the Reich. Germany is anxious to re-establish as best she can the democratic camouflage which has been so abruptly swept away before the eyes of public opinion.

The significance of the ballot is sufficiently clear, and comments can distort it, not those produced by the ferocious paradoxical brain of David Lloyd George.

According to the former British prime minister, it is France who, as a result of her anti-German policy and her occupation of the Ruhr in particular, has stirred up a spirit of nationalism on the left bank of the Rhine and facilitated the election of the old marshal.

TO SUCH POLICY

Before this gratifying assertion I need only be remarked in the first place, at no time has the Treaty of Versailles has been practiced an "anti-German policy." I have always maintained on the contrary, that she ought to as immediate relations with Germany, profiting the latter loyally kept fter promise. She only entered into following an official decision of the reparations commission establishing that the non-execution of the partial payments already granted, had unjustifiably failed to meet its obligations. Had we not taken advantage of the guarantees which were necessary as a result of this decision, Germany would probably not have agreed to a single of reparations.

Moreover, as we saw that the system which we had shown to be more reasonable, we immediately accepted the application of her wealth which resulted in the adoption of the Dawes plan and no sooner had the financial experts been terminated their task without the slightest delay we adhered to their conclusions although they were far more advantageous to us than the original and the payment plan drawn up in London with the active collaboration of Mr. Lloyd George in May, 1921.

It is therefore, nothing in the good intentions of France to which the licentiousness of the German Reichsman. It should be added that in the Ruhr, the general in the territories still occupied by the Allied troops and still occupied by them, the Marx, and not Marx-Luther, obtained the majority of votes. If, under certain phases of French policy have been instrumental in bringing the chances of Hindenburg's elections they should be attributed to the energetic action of the past, but rather

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 24.—Joint peace maneuvers in the Pacific participated in by seven countries will follow the war game at Honolulu for two weeks beginning July 1, it was announced today.

Prominent nationals will furnish the demonstration when they gather, 100 strong, for the first conference of the new Institute of Pacific Relations in Hawaii to discuss common problems arising from increasing intercourse of their peoples.

The parliament, which is non-political and unofficial, will comprise Canada, Japan, China, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippine Islands and the United States, according to Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Leland Stanford, Jr., University, chairman of the American group.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Bernard M. Baruch, Wallace M. Alexander, the World Peace Foundation, President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, W. Cameron Forbes, former Governor-General of the Philippines, and many other business men, publicists and educators are numbered among the institute's supporters.

The July meeting will also decide whether the Institute of Pacific Relations will organize itself on a permanent basis. If it does, and this is expected, it will proceed somewhat along the line followed by the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass., opening a window on the Far East as Williamstown has given a new outlook on Europe.

Advocates of a permanent institute said they would also favor adding to it a further service structure. This would be in the form of a permanent clearinghouse for continuous interchange of Pan-Pacific ideas. Machinery would be established, to be operated by the peoples themselves, not their governments, to assemble and disseminate facts in connection with

RUBBER FAMINE PREDICTED

Says British Monopolistic Method Threatens American Supply With Peril to Industry

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 24.—British restrictions will precipitate a rubber famine by 1928 or 1930, Secretary Hoover declared today in a report issued by the Department of Commerce on the rubber industry. As the region that produces 95 per cent of the rubber of the world and is mainly under British control. The results in restraint of production and distribution of the action of the British act known as the Stevenson Restriction Act are, first, its effect upon the price, and second its effect upon present and future supply and therefore upon the future supplies of the United States, Secretary Hoover.

Shortage is likely to be felt by 1928 or 1930 and may lay a heavy burden on the American consumer.

"The producing industries of the world would be much better off in the long run if combinations in restraint of international trade were abandoned on all sides. In general their effect is to hoist both the producing and the consuming industries upon artificial bases ultimately resulting in economic difficulty to producers as well as consumers. The stifling of competition, stimulation of rival production, the use of substitutes, and the paralyzing of industry generally are their ultimate results."

The present investigation was made necessary, said Mr. Hoover, "to the end that we may find means to stimulate competitive production as well as to provide measures by which our consumers may set up such counter-action as will protect them."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

COLUMBUS (O.) May 24.—A report of the department of moral welfare of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, making Will H. Hays, head of the Motion-Picture Producers and Distributors of America, the target for an attack on questionable motion pictures, was publicly repudiated today by the church's board of Christian education.

Dr. Charles Scanlon, associate secretary of the board, in charge of the moral welfare department, planned to circulate the report in question tomorrow in pamphlet form.

Dr. Scanlon's name is not mentioned. The statement was issued, it states, "in view of the fact that statements have become public which might be construed as representing the policy of the board of Christian education with reference to motion pictures."

In the Scanlon report, Mr. Hays is asked to name the objectionable pictures which he has had barred from the screen since taking over his present position.

HAYS LEAVES FOR EAST

He is accused, also, of condoning and defending the conduct of producers making "bad" films. Mr. Hays, after reporting on the pension plan, left for New York. He is chairman of a committee to raise $15,000,000 for the denomination's pension plan.

Today's statement was issued over the signature of Dr. Hugh Thompson Kerr of Pittsburgh, president of the board of Christian education.

"The board has been working in sympathetic co-operation with Mr. Will H. Hays, and there is no conflict or misunderstanding between it and Mr. Hays," Dr. Kerr said.

Dr. Scanlon was in conference today with executives of the board. Mr. Hays, it became known, held several long-distance telephone conversations with board officials.

REPORT UP TODAY

The report of the assembly's standing committee on Christian education is to be presented tomorrow, and it is believed the affair will reach a climax then.

Speaking today before a public meeting, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared the organization is seeking the unqualified support of the church to bring about ratification of the Federal child-labor amendment.

The temporary defeat of the child-labor amendment, he asserted, has been "brought about through misrepresentation, deception and vicious propaganda."

A message from President Coolidge was read tonight at a meeting on the subject of "What the Nation Wants from the Church."

"It is not easy for a layman to give an answer with confidence," the Chief Executive wrote, "that will provide anything of inspiration to such a gathering. I am profoundly convinced, however, that the American nation sincerely wants from the church a continuance of its works on religion, humanity and moral leadership.

"I doubt not that there are times when those who have the responsibility for directing the activities of the churches feel that their efforts are not so fully appreciated as they should be, and that a larger measure of co-operation might well be extended by the community at large. Doubtless there is justification for such feelings But I feel strongly that the great American public is deeply devoted to the best religious purposes and ideals and that the work of the church is profoundly appreciated and generously appraised. I do not say this as a judgment merely of the attitude of church members and churchgoers, but rather as my belief regarding the attitude of substantially the entire people.

"If there were even a remote danger of the withdrawal or the decadence of the religious influence, I think we may be sure that the realization of that danger would cause a more acute and widespread concern than any other menace to the national well being."

Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, New York, today delivered the same address setting forth the position of Presbyterian "modernists" that he made last Sunday in New York. He repeated the point that there is room for both schools of though in the church if both forget their differences on creedal interpretations and center their activities "on the great principles which Christ emphasized."

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 24.—May, always credited with being the "merry" month, has snatched from April the questionable laurels for being the most fickle month in the year. Yesterday she sent people scurrying to the shady side of the streets with temperatures of 94 and last night and today she had them shivering under a temperature of 37, with snow over Northern Illinois and Indiana and Southern Michigan.

The Chicago district had not monopoly on this freakish weather. Dispatches tonight indicate that the entire North Mississippi Valley was affected with more or less severity. Southern Illinois and parts of the Ohio Valley, which escaped the first onslaught, are said to be in for a touch of severity from the Alaskan winds.

Police reported today that yesterday a negro died of heat exhaustion and that last night another negro perished of the cold. Physicians warn of the danger of pneumonia, due to the sudden and extreme shift in the weather, which has caught thousands inadequately attired. Palm Beaches and other summer dress, which appeared on the streets yesterday, went back into hiding today and the old heavies were dug out.

Fears are entertained that the damage to fruits, vegetables and vegetation in general has been very heavy. Killing frosts one day before the intensely hot weather did great damage to grape and strawberry crops. Then came the two days of hot blast, followed by high winds and the cold weather and it is certain that the fruit belts have suffered heavy loss.

After the wild gyrations of Friday and Saturday, the harassed lakes calmed down today, although heavy seas were still running. At Alpena, Mich., there was a fluctuation of seven feet in the lake level. At Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., water in St. Marie River suddenly receded four feet. On the eastern borders of the lakes, tidal waves swept up and did considerable damage. Weather experts say this remarkable phenomenon was due to barometric pressure, helped along by extremely high winds. Heeding the warnings broadcast yesterday by the Weather Bureau, all but the largest boats remained in harbor today and aviators, who had planned a mass flight from a down-State field to the mimic war game in Chicago, deferred the experiment until the weather is more certain.

RIFF WAR CHIEF CHANGED

Gen. Daugan Succeeds to Command of Operations by French in Morocco; Painleve May Visit Front

BY HENRY WALES
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, by the Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, May 24.—The War Ministry today admits that Gen. De Chambrun has been succeeded in command of the Moroccan campaign by Gen. Daugan, formerly commander of Marrakech post. Gen. De Chambrun remains in command of one of the columns north of Fez but the actual command of the operations is vested in Gen. Daugan.

On the eve of the reopening of the French Parliament various rumors are current regarding the government's fate, as the Socialists and many radical Socialists are extremely embittered over the Moroccan campaign, and financial circles are worried lest the budget be unbalanced as a result of the heavy expenditures entailed.

It is reported that Paul Painleve, War Minister, is contemplating a flying trip by airplane to visit the Moroccan front so he can return and tell the Deputies the situation exactly. Parliamentarians point out that such a voyage would stave off the fall of the Cabinet for a while at least as it is realized that many Deputies are unwilling to overthrow the government during a crisis.

Others insist that M. Painleve has decided to sacrifice Gen. Lyautey as a sop to the Left cartel. A significant remark was made this morning in a two-column article in Oeuvre, one of the Left's organs, claiming that the Lyautey organization is not detecting Abdel Krim's preparations to attack and that it ridiculed information received from the front a couple of months ago when the activities were reported.

It is reliably reported that the French forces in Morocco have been increased since the offensive began from 84,000 to 123,000, and the troops en route will make a total of 150,000 soon.

Owing to the long line of communications, shipping and railways, the high cost of material and foodstuffs, and the difficulties of transportation and hospital services, the Moroccan campaign is fabulously expensive.

Every shot fired by the field artillery costs $11 and every air bomb dropped costs $32. About $1,500,000 credits will be asked tomorrow and additional funds must be appropriated immediately afterward by Parliament to carry on the operations.

FRENCH ADVANCE FORCE IS VICTORIOUS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, by the Chicago Tribune.]

TANGIER (Morocco) May 24.—While the success of the French advance force against the Riffians in the last three days indicates that there will be no further resistance in the French zone, the restoration of French authority and the pacification of the tribes will be a difficult problem. The operations so far demonstrate the impossibility of ending the menace permanently without carrying the campaign to the Spanish zone.

Though the French combined the powerful columns of Col. Freydenburg and Col. Gambay and while Gen. De Chambrun took charge personally of what was expected to be a decisive battle to clear the enemy from the strong fortifications of Tanout and along the Upper Ouergha, the Riffians dispersed before the French confined their activities to sniping advance guards, the flanks and the rear.

From a military viewpoint the French are in precisely the same position as the Greeks were in Turkey before Smyrna.

The fact that the Beni Zeroul warriors are returning home signifies that their revolt is broken as this tribe was added to the Riffians from the Spanish zone. Skirmishes will be necessary to clear out the Riffians in the hills in the region of Ribane, while a fair-sized engagement is probable before the enemy can be driven from the concentration at Kiffane.

SPAIN WILLING TO LEND AID TO FRENCH

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BIARRITZ, May 24. — Admiral Magen, next to Dictator Primero De Rivera in the Spanish directorate in an interview with the Biarritz Gazette states:

"The only means of reaching results in Morocco is the closest co-ordination between the French and Spanish armies and simultaneous offensives against Abdel Krim and the Riffians. The forces in the French and Spanish zones must be combined in operation to reach a decisive result and smash Abdel Krim's mountain strongholds in the Riff. Spain is willing and anxious to co-operate with France in carrying out such a plan."

Hitler, Chief of Munich Revolt, is Expatriated

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MUNICH (Germany) May 24.—Adolph Hitler, who once was leader of the Fascisti in Bavaria and was responsible for the "beer cellar" revolt at Munich two years ago, has been expatriated by Austria, says an official announcement. The Bavarian government has refused to grant him citizenship and he is expected to apply to the Reich.

In April, 1924, Hitler was sentenced to five years' imprisonment, but in December of the same year was released and went to Austria.

LOVELAND (Colo.) May 24.—Peter Englehart, 72 years of age, a farmer, was instantly killed when a high-tension electric wire was snapped by the wind and dropped on him. A cow came up to sniff at Englehart's body and touched the broken wire, the shock knocking the animal across the road.

Thousands in Japan Suffer as Homes Burned

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, May 24.—The Navy Department in an unofficial estimate places the number of dead in the terrific earthquake on the west coast Saturday at 350 and the injured at 1200. Other estimates based on apparently reliable information place the total casualties at over 2500 with a probability that the deaths will approximate 1000.

More than 3000 homes are believed to have been utterly destroyed in fires which followed the quake and it is believed that 10,000 or 15,000 are homeless through complete or partial demolition of their abodes in the quake itself. Estimates of the property loss run all the way from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000. These figures were arrived at after communication had been restored between Tokio and Toya-Oka and Kinowaki districts where the quakes were the most violent and the loss of life and property was largest.

Most of the post-earthquake fires have been brought under control and measures of relief are proceeding with orderliness and dispatch. It is declared that no assistance from the outside world will be needed.

Kinosaki, health resort in the province of Hyogo, whose warm springs have for years attracted invalids and where scores of hotels and hospitals catered to the sick and restive, was practically wiped out. Only two hotels and a few small residence buildings remain intact. Out of a population of 3000, more than 300 are reported to have perished, many of them being bed-ridden invalids, while scores are reported to have met death in the nude, surrounded by flames which destroyed bath houses and message establishments.

In the town of Toyo-Oka with 8000 population, dispatches report 200 killed and at least 2000 homes destroyed by fire. Immediate relief is required and expeditions are being sent out from Kobe by the city and national government.

Great fissures had cracked the water mains and there was no way of fighting the flames which swept through the town's structures built in the light and flimsy style of rural Japan. Flames which spread to forests soon threw a dense pall of smoke over the entire region and the burning trees and underbrush not only impeded the escape of the quake victims, but slowed up the arrival of army and civilian relief forces.

So far as is known here there are no foreigners among the dead.

TOKIO DISASTER SCENES DUPLICATED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

OSAKA (Japan) May 25.—Eye-witnesses' accounts from Toio-Oka and Kinosaki, which are beginning to come in, agree that scenes of horror similar to those witnessed in Tokio and Yokohama during the earthquake of September 1, 1923, were enacted there on Saturday morning.

The earthquake came very suddenly. The residents, panic-stricken, tried to escape to the open, but many were pinned down by the falling debris and died in the flames, which burst as quickly followed the shock. In Toio-Oka also a number of persons are reported to have been killed by boulders falling from the hillsides.

Fire, however, caused the worst suffering and casualties, the inflammable Japanese houses burning like tinder. In addition, the water mains broke and the firemen were unable to halt the flames. Drinking water is still scarce.

Fear for Life of Stricken Chicago University Head

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 24.—Fears for the life of Ernest Dewitt Burton, president of the University of Chicago, were expressed when his family was summoned tonight to his bedside at the Presbyterian Hospital, where he has been since Tuesday when he was operated on for intestinal trouble.

At the hospital it was stated Dr. Burton was in a critical condition and a bulletin issued at the university said the president's condition was "not favorable."

The operation which brought about Dr. Burton's condition was his second within a month. Numerous consultations have been held over him since he went under the knife on Tuesday but it is said his condition instead of improving has slowly grown worse.

HOPE IS STILL HELD FOR RETURN OF AMUNDSEN; FRIENDS EXCUSE DELAY

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, May 25.—A Copenhagen dispatch to the Daily Mail says it was rumored at Oslo, Norway, at midnight that news had been received from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, to the effect that Capt. Amundsen had returned, but nothing had been received in official quarters.

BY JAMES B. WHARTON
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, by North American Newspaper Alliance]

KINGS BAY (Spitzbergen) (by radio from Steamer Farm) May 24.—Although three full days have elapsed since the departure of the Amundsen-Ellsworth airplanes on their hazardous attempt to fly to the North Pole, there is not yet cause for abandoning hope of successful return, according to expert opinion here today.

It was easy to find good reasons to account for delay. If fine weather was encountered at the Pole, Amundsen would probably lengthen his stay considerably, in order to make the fullest possible scientific observations. He carried instruments which could easily keep him busy for four days gathering useful data for scientific purposes.

Amundsen's friends here said that, after his long years of planning to reach the pole, he would be unwilling to quit that spot until he was forced to do so by necessity. If the weather proved favorable an extra twelve hours might be spent at the pole in order to give the pilots and mechanics a good rest inside their reindeer sleeping bags and a hot meal or two of coffee and pemmican.

SUN PARTIALLY OBSCURED

The weather at Dane's Island was cold and raw today, the sun being partially obscured by clouds. Capt. Hagerup and the two meteorologists went ashore on Amsterdam Island for observations. They reported visibility excellent from the hilltops, enabling them to see the northern horizon at a great distance and the sun shining unobscured beyond. The blackness of clouds to the north and west was not a storm warning, but merely an indication of open water in that direction, as this cloud appearance is caused by the reflection of water against the sky and is a familiar and welcome sight to every ice pilot in northern waters.

Our daily meteorological chart showed, however, that an area of low barometric pressure had begun at several points south of the northern points of Alaska, Siberia and Russia. The cloudiness in the neighborhood of Spitzbergen was apparently a local phenomenon due to influence of the Gulf Stream.

The steamship Hobby returned this morning from a careful patrol along the margin of the ice pack north of Dane's Island. Navigation was interrupted by solid ice before the boat reached Verlegen Hook. The ice field was high and rough, composed chiefly of great fragments of glaciers. Men could easily make progress across it but any airplane, which attempted to land would smash itself to bits.

THINKS POLAR AIRMEN MAY GO TO ALASKA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 24.—Vernon S. Prentice, brother-in-law of Lincoln Ellsworth, and one of the backers of the Amundsen expedition, predicted tonight that the flyers would turn up at Nome, Alaska, about next Tuesday.

"The fact that they gave up taking the radio apparatus in order to be able to carry more gasoline convinces me that it was their purpose to fly on to Alaska," said Mr. Prentice.

"That was the original plan, and there is every reason why they should carry it out. If they intended to fly to Spitzbergen and back, there would be no reason for leaving the radio apparatus.

"I would figure that they would remain for about forty-eight hours at the pole and would probably make another descent if they found new land. They were more eager about the possible continent to be found in the unexplored area between the pole and Alaska than about anything else.

"Amundsen left large stores of gasoline at his station at Wainwright on Point Barrow, Alaska. He would refuel there and start south in a day or two. He would hit civilization at Nome and I think next Tuesday is about the day to expect him.

"Far from being worried about my brother-in-law and the others, I had no expectation of hearing from them again so early as this, since they did not take radio. Even if their plan is merely to fly to the pole and back, there are hundreds of things that might cause temporary delays. I would expect them to put in forty-eight hours at least, taking observations and photographs. They will not repeat the mistake of Peary, who came out with meager proof of his accomplishment.

"Amundsen hoped to find an open sheet of water and to land

GILA ROUTE WORK STARTS

BY BURTON L. SMITH
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WELLTON (Ariz.) May 24.—If enthusiasm, initiative and determination are the factors for creation of an empire, one was brought into being here. Five thousand persons gathered at what a few months ago was a service station by the wayside to celebrate the beginning of construction of the new main line of the Southern Pacific which will traverse the fertile valley of the Gila from Phoenix on its way through to Yuma to Coast. Five hundred thousand acres of productive soil hitherto undeveloped will in the immediate future become homesteads and ranches giving to the world a variety of products as great as those produced in the highest developed agricultural regions of the country.

The celebration was conducted in Wellton for the reason that it is here the proposed new main line will connect with what has been the only route the railroad has had from Texas and points east to the Pacific Coast.

After the new road is completed, which is promised for next November and not later than the first of the year, the old track now used for all trains will be a freight route from Pacacho to Yuma and all transcontinental passenger service will be routed through Phoenix to Wellton and Yuma on its way to Los Angeles and other Coast points.

Speakers at the celebration today pictured in glowing terms the future of this section, all insisting that possibilities for agricutural advancement were unlimited and compared the tomorrow of the valley of the Gila to past greatness of the valley of the Nile.

City and County officials of Phoenix, representative citizens of Yuma and hundreds from all parts of Arizona joined in the celebration and pledged their moral and financial support to the development of this new country made possible by the needed rail facilities and the recent discovery of water only a few feet below the surface which can be pumped on the lands at a minimum expense.

That the Southern Pacific is interested in the promised awakening of this new territory was manifested by the presence of two private cars on the siding at the little station-house and the attendance of several prominent officials of the road at the celebration. A. E. Sweet, assistant general manager; W. W. Wilson, superintendent of the Tucson division; G. E. Wilson, agent at Yuma; L. C. McCoy, superintendent of construc-

to the weaknesses and leniences of yesterday. So long as France made it clear that she knew what she wanted Germany refrained from Nationalist manifestations. But, from the time she believed that through lassitude we were inclined to let her do as she pleased, she no longer considered it necessary to camouflage her intentions.

SUCCESS OBSCURE

The grounds of Hindenburg's success are certainly rather intricate. The party of the Right was in minority after the first ballot, as compared with the Republican group. In the second ballot, however, the Republicans were swamped. An increase of nearly 3,000,000 votes was registered in favor of Hindenburg. This is largely due to the fact that the nonvoters of the first ballot, and women in particular, flocked in great numbers to the polls as soon as a military uniform appeared in the limelight.

The Socialists had vainly broadcast caricatures of Hindenburg; they represented him standing at the salute before the ex-Kaiser, saying:

"Majesty, you may rest at ease; I have mastered the Russians; I shall also master the republic."

These taunts, far from discouraging the followers of the monarchy, had everywhere strengthened their faith.

Furthermore, the parties of the Right showed their skill in simultaneously bringing together the important forces of both Protestants and Catholics against the parties of the Left. It consequently occurred that many Catholics preferred voting for an earnest Protestant, such as Marshal Hindenburg, instead of for Dr. Marx, a militant Catholic, but backed by Socialists. On the other hand, Protestants of the Left could not make up their mind to vote for Dr. Marx, fearing that the success of this candidate might entail that of the extreme Left. The Rev. Dr. Corell, in the Vossische Zeitung, unsuccessfully attempted to reassure the Liberal Protestants; without meeting with more success Germania, published two articles by a prominent Catholic in order to reassure those electors of the Center who feared a further outburst of kultur kampft.

All these considerations of a religious nature contributed in the final analysis, to an increase of Hindenburg's majority. A number of small rivulets so flowed into the river; the river became a torrent and swept away all before it.

WAR CRIMINAL

If the German people have thus idealized one of their leaders, who during the war not only authorized but even ordered the greatest number of violations of common law, and whose name appears on the list of the criminals of war, it is doubtless because his methods of professing his love of peace are, to say the least, both original and unexpected.

For the sake of argument, let us reverse the situation. Let us assume that a Presidential election is taking place in France and that the voting body is made up of the entire country instead of as at present a Congress composed of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies.

Let us assume that Marshal Foch accepts the candidacy and is elected: What would people in Germany say? What would people in other parts of Europe say? What would people even in America say? Everywhere, is it not true, it would be the same cry of indignation: "Militaristic France!" France on the warpath!" "Wet blanket France!" "Incorrigible France!"

But it is not Marshal Foch who has solicited a Presidency. He never even gave a thought to it. Although victorious over Hindenburg he never sought after either power or honor. A modest and discreet citizen he withdraws from the cheers of the crowd and remains the faithful servant of the government of the republic. The country loves and admires him, but none wishes to confer on him an authority which all would rather see in the hands of civilians, because all are aware that the interference of a soldier in politics is too often detrimental to both the State and the army.

What a contrast between France and Germany! Over there the awakening of monarchist instincts, the traditional obedience to military discipline, a people not yet sufficiently accustomed to liberal institutions; here the unshaken stability of the republican and democratic regime, the gratitude to and respect of chiefs who led the national defense and saved their country; but still the supremacy of civilian power, resolutely maintained and protected against all attacks.

TRIES TO HIDE IT

I am perfectly aware that Germany is now doing all in her power to avoid this embarrassing comparison. She tries to persuade us that the "feld grau" uniform of Marshal Hindenburg is but a scarecrow to frighten away the sparrows. Nothing has been changed, we are told, in German politics. Was not Dr. Marx the first to congratulate Marshal Hindenburg? Does not Chancellor Luther still remain in office? The proposals which he made, in agreement with Dr. Stresemann, to England, and France are they not still intact?

All this show of national unity is unfortunately not of a nature to tranquilize Europe nor to acquaint her as to the true intentions of Germany. Dr. Marx's platform, as we have seen, was practically the same so far as foreign policies are concerned, as that of Marshal Hindenburg. Both of the two candidates insisted strongly on the necessity of maintaining Germany as a great and powerful nation, and thereby both meant that it was indispensable to unite in one great state the German-speaking states not already included in the Reich. They made an exception, however, of the German-speaking Swiss, but their hesitancy on this point doubtless will be of only short duration.

Nevertheless, the reckless declarations concerning the annexation of Austria stirs up a great deal of feeling in Italy and Czecho-Slovakia and this feeling, instead of subsiding, has constantly increased. Unless Italy was blind she could not accept having Germany as a next-door neighbor north of the Alps. The treaties of Versailles, of St-Germain, supplemented by that of Rapallo, have completed the unity of Italy, which originated between 1860 and 1870 and established its sovereignty over the Trentino and the southern part of the Tyrol.

But in the northern part of these countries the inhabitants are of mixed stock and in some districts the German-speaking elements equal the Italian.

ITALY IS ANXIOUS

German representatives were, as a matter of fact, sent to Montecitono. Italy need not be greatly alarmed, so far as Austria's action regarding these frontier districts is concerned. On the other hand, should the Reich occupy Innsbruck, Italy certainly would have reasons to fear an attempt on the part of Germany to penetrate into and to meddle with these districts. She is consequently anxious to avail herself of the right bestowed by the Treaty of Versailles on each of its signatories to resist the absorption of Austria by the Reich.

Czecho-Slovakia has the same reasons to be on the lookout should Vienna come under the domination of Berlin. If Germany absorbed the 6,140,000 inhabitants of Austria, she would encircle Bohemia by the south, as far as Moravia, and hold it in her power. The Reich then certainly would not fail to exercise its pressure on the German minorities of Pilsen, Klatten, Schuttenhofen, Kroman and to raise incessant difficulties with Czecho-Slovakia.

M. Benes, who is one of the most remarkable statesmen of Europe, has felt this danger for a long time and many months ago I had occasion to talk over the question with him. Notwithstanding the prejudice of many of his countrymen against Austria he has always considered it necessary for the Czechs to strengthen their relations with the Danube states, in order to prevent them from being overcome by the German ascendancy.

Later, while on his way to Warsaw, M. Benes stated: "I am doing everything in my power to prevent Germany and Austria from uniting."

Opposition on the part of Czecho-Slovakia, opposition from the other states of the Little Entente, opposition on the part of Italy and France—they are more than enough for the League of Nations to refuse to allow Germany to make the coveted annexation. The covenant of the League of Nations requires unanimity, and it is more than likely that Germany will not be able to obtain a majority when and if the question comes to a vote. Will she dare ignore the decision of Europe? It would indeed be an unusual way to solicit other nations' confidence.

DANGER TO POLAND

But Dr Marx's untimely threats, as well as Von Hindenburg's election not only have caused anxiety to Italy and Czecho-Slovakia in regard to their own fate; they have also made clear to those two countries the danger faced by Poland, and the trap disguised under the offers made to France and England. M. Benes not only wished to draw Czecho-Slovakia and Austria closer together, but he also nourished the desire to dispel the misunderstandings which existed between Czecho-Slovakia and Poland.

Germany's blunders have helped him attain this aim, which was also that of France. He not only has negotiated and signed at Warsaw, with Count Skrzynski, the Foreign Minister, commercial and arbitration treaties, but he has also laid the foundations of a lasting policy of co-operation between the two countries. No more than Czecho-Slovakia would tolerate the seizure of Austria by Germany would she agree to any modifications of the eastern frontiers detrimental to Poland. Neither will Rumania, nor Jugo-Slavia yield to the encroachments which President Von Hindenburg, together with Dr. Marx, Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann are planning to make in the near future on the Polish corridor and in Upper Silesia.

It is to be hoped that the objections raised by so many friendly countries will succeed in modifying the attitude of the British government and the press. German claims had found so favorable an echo in London that M. Herriot's convictions were considerably shaken, and he, although professing an unfailing friendship for Poland, was gradually inclined to believe that one might, with the help of a little cordial advice, prevail upon the Warsaw government to accept certain concessions. Strange illusion which I know neither M. Painleve nor M. Briand will share. Anyone at all familiar with the people of Poland knows perfectly well that it is impossible to obtain from them a surrender of their rights.

Fortunately there have been, thank heaven, Englishmen who have shown up Germany's game, and among the most prominent of them is Brig.-Gen. J. H. Morgan who, after having distinguished himself in the war, was sent as British delegate to the Inter-Allied Control Commission in Germany.

WELL QUALIFIED

Gen. Morgan is not in the true sense of the word an army man by profession; he has been a lawyer, a journalist and a professor of constitutional law at London University. He is, therefore, able to discuss matters of the most diversified nature. During a lecture which he delivered recently at the European center of the Carnegie Foundation, he developed at length exactly the same ideas that I have expressed in these articles. He pointed out that, until now, Germany has not made the slightest attempt to inspire confidence in its given word in view of the fact that it had never carried out the military clauses of the treaty nor disarmed.

"If they try to negotiate," said Mr. Morgan, "it is because they hope that by so doing they will obtain the evacuation of Cologne, exactly as if they had met their obligations."

The lecturer very clearly pointed out, as I had already done here, that a pact between France and Germany which would not apply to the eastern frontiers would place us under an obligation and paralyze us in the event of an attack on Poland by Germany. A reciprocal guarantee of nonaggression would prevent us from coming to the rescue of our ally.

Gen. Morgain maintains that this is exactly Germany's purpose. He adds that the proposed pact not only would be useless but dangerous, so long as the question of security has not been settled, and asserts that today in the zone which, according to the Treaty of Versailles, should be entirely disarmed, the German police constitute in reality a regular army provided with machine guns and airplanes, garrisoned, not where the maintenance of public order would require, but in accordance with a military strategic plan. Moreover, on the Rhenish borders, units of Reichswehr have been established equalling exactly the strength of three armies previously stationed in Lorraine and Alsace.

This information, obtained on the spot by a man exercising his functions of controller, confirms that which I have already given here, and it is to be hoped that Marshal Foch's report, in itself, a synthesis of this information, will be published in its original form, without any alterations or attenuations. Europe, the whole world must know all the truth.

No sooner had he started investigating Germany's resources than M. Briand guessed at their true value, and deemed it expedient considerably to modify the answer which M Herriot proposed to send to London. He will persevere, I have no doubt, in the path he has so wisely chosen and which comprises three stages: First, the disarmament of Germany; second, the admission of Germany to the League of Nations under the usual conditions, namely, to respect treaties, and third, individual defensive pacts.

As Mr. Houghton, American Ambassador to England, remarked in London before the Pilgrims' Society:

"Good faith is the cement which keeps together the edifice of civilization. Peace cannot come from outside; it must originate from within."

We are awaiting Germany's profession of good faith, her assurance emanating from "within," from the depths of a free and sincere heart, not to break the peace of the world.

HOPE IS HELD FOR AMUNDSON

Hobby's patrol was identical with that at Dane's Island. Large banks of low hung clouds were gathered at a height of 1000 to 1200 feet, but the visibility at lower levels continued excellent and the returning planes could easily fly below the cloud bank so as to take full advantage of this condition.

If this cloudiness, however, extends a few hundred miles north ward of Spitsbergen, it may account for the delayed return of the two airplanes. They may be blockaded by storm or fog.

Although the situation is not yet considered critical, it is fair to state that every one of the waiting party at Dane's Island was keenly disappointed by the failure of the explorers to appear during the past twenty-four hours, and most of us were not without some forebodings of possible disaster.

The temperature at Dane's Island today was just below freezing and it was probably little colder at the pole, if the sun was shining there.

The most plausible explanation for the delay of the flyers was that they had failed to find a suitable landing-place at the pole and had therefore landed many miles away, perhaps on open water or snow. It would then be necessary for Amundsen to seek the pole on skis. Certainly the leader of the expedition would be reluctant to start back without actually traversing the pole, even if a long and arduous journey on foot was necessary to reach this coveted spot.

The watchers aboard the Hobby and Farm spent an almost sleepless night. The crew relieved the strain of waiting by a musical program on the ship's phonographs.

AUNT EXPRESSES FEAR ELLSWORTH FORCED DOWN

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PASADENA, May 24.—Fear that Capt. Roald Amundsen and his American exploring partner, Lincoln Ellsworth, have been forced down in the Arctic wastes, was expressed here today by the latter's aunt, Mrs. F. O. Ellsworth, 1230 South El Molino avenue. Direct word from the flyers which reached Pasadena four days ago indicated the pole seekers had no intentions of landing, Mrs. Ellsworth said.

The expedition was financed by the American because of his love for adventure and exploration, according to his aunt. He has spent many years in little-known parts of the world. Prior to his departure for the Arctic he had gone into the Andes with a party of scientists from Johns Hopkins University.

"Exploration is one of my nephew's hobbies," said Mrs. Ellsworth. "He is a graduate of Columbia University and McGill University, but has never followed his profession of mining engineer very much. He and Capt. Amundsen have been friends for a number of years and arrangements for the present trip were made in Ohio last fall."

NORWAY INTENSELY INTERESTED IN FATE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

OSLO (Norway) May 24.—There is no word yet from the Amundsen-Ellsworth expedition to the North Pole, but the intense interest in the fate of the men both here and throughout Norway is shown by the constant questioning of newspapers and those who might possibly receive information. Yet there is nothing but silence in the mysterious north into which Amundsen and his comrades disappeared several days ago.

The Aftenposten urges patience. It remarks that Amundsen always takes his time and recalls that when he was at the South Pole with little food and even moments were precious, he remained there three days.

BELOVED RESIDENT OF MINNEAPOLIS EXPIRES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MINNEAPOLIS, May 24.—Mrs. Dilda Ann Bezoier, who came to the Northwest seventy years ago on a steamboat from St. Louis, and who was known as "Aunt Dilda" to thousands of Minneapolis residents, died unexpectedly at the home of her son, Stanley H. Bezoier, 2025 Fremont avenue, south. Mrs. Bezoier was one of the most beloved women in Minneapolis. She was vitally interested in life always and at 82 was as vivacious and youthful in her outlook as she was in the early days in the Northwest when she lived through many adventures.

PACIFIC PEACE MEET PLANNED

racial and other studies to be made in accordance with a co-ordinated plan of investigation. All countries would co-operate on equal terms under this plan.

Some of the biggest men in the present movement, it was disclosed today, believe that some such unofficial processes would enable the institute to take up problems and get at facts which could not be discussed officially by governments, at the outset, but which, once they were worked out and proven, might properly be welcomed as a basis for official action. Those of this mind cited the now famous meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce in Rome, which became the unofficial birthplace of the Dawes plan.

DESCRIBES PURVIEW

Dr. Wilbur, in describing the purview of the Institute of Pacific Relations, said:

"The genius of this conference has been conceived not as a diplomatic negotiation, nor as bargaining based on national or group aspirations or advantage. It is conceived as a process of thinking and studying together by experts from each nation upon the problems of greatest mutual interest and concern which arise from the increasing intercourse of the peoples involved."

Findings or pronouncements offering immediate solutions to problems were not the goal of the conference, Dr. Wilbur said. It was hoped, however, that first steps toward ultimate solutions could be agreed upon, and that constructive processes toward this end could be worked out.

He particularly termed the institute the first successful attempt to mobilize Pan-Pacific thought in international affairs. By a coincidence this mobilization would come in the wake of the recent fleets and land forces, he said, and accordingly should serve to emphasize that a growing sentiment was abroad in the Pacific for amicable deliberation as well as marital preparation.

Dr. Wilbur, who is a brother of Secretary of Navy Wilbur, was optimistic of results to be gained at Honolulu. He pictured picked minds of seven peoples getting together man to man and freed of official constraint—pooling their anxieties, comparing their differences and testing their ambitions against the challenge of each other's logic. If the institute did nothing more, he said, it would have scored an achievement in even effecting discussion of Pacific problems under such conditions.

Dr. Wilbur was inclined to feel that the much-discussed Island of Oahu, of which Honolulu is the seat, might yet be found to possess strategical advantages capable of making it, spiritually at least, a Gibraltar of international, as well as national, security.

VOTE PLAN SUPPORT

The Institute of Pacific Relations was first proposed two years ago by citizens of Hawaii. The Central Executive Committee in charge of this year's arrangements is located there. Frank C. Atherton, banker, is chairman. The idea spread steadily through the Far East and North America, and at the Yale Club here on Washington's birthday forty recognized leaders in international and Pacific affairs came together to review the plan of the institute and to determine its merits. They voted overwhelmingly that this country should take part in the institute on an unofficial basis.

The Institute, its founders have decided, will follow round table and forum discussion rather than the lecture and formal address as the type of conference procedure. A minimum of publicity for the discussions themselves has been decreed as a better stimulus to frankness on the part of speakers. A valuable bibliography on problems of the Pacific has been prepared for advance reading by delegates by Prof. Raymond L. Buell of Harvard.

The executive committee of the American group was announced today as Charles B. Batchelder, formerly acting chief Far Eastern division, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce; Prof. George H. Blakeslee, Clark University; Fletcher S. Brockman, International Young Men's Christian Association; Edward C. Carter; Prof. Henry Pratt Fairchild, New York University; W. Cameron Forbes; President Harry A. Garfield, Williams College; E. Stanley Glines, exporter; Jerome D. Greene; Millward W. Martin; George A. Plimpton, president, Ginn & Co.; Dr. G. A. Johnston-Ross, Union Theological Seminary; James M. Speers, president James McCutcheon & Co.; Prof. George Grafton Wilson, Harvard, and Dr. Wilbur, chairman.

The advisory council of sixteen, included President Ernest D. Burton, University of Chicago; Julius Rosenwald; Henry M. Robinson, of Los Angeles; Dr. John H. Finley; Alba B. Johnson, formerly president Baldwin Locomotive Works; Bernard M. Baruch; Wallace M. Alexander; Edwin S. Webster; President Lowell of Harvard and others.

The American delegation personally attending the institute will include, in addition to many of the above: President Norman P. Coleman, Reed College, Portland, Or.; Prof. Herbert H. Gowen, University of Washington; Robert N. Lynch, vice-president, San Francisco Chainber of Commerce; Prof. Robert E. Park, University of Chicago; Prof. Westel W. Willoughby, Johns Hopkins; President Mary E. Woolley, Mount Holyoke College; William Allen White, Prof. Stanley K. Hornbeck, Harvard; Congressman Frederick M. Davenport, New York, and a score of others.

JAPAN TO SEND ENVOYS

Japan will send a large delegation, among whom will be Prof. Masaharu Anesaki of Tokio Imperial University and Nagao Hampei of the International Siberian Railroad Commission.

China will send Dr. Z. T. K. Woo, general manager, Han Yeh Ping Corporation, and probably some twelve in all. Former Premier Tang Shao Yi and Dr. Chang Po Ling, president of Nankai University at Tientsin, are favorably considering the trip, according to advices.

Australia has notified the institute to expect Hon. J. B. Gow, Prof. MacMillan Brown, Prof. Condliffe, C. M. Luke, ex-member of the Legislative Council, H. W. Kerseley, Mrs. Pearson, E. C. M. Glaister and A. C. Caughey.

New Zealand will have Miss MacLean, principal of the Wellington Girls' College, Dr. Guy Scholefield, J. Caughey, director of education; A. Varney, and others.

Judge Manuel Camus of the Superior Court of Manila will represent the Philippines.

The budget necessary for the Institute of Pacific Relations was given as $75,000. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has contributed $10,000 on condition the full budget is raised. Other contributors are: Wallace M. Alexander, $1000; Bernard M. Baruch, $1000; the World Peace Foundation of Boston, $3000 outright, and $2000 as the directors feel it may be needed. Japan and China have each pledged $5000 despite business conditions there. Hawaii subscribed $25,000 from the outset. A deficit of about $25,000 is still to be made up.

modity the supply of which is controlled by a foreign monopoly, but stated that "the Stevenson Restriction Act was one of the actions which called the attention of the American public to their dependence upon one distinct region, mainly under control of one goverment of a commodity so essential to our national welfare."

"Our rubber imports in 1923 were valued at $135,000,000, or about 7½ per cent of the whole world's production," Secretary Hoover continued. "Crude rubber ranked fourth among our imports, only raw silk, sugar and coffee exceeding it in value. Three great industries are dependent upon the raw material—rubber manufacturing, automotive and oil (through its dependence upon the automotive industry.) The aggregate capital invested in these industries exceeds $13,000,000,000."

The report stated that because of the British restrictions this year's export of plantation rubber from the Middle East will fall far short of what that region could have produced without restriction.

be let off with the mere verbal castigation he delivered in Columbus, O., Saturday, at the Presbyterian General Assembly, in session there.

He has arranged with William Fox to make a screen production in Hollywood that will be active propaganda against this evil. It is called "Thank You," and is based on the idea that ministers have to accept a small salary and express deep gratitude for any perquisites such as roast chickens, jars of doughnuts, cast-off clothing and invitations to dinner that come their way. It is following the stage play by John Golden, and William Fox's best-known director, John Ford, of "Iron Horse" fame, has been chosen to direct it.

As well as being active propaganda for better pay for preachers, a goodly portion of the receipts are to go to a fund for taking care of decrepit and indigent ministers and their families.

Filipino Student Finishes Course in Agriculture

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STILLWATER (Okla.) May 23. Ten native Filipinos left Manila in November, 1920, to get an education in the States. They are winding up their college courses this spring, and in most instances they will return to their island homes to help their people.

When the party reached Seattle it was decided that each man should go to a different State and enroll in a school that offered the best courses in the particular line of work each had chosen.

Typical of this group is Jorge Arzoba Madamba of Quezon, the first Filipino to enroll at the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College, and about to receive a bachelor of science degree in agronomy. His father owns 4000 acres of land on which he raises rice, copra and abaca. Young Madamba will teach agronomy in a native school.

BERLIN, May 24.—Field Marshal Von Ludendorff has refused to accept it and is exerting pressure to remain at his post, though his friends admit they cannot see why he feels abused.

In the eyes of his friends, Gen. Ludendorff won Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's victories and now Gen. Von Hindenburg has not only taken all the credit, but he has also won himself a resplendent job. This is too much to enable Gen. Ludendorff to remain optimistic.

With Gen. Von Hindenburg the big boss in Germany, it would go against Gen. Ludendorff's dignity to remain in a minor post in one of the smallest parties in the there. The nearest open sheet might have been some miles from the pole, and the walk on foot to the pole and back to the planes would take a good deal of time.

PLANES MAY BE SEPARATED

"If they landed safely on a smooth sheet of snow or ice, they might still have a good deal of difficulty in getting up into the air again. They might need various minor repairs. They might have to wait for favorable weather, or for the sun to come out through fog. Another thing is that the two planes might become separated, causing delay before they could reunite.

"In case of a forced landing or a voluntary landing on ice under unfavorable conditions, it is possible the planes might be smashed so badly that they could not be used again. Then they would have a very severe and difficult time ahead, but I feel sure that they could cross both ice and open water and make their way safely to Cape Columbia.

"'Don't worry if you don't hear from us for a year,' my brother-in-law wrote in his last letter to Mrs. Prentice. He figured that it might take them a year to get back to civilization if they were forced to travel on foot. They took on their planes, of course, guns, food for thirty days and all material needed for the journey by ice and water to Ellesmere Land. Near Ellesmere Land they could kill plenty of food.

"The thing that Amundsen and Ellsworth were both most interested in was the possibility of finding undiscovered land near the pole. The flight from the pole to Alaska would cut right through the heart of the undiscovered region."

PLANE BUILDER'S OPINION

Grover Loening, the aeronautical designer, who built the two amphibian planes with which Donald MacMillan will try in August to explore unknown regions near the pole, said today that great difficulties must have attended an attempt of Amundsen and Ellsworth to make a landing near the pole. In his opinion the efforts to land on an ice field would be likely to result in accident.

"If they found open water near the pole it would be very simple," he said. "If they found water with ice floating in it, there would be danger of a wreck. If they tried to drop directly on the ice it seems to me that it would be very dangerous, with hardly any possibility of avoiding a mishap.

"It is a question whether skids would be useful or only add to the danger. If they sought to skim along and gradually drop on the ice without skids, the bodies of

CAUTION MARKS SHEPHERD TRIAL

State Prepares to Redouble Vigilance Measures

Safeguards for Witnesses is New Crowe Concern

Death of Mrs. McClintock May be Injected in Case

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 24.—Precautions of an unusual nature are to govern every act of the State's Attorneys in conducting the remainder of the trial of William D. Shepherd, the prosecutors let it be known today.

No chances are to be taken in the selection of the jury, the task which will be resumed tomorrow morning after a week's effort having resulted in the choosing of but four jurors. State's Attorney Crowe said every man picked by him will first have to undergo a most careful investigation, questioning and scrutinizing.

Every safeguard is to be placed about the State's witnesses, to prevent their being intimidated or tampered with and to see that they remain here where they will be available when needed. Police of the State's Attorneys staff have been especially assigned for this purpose.

The events of last week are responsible for those decisions which became known today. State's Attorney Crowe had in mind the disappearance of Robert White, admittedly an important witness against Shepherd, and the statement of Philip Barry, who had been called as a prospective juror, that he was solicited to "be friendly to Shepherd's cause."

NOW PREPARED

Because of this statement James J. Callan, a politician, is under $2500 bond to answer a citation for contempt of court. It is not expected anything will result from the citation except his denial which will end the matter, but the point the State's Attorney wanted to make is that if it happened once it may be tried again and he is now prepared for any attempt to debauch the jury.

Attorney William Scott Stewart, of counsel for Shepherd, was still indignant today in his denial that anyone acting in Shepherd's behalf had aything to do with either the disappearace of White or the proposition mentioned by Barry.

A report was received from Miami, Fla., today that White was there and not in hiding. It was said the police there could pick him up whenever they were asked but that so far they have received no such request from Chicago.

First Assistant State's Attorney George E. Gorman said tonight he had information that the man in Miami was not the missing witness. He said a larceny charge is pending against White because of his taking with him an automobile he had rented and there is a reward of $100 offered by the automobile concern for White's arrest.

ANOTHER PROBLEM

Besides protecting its witnesses and preserving the sanctity of the jury system, another problem is confronting the State's Attorney, the lawyers revealed today. It is the question of whether or not the death of Mrs. McClintock is to figure in the trial in which the death of her son, William J. Alison McClintock, furnished the murder charge against Shepherd.

On the theory that Shepherd inoculater Billy McClintock with typhoid germs to kill him and make immediately effective the will which McClintock had executed naming Shepherd as the beneficiary of the $1,000,000 estate, and that Shepherd plotted that death sixteen years ago when he chanced upon the widowed Mrs. McClintock and her 5-year-old son, the State might be legally justified in bringing out the facts of Mrs. McClintock's death, some lawyers hold.

Other attorneys contend that a person may be tried for but one crime at a time and that if the deaths of mother and son were in reality both due to foul means, still they could not both be proved in the same trial.

A middle-of-the-road opinion is that if a connection could be shown between the hypothetical murders of Mrs. McClintock and William McClintock, then that connection might be introduced in the present trial as a circumstance tending to prove the motive and the plot.

It is understood that State's Attorney Crowe does not think a murder charge could be proved in the death of Mrs. McClintock though Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal Court — the man who launched the charges against Shepherd — does think so and his view was accepted by the Coroner's jury.

NO DECISION YET

One suggestion was that perhaps State's Attorney Crowe yet intends to surprise the defense with this legal ammunition. Mr. Gorman said a decision had not yet been reached on the subject.

It was pointed out that if he intends to bring up the subject, State's Attorney Crowe must submit the names of witnesses concerning that subject to the defense lawyers before the beginning of the actual trial. He has, therefore, until the completion of the jury, to decide and if his decision is to make the trial a double-barreled affair, to warn the defense by naming the witnesses to them.

As the tedious work of selecting a jury, upsetting asserted jury-fixing ploys and pursuing disappearing witnesses goes by, Shepherd appears day by day more heavy-eyed.

Reporters and feature writers attending the trial, make much of Mrs. Shepherd's solicitude for her husband's health. She frets about his cold, his headache, his attire. Once she called across the intervening space to him:

"Darl, dear, does your head ache?"

"No," he replied, rather shortly, but Mrs. Shepherd turned to her companion and insisted.

"I'm sure he has a headache."

"Don't scowl so, darl, dear," she counseled, and "Darl" smoothed out his ruffled forehead.

Both the Shepherds spend much of their time making copious notes of the trial, jotting down their impressions which Mrs. Shepherd says she "will use later." She denied any intention of using them in fiction form.

INDUSTRIES FOR APRIL IN DECLINE

"Business Indicator" of Commerce Bureau Finds March Activity Greater

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The "Business indicator" of the Department of Commerce of which the following is a part, shows in the "review of business in April" that:

"Though higher than a year ago, industrial activity in April as seen from reports of the iron, steel, coke, copper, tin, silk and wool industries, was lower than in the previous month. Unfilled steel orders, continuing the decline which began in March, were smaller at the end of April than at any similar period since last November. Automobile production, on the other hand, was the largest on record and cotton consumption the largest since May, 1923. Industries affected by seasonal conditions showed marked advances over the previous month; shipments of cement and lumber, and bookings of architectural terra cotta and fabricated structural steel were well above those of March. The April shipments of completed railroad locomotives, though larger than a year ago, were smaller than in March.

"Contracts awarded for new construction were larger in April than in either the preceding month or April, 1924, both in point of floor space and contemplated expenditures. Car loadings were smaller than in March, but were well above those of a year ago."

AUTOMOBILES TODAY USING LESS GASOLINE

AVERAGE CONSUMPTION NOW 20 PER CENT LOWER THAN IN 1917

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 23.—Average consumption of gasoline per automobile in the United States has decreased 20 per cent since 1917, according to a statement made public here by the American Research Foundation.

"Average consumption of gasoline, taking every motor vehicle of every class, in the United States last year was 373 gallons each," the statement reads. "Average consumption for 1917 was 461 gallons, a difference of eighty-eight gallons a year. For the four-year period from 1917 to 1921 the average was 413 gallons, and for the next four-year period to 1925 it was 372 gallons.

"Decrease in the amount of gasoline used by each vehicle is ascribed to greater efficiency of automobile motors. On an average motor efficiency of twelve and one-half miles to the gallon, cars in 1924 averaged nearly 5000 miles a year. The lowered amount consumed, however, has had no effect in making gasoline more plentiful, as to compensate for one-fifth lower average use of gas per car, there are now three and one-half motor vehicles on the roads in the United States for every one in 1917.

"Allowing to motor vehicles 85 per cent of the total domestic consumption, in 1917 they used 2,290,498,570 gallons of gasoline; in 1924, 6,613,472,000 gallons. This year, it is estimated, may require 7,500,000,000 gallons for motor vehicles alone."

SOVIET POISON INFECTS CHINA

Red Propagandists Preach War on Foreigners

Bolshevik Embassy Stirs Up Natives' Passions

Massacre of Aliens May be First of Intrigue

BY ALFRED E. PIERES

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, May 24.—A sweeping glance at what is going on in China today, not merely in the port cities, where matters are more or less normal, but in the vast interior, is of a nature to move one furiously to thought.

Since Comrade Karakhan and his smooth-talking entourage came into the country there have been many secret intrigues and counter-maneuverings among China's politicians. The hand of the soviet is to be distinctly seen in these, and the foreign press of China actually fears that this Bolshevik incitation and instigation is liable to culminate in an explosion in which foreigners in the interior are likely to be murdered.

It is said that, if all China erupts in one mammoth antiforeign outburst, military intervention would have to be resorted to on such a huge scale that it would be impossible. On the other hand, others say, and these are by far in the majority, that, though intervention by force of arms would be a far bigger thing than it was in 1900, it can be successfully undertaken.

NEW BOXER WAR

Anyway, if the present madness of young China, fostered by Bolshevik prompting, ends in another outbreak like the Boxer rebellion, what other alternative will the powers have but to act?

The only alternative seems to be for the powers to invite the various leaders of China to a round-table conference, especially the leaders of the commercial and educational sections of China, where, after a frank recognition of things as they actually are, as against the manner in which diplomats try to make them out to be, and a steady determination made to eliminate the causes that may bring about an explosion.

One of the most essential things for China herself, not for foreigners, is the reorganization of her railway system, which, today, instead of being a most valuable revenue-earning possession, a great national asset, is in utter ruin, thanks to the militarists. At the same time it must be said that the Chinese people themselves, if not actually indifferent, appear incapable of stopping the rot.

POISON WORKING

The Diplomatic Corps in Peking finds it very difficult to awaken China to the necessity of seeing her way with caution, and this is largely the result of Ambassador Karakhan working at cross-purposes at every turn. On the other hand, the other powers have never been able to agree on a common line of policy toward China, and they have not upheld unity of action in any single, serious particular, even before Comrade Karakhan and his minions came.

This weakness and vacillation on the part of the powers, and the supine acceptance by them of the most flagrant violations of the codes of international morality by warring tuchuns has bred in the Chinese mind the idea that the powers are too divided to prevent the corrupt Chinese politician doing as he pleases.

The danger is not limited merely to the sudden self-elation of the Chinese and to their Bolshevik mentors; the disunity of the powers and their mutual jealousies must also, to be right, be taken into consideration when the historian or the newspaper correspondent of the future delves into the causes of China's second Boxer rebellion.

Straus Looks for Six-Billion Building Total

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 24.—A prediction that the nation's 1925 building program will exceed $6,000,000,000 was made yesterday by S. W. Straus & Co., investment bankers, in the course of an industrial review.

"Building activities this year are already proportionately ahead of last year's record of $5,750,000,000," said Mr. Straus. "All trades and industries are materially benefited by this increase. The general outlook leaves small room for comfort on the part of the business pessimist."

Mr. Straus is of opinion that the constant demand by the people to live better is largely responsible for the increase in building operations. "The luxury of yesterday is the necessity of today," he pointed out. "People by the millions are going to the suburbs because they prefer living there."

British Assert Howard Speech Uninstructed

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 24.—It is denied here that Sir Esme Howard's speech at the Iron and Steel Institute was made on instructions, and it is stated that it is believed he was only pointing out what everyone knows to be the truth—that if a trade depression comes it will be extremely hard for the European debtors to keep up their payments to America. This does not mean that Great Britain has the slightest idea of defaulting on its loan settlement. What lies behind all is the fact that payments can only be made in goods and services.

If times become hard all over the world, including America, and America is unable to take British goods and services, it will be increasingly difficult to transfer cash and credit, which only represent goods and services.

HAWAIIAN SUGAR AT NEW RECORD

Coming Crop Forecast to be Greatest Ever

Production Methods Swell Yield Per Acre

Price Outlook Discouraging; Lower Range Seen

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HONOLULU, May 24.—Another record-breaking crop of sugar is forecast for the Hawaiian Islands during 1925. The year 1924 provided a new record with 701,433 tons, while early estimates for 1925 set the total at 725,000 tons, with the probability that this will be exceeded.

Hawaiian planters are conservative in their advance statements, and usually their crops run considerably over the preliminary estimates.

Ten years ago there were plenty of people to predict that Hawaii had reached the limit in sugar production. Many forecast a gradual decrease, due to the use of the land for other crops.

The increase is not so much caused by the addition of acreage to the Hawaiian plantations as to more intensive cultivation, together with steady improvement in field and mill methods.

Hawaiian planters lead the world in perfection of methods and the planters' experiment station spends annually a large sum of money to fight insect pests, increase soil fertility, improve cane seedlings, breed new varieties, and invent and develop mill processes that will wring from the cane every fractional ounce of sucrose content in it.

The planters do not expect a high price this year. This price has been about 4.65 cents a pound, delivered at the refinery. Many plantations say they can make no money at this figure.

Two plantations are expected to turn out more than 60,000 tons each. These are Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company, on Maui, and Oahu Sugar Company on Oahu. The former was for many unbroken years the leader in total production. Then Oahu Sugar Company, building a great water system, thus was able to irrigate and cultivate a far larger acreage. It took the lead, but the Maui property came along again, and now there is little difference between them in total output.

BEER RUSH RESEMBLES GOLD DAYS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OTTAWA (Ont.) May 24.—Business suggesting a holiday in the Klondike in the gold rush of '98, was enacted from early morning until late at night in this area as the result of the great influx of United States thirsty who crossed over into Ontario to pass judgment on the Province's latest product "Fergie's Foam" as Premier Ferguson's new 4.4 beer is called.

Zero weather failed to dampen the spirits of those in the trek from United States that crossed at a score of border points along the St. Lawrence River, wending their way inland to the Canadian capital and other points anywhere from sixty to 150 miles.

Breweries are working overtime to supply the demand and the census of opinion of the United States visitors is that Ontario has a drink that, while it may be a kickless wonder, is better than prevailing conditions in Uncle Sam's territory at the present time.

Many of the United States visitors who came to the Canadian capital today rushed from Ontario to Quebec and here it was stated that in this section of Ontario in the past twenty-four hours enough 4.4 was consumed to cover a ten-mile stretch if the bottles were placed end to end on the highway.

CANADIAN PROSPERITY FORSEEN BY RAIL MAN

E. W. BEATTY CITES COMMERCIAL GAINS MADE DURING RECENT YEARS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TORONTO, May 23.—Unabated prosperity for Canada in the next ten years, with expansion of agriculture and unprecedented development of industry, was predicted by E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in an address here.

"The future of the Dominion, based on experiences of the past, is absolutely assured," said Mr. Beatty. "In the last fifteen years the value of Canada's farm products has more than doubled. In 1910 it was $537,545,000. In 1924 it was $1,444,547,000, a gain of 170 per cent. Manufactured products increased in value from $1,165,975,639 in 1910, to $2,696,-210,000, a gain of 131 per cent. Forestry products in 1911 totaled $170,000,000, and in 1922 were $269,034,000, an increase of 50 per cent. In 1910 the value of the nation's exports was $298,763,989 and in 1924, $1,070,611,626. This was a gain of more than 300 per cent.

"The Dominion needs millions of new people to help in the development of her natural resources. There are vast areas of fertile land at low prices in the prairie provinces awaiting the settler's plow. Canada's population today is slightly more than 9,000,000. Fifty years ago it was 3,000,000. I know of no country whose progress in fifty years has been more steady or on a sounder foundation."

TRADE TOURISTS ARRIVE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 24.—A large percentage of the advance tourist rush to England and the continent is composed of American importers and buyers, who are flocking to Europe to purchase merchandise for the late summer and early fall openings. Many of these are fur buyers whose mecca is England, where choice pelts are now obtainable at good prices.

PARTY LINES IN CANADA CHANGE

Premier Predicts Return to Two Major Camps

Four Factions Confuse Work of Parliament

Progressives' Western Bloc Dominates Organization

BY BRUCE HUTCHISON
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OTTAWA, May 24.—An American observer sitting in the galleries of the huge gray House of Commons and listening to the bewildering clamor of four distinct parties would come to one definite conclusion before he had been here an hour . . . Canadian politics is a kaleidoscopic jumble. And he would be right.

Canadian politics today is in the same condition as a youth's mind when he has just turned 18. It has not reached the settled poise of manhood.

All this is natural indeed, in a young country coming of age. But it is a trying period for the country, just the same. For this reason the newly appearing signs that the country actually is beginning to settle down again to the old two-party system after the bubbling-over period which followed the war are welcome to everyone. As yet they are only the first faint signs. They offer no assurance that this settling process will not take the five-year span of another Parliament, and maybe longer.

Leaders of the old-time groups are confident that the return to the old, stable and pretty satisfactory two-party system is definitely on the way. After the recent dramatic budget vote in the House of Commons and the splitting-up of the Progressive or farmer party, Mackenzie King, Canada's young Prime Minister, told the writer that these events were clear symptoms of the coming change. "Unquestionably," he said, "Canada is returning to the old two-party system." And he added the prediction that the next election would mark a big step back to this stability.

But if this is sure it is surer still that the two parties which survive the present flux will be drastically changed in the process.

Right now the Government or Liberal party, has 117 members in a membership of 234. This is exactly the strength of all other parties combined, so that the government actually lacks a majority. It had a majority of one up to a few weeks ago, when one of its members died, but it has always weathered every storm so far with the aid of friendly Progressives and independents.

Then there is the Progressive, or Farmer party, formerly more or less a national party, mostly from the West, but lately shorn of almost everything but its western strength. The Progressive party originally numbered sixty-four members, but eighteen Progressive members bolted their party and voted with the government on the crucial budget division; a kind of an outlaw bloc which is afraid to join the government outright, but which the old-line Progressives do not want among them.

The old Conservative or high-tariff party, which controlled the government for many years after the union of the Canadian colonies and held office from 1911 to 1921, part of the time as a coalition government, has shrunk now from its old power to a small bloc of fifty-one members.

The fourth party is called the Ginger group . . . the origin of that preposterous name being a mystery . . . and is an offshoot of the Progressive party. It is composed of thirteen more or less radical members who found that the Progressive party was not progressive enough for them.

The Progressive party is the unknown quantity. Having lost its Ontario members it has become virtually a compact western bloc . . . a sectional, geographical, farmer party. This is a momentous development in Canadian politics. It ends the original Progressive dreams of a real national party which would Liberalize all Canadian public life. The Progressive party now represents the solid farmer West. It is a class party. And, being a class party and a sectional party . . . so the old-time politicians will tell you . . . it must inevitably destroy itself because the electors will not always follow a minority leadership.

But its ideas undoubtedly will have a big effect on the psychology and public policies of the old parties. When this disintegration of the third party will begin no one predicts very definitely, but the Prime Minister prophesied to the writer that the first signs of the split would be seen in the next election with the return of a number of Liberals in the West.

FALL FROM HOTEL KILLS LOCAL GIRL

Cabaret Entertainer Found Dead in New York After Eleven-Story Plunge

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 24. — A few moments after returning to her eleventh-floor room at the Hotel Harding, 203 West Fifty-fourth street, at 7 o'clock this morning, Eva Fuller, 21 years of age, a cabaret entertainer from Los Angeles, fell, the police believe, from her window to the court yard below and was killed.

The young woman, clad in a nightgown with her stockings and dancing slippers still on, struck a window on the floor below with her foot as she plunged to her death. Her screams, together with the crash of glass, aroused guests both in the Harding and in the Hotel Woodward, directly in the rear on Fifty-fifth street. Jay Northrup, manager of the Harding, was notified and the body was found in the court yard.

The young woman who came here from Los Angeles had lived in the Harding for several months, checking out recently, but returning about a week ago.

CIGARETTE PRODUCTION INCREASING

Internal Revenue Head Avers Tobacco Taxes Will Yield $345,000,000

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A total of 73,000,000,000 cigarettes will be produced in the United States this year, which is an increase of 56,000,000,000 in ten years, says David H. Blair, Commissioner of Internal Revenue. In the same period cigarette production in Japan has increased from 7,000,000,000 to 23,000,000,000, and in Germany from 12,000,000,000 to 23,000,000,000, he said. Cigarettes produced in the United States alone, if laid end to end, would girdle the earth at the equator more than 126 times.

The tobacco industry this year will pay more in taxes than was collected by the government from all internal revenue sources prior to 1914, declared Commissioner Blair, who estimated that the tax collections from this one industry alone this year would approximate $345,000,000. For every man, woman and child in the United States there was collected $3.12 from tobacco taxes and customs duties, he added.

"The revenue from tobacco in the United States far exceeds that of any other country in the world, and the per capita consumption is greater than any country in the world, except Belgium," Mr. Blair stated. "The tobacco industry is one of the great industries of this country. Its interests and the government's interests are closely allied. The Internal Revenue Bureau is peculiarly and vitally interested in your success, as well as in the success of every industry and every individual. It may appear at times that we exact a heavy toll, but after all we are your agents, collecting your money to pay your obligations."

MEXICAN PROJECT IN CALIFORNIAN'S HANDS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MAPIMI (State of Durango, Mex.) May 24.—More than 200,000 acres of desert land in the Mapimi basin, this State, will be reclaimed by the irrigation project which F. Clark of the Imperial Valley, California, and associates are promoting.

Gov. Najera recently accompanied Mr. Clark and several other Americans who are interested in the enterprise over the site of the proposed dam which is to be constructed across the Conchos River to store water for irrigation. This dam will be built at a point in the State of Chihuahua and the water will be brought into the Mapimi basin by means of a large main canal.

Several million dollars will be required to carry out the construction work of the dam and canal system. The reclaimed area will be devoted to growing cotton.

CLAIMS PACIFIC ISLAND

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 24. — The small island of Palmyra in the Pacific Ocean is a possession of the United States, and not British territory, as noted on recent maps and atlases, according to a statement made by Secretary Work of the Interior Department. Palmyra Island is 990 nautical miles southwest of Honolulu. It consists of a cluster of law islets about ten miles in circumference with a lagoon in the center.

Common Sense

More and more each day the world is applying Common Sense methods to its problems. City, State and National officials recognize this as one of the needs of the hour.

Our Government is actively cooperating with every industry in the standardization of their products, thereby enabling them to produce better goods at a decreased cost to the consumer. In short, to inject Common Sense more and more into all lines of endeavor.

In the serving of foods, the Government, industrial institutions and public schools have recognized the Common Sense methods of the Cafeteria.

For Nineteen Years Boos Bros. Cafeterias Have Served Food the Common Sense Way

It is the Common Sense Way, because it allows each person to see what he buys before he buys it. It affords the opportunity to choose from a large variety of foods, and to select the combinations of foods that individual tastes and requirements for good health demand.

It is the Common Sense Way, because it is the most Economical. You select as little or as much as you like---and you DO NOT PAY for such items as bread, coffee, soup or potatoes unless you happen to want them.

It is the Common Sense Way, because you wait on yourself. You do not depend upon tips to procure good service. Tips are not expected or accepted. You receive the same courteous service from the serving girls whether you order a fifteen cent lunch or a full meal.

Of equal importance to you are the sanitary conditions under which your foods are prepared. If you could but see our kitchens with glistening white walls and floors and the neat and orderly arrangement of utensils, you would agree that our kitchens are just as attractive as our dining rooms. You insist upon this in your home and it is only Common Sense to insist upon it when you dine out. Foods are bound to taste their best prepared under these conditions.

The conveniences such as comfortable Rest Rooms, Telephone Service and a Free Parcel Checking Service are added attractions which are always appreciated.

Novak Captures State Pro Golf Championship

SPORTS
The Los Angeles Times

MONDAY MORNING, MAY 25, 1925.

OBSERVATIONS

track and field season probably isn't going to die without a struggle as far as Southern California is concerned. The latest announcement is to the effect that the season, which broke wide with the A.A.U. relay carnival in February and has been sweeping along gathering momentum for three months, is to come to a climax on the third or fourth time June 20 when the pick of local cinder-scattering talent will compete for the honor to take part in the National at San Francisco in July.

All of which brings us around to a point which we have discussed several times previously—the desirability of keeping our local athletes go through and make a real attempt to carry off the championships. We have no particular interest or special leaning toward either the Hollywood Athletic Club or the Los Angeles A.C. We don't give a whoop which one wins, but we'd like to see all the best stars—or at least most of them—represent one or the other of the two institutions.

Nothing would be more sickening than to see our delegation go north and make only a few points to win the meet only to see the latter (Ish or some similar organization get away with the meet just because our points were split between two institutions. Some kind of a power-play ought to be held and the rules straightened out so that Southern California can get all the honor and glory that should attend the capturing of the track and field championship of the greatest athletic and field country in the world.

The way things are looming up around the city, the Olympic Auditorium at Eighteenth and Grand will very shortly be a reality instead of a dream. We have needed a first-class downtown showplace for attractions in Los Angeles for many years and, while it will probably be devoted to boxing events a majority of the time, it will be a real asset to the community in other ways. We have an idea that the crowd on the opening night will pack the place to the limit of its 15,000 capacity and that in itself is going to be a headline attraction—and that in itself is something more than a bear.

KERRIGAN LOSES MATCH TO NORTHERNER, 8 AND 7

Berkeley Player's Deadly Putting Decides Titular Contest on Flintridge Club Course

BY W. C. WISE

Joe Novak, Berkeley professional and northern State pro champion, starting the final thirty-six-hole match for the State title with a six-hole lead over George Kerrigan, Flintridge, southern heavyweight champion, carried the southern defender through to the twenty-seventh green before winning the match and titular honors, 8 and 7, on the Flintridge course yesterday.

Kerrigan made a game fight to turn back the up-State challenger but fell down badly on the greens, after outdriving Novak on every hole. George seldom failed to reach the green with his second shot and many times, Novak, playing from the sand, laid his approache shots dead with enough regularity to break the heart of even the world's foremost golfers.

Novak varied his attack by frequently sinking 20 and 30-foot putts for a halve when Kerrigan would be laying dead for a win.

REMARKABLE RECOVERIES

Novak, looking less the golfer than many ambitious press agents, with a style typically his own—slow and deliberate on every shot, made some of the most remarkable recovery shots ever recorded in a championship tilt. On the other hand, Kerrigan, playing his shots dead time and time again, was forced to accept a halve when Novak would sink one of his miraculous putts.

Kerrigan, out in 3 16n the morning, won two holes from Novak, whose medal totaled 38. Novak speeded up to win four holes to Kerrigan's ace, coming in for lunch, and at the end of the 18-hole round, the Berkeley champion had increased his lead to 7 holes.

Kerrigan sunk a long putt for an

JOHNSTON HUMBLES FOTTRELL

Little Bill Displays Real Class in Defeating Rival on Del Monte Nets

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DEL MONTE, May 24.—Bill Johnston, idol of California tennis fans for the past decade, today proved that he has lost but little of his speed and had even gained in cunning in defeating Morgan Fottrell, San Francisco, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0, in a fast exhibition of tennis here today. This exhibition, staged in connection with the annual high jinx of the California Realtors, proved a fitting climax to a week-end of golf and other sport.

Johnston was everywhere the master, although Fottrell did everything in his power to give the former national title-holder a real game. "Willie's" placements from back court and his fast low volleys from midcourt brought applause time after time. On the other hand, his famous short chop was not working as effectively as it has at other times and shots that in other days would have been placement kills were wasted in the net.

REDLANDS FRESHMEN END BASEBALL YEAR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, May 24.—The freshman baseball team of the University of Redlands is through and the varsity team has just one more game, that with Whittier here on Saturday. The freshmen have won two out of the three conference games they have played this year. The varsity has not been so fortunate, having lost all its games.

GETTING THE KNOCKOUT ANGLE

DEBRA COPS SLOOP RACE AT HARBOR

California Finishes Close Second in R-Boat Event of Yacht Club Cup Series

Fresh westerly breezes which carried Syl Spaulding's R-Class sloop Debra to victory at the harbor yesterday against a field of six starters in the R-boat event of the California Yacht Club season trophy series. Lyman's Farwell's California, under the colors of the Southland Sailing Club, finished a close second.

Pierpont Davis's Patricia and Harry Fisher's Peggy, landing third and fourth, sailed excellent races and led the field until the wind freshened to whole-sail weather. By virture of her finish yesterday, the Peggy now leads the fleet in the season series, with the Patricia second.

WORLD LOST TELEGRAPHER WHEN MEYERS TURNED "PUG"

James Spug Meyers might have been tickling a telegraph key some place if he had been born with a nonbreakable temper. But Spug is redheaded and Irish. That combination will fight at the drop of the hat no matter who drops it.

They have a little boxing club at Pocatello—Spug's home town. One day he was hanging around watching the young hopefuls. Another boy by the name of Weatherby got into a scuffle with Spug. They put the gloves on over in a quiet corner of the gym. The metal clip on the lace of Weatherby's glove struck Spug's eye. The blood spurted. At the sight of blood the promoter stopped the battle and offered them a purse of $250 to finish that fight next show night at his club.

Spug knocked Weatherby out in two rounds and became the town hero. He was attending Pocatello Tech, a commercial school, at that time. Thus the world of telegraphy lost another operator.

Spider Kelly—once a godo lightweight, but later a boxing instructor—saw Meyers get a draw with Dode Bercot at Seattle. "That boy can fight," said Spider. That was eighteen months ago. Since then Kelly has handled Spug's business and taught him. "Anybody can manage a fighter, get him matches, collect the money," says Kelly. "But the main part of our connection is that I'm his teacher."

Myers has come into his own since coming to Los Angeles. He decisioned Gene Delmont, Joe Benjamin, Pat Mills and gave Ace Hudkins a close run for the smelling salts. Spug dropped Hudkins and broke his hand. That shows two things—first, that Hudkins has a nonstop chin—second, that Spug has a hand full of trouble when he hits.

The Spider was often seen in Dempsey's corner in the early day's of Jack's career. "I thought then that Dempsey would be a champion," says Kelly.

He has also been with Benny Leonard, Jeff Smith and Tod Morgan. All of these fellows are boxing masters.

Meyers has bought a new home at Pocatello for his mother and father. He saves his money. Every time he fights the bank back home receives a draft. His bank account is more than a breeze now.

The winner of the Callahan-Meyers match will box Russell LeRoy, the South Dakota lightweight, on June 21. LeRoy's claim on the top-notch band wagon is that he holds a decision over Hudkins. Now he's invading Ace's territory, hungry to embarrass all lightweights who make 135 pounds.

ARLETT HELPS BOEHLER VANQUISH ROOT IN DUEL

Buzz's Bat Accounts for All Runs Credited to Acorns in Opener; Closing Game Poor Contest

BY ROBERT E. RAY

The ambling Angels split a double-header before a crowd of 10,000 fans, losing the first, 3 to 2, and winning the second, 10 to 3, giving them the series over the Oaks, four games to three.

In the opener, George Boehler bested Charley Root in a hurling duel, because of the hard hitting of Buzz Arlett, who scored all three Oakland runs. The afterpiece was a terrible exhibition, with the home guards clinching it in the first inning by scoring six runs because Herb Pruett couldn't locate the plate. Pruett walked five men before being taken out in favor of Pinches Kunz, who just finished, and that was all. The second game was called at the end of the first half of the eighth to allow the Angels to catch a train.

In the opener, George Boehler, the Angels' bald-headed jinx, bested Charley Root in a neat hurling duel, with Buzz Arlett acting as the Oak pitcher's right-hand man. Big Buzz scored all three Oakland runs, cramming out a single, triple and a home run.

Root didn't appear to have his fast ball, but at that turned in a fine exhibition. Had it not been for Arlett and his big bat, the local star would have turned in his ninth victory.

Boehler let the Cherubs down with five scattered hits, his wildness aiding the Krugmen in scoring both markers.

Both the Oaks and Angels scored one in the fourth, the visitors getting theirs on singles by Arlett and Flowers, and Cooper's infield hit. A walk to Grimes, Hood's single to center, Whaley's sacrifice bunt and Sandberg's sacrifice fly to Cooper gave the Krugmen their marker, evening the score.

In the sixth Arlett put the Acorns out in front again by slamming a home run into the right field bleachers, but the Angels evened it up in their half when Horan walked, was sacrificed to second and driven home by Bill Whaley, who laced a single to center.

Then in the eighth Arlett brought his heavy artillery into action once more, poking a triple to right center after one was out. Flowers drove Buzz in with a dinky single over Beck's head. That proved to be the winning run.

The Angels threatened to tie

"TIMES" PLAYS H.A.C. TODAY

Rival Ball Clubs Clash This Morning on Movie City Diamond With Many Notables on Hand

Practically every motion-picture star in Hollywood not slated for "location" today will gather at Santa Monica and Highland to see the Hollywood Athletic Club baseball team against the famous Times Bulldogs. The battle is carded for 10 a.m., and inasmuch as admission is free it is expected that every extra in Movieville will be on hand, especially as many film notables are to actually play in the game.

Numbered among the Hollywood athletes are such famous stars as Edmund Lowe, Tom Gallery, Bert Lytell, Buster Keaton and David Butler. George L. Eastman, millionaire contractor, will probably pitch for the home club. Manager Floyd Carlton has assembled a classy outfit and with Art "Tillie" Shafer, former New York Giant, playing with them the chances of a Times victory are slim.

Manager George Watson will send Braven Dyer to the mound this morning, while Bill Wise will do the catching. The absence of Paul Lowry and Bob Day, two regulars, will weaken the journalists considerably, but Watson has a couple of capable subs ready for the fray. Al Nathan, after his great effort of two weeks ago in the Times-Examiner game, has gone into positive retirement and wishes to announce that he will not be on hand today.

TIGERS-SEALS DIVIDE

Vernon Drops Opener, 12 to 3, But Wins in Afternoon 5 to 4; Waner Fans to End Second Game

BY ED R. HUGHES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—The Seals won the morning game from Vernon today, 12 to 3, and lost in the afternoon, 5 to 4. They took six of the seven games and it looked like they would make a clean sweep, but the Tigers rallied in the ninth inning of the afternoon game and jammed over four runs, thus overcoming a two-run lead. They needed all of them, too, for the Seals put over a run in their half of the ninth and then Paul Waner struck out to end the game. Eddie Mulligan was pawing the dirt around second base, all ready to score the tying run had Paul hit the ball.

Bill Essick feared Waner so much that he yanked Barfoot out and sent in Red Oldham, a left-handed pitcher to pitch to the kid. There were two out at the time and Mulligan had driven Valla in with a double. Oldham put all he had on the ball and finally struck the boy wonder out to end the game, and Vernon won its first and only game of the series.

Bob Geary had pitched great

HOLLYWOOD POLOISTS WIN

Long Goal by Barger in Last Minute of Play Wins Over All-Stars, 7 to 6

Nearly 3000 persons, one of the largest crowds which ever witnessed a polo match in Southern California, saw the new Hollywood Heights Polo and Hunt Club team defeat the All-Stars, a veteran aggregation, yesterday by the score of 7-6 in a hotly contested game staged on the Hollywood Heights Club's field.

The game was hard and fast and kept the spectators filled with interest and thrills from the start till the end of the final chukker.

Earl Barger was the outstanding star of the game, taking the ball the length of the field for the winning goal just before the gong sounded the last of the final period. Feys and Zaggman played a great game for the losers, as did Bob Elsom.

The home team was weakened by the loss of Frank Foster, its leader, who is laid up at present with a combination of injuries and a partial nervous breakdown. It is hoped that he will soon be back on the line-up, but his physician has ordered him to keep away from the game for several months.

Yesterday's line-up follows:

All-Stars		Hollywood Heights
Jennings	1	DuBrock

J. C. Flores	2	Barger

Bob Elsom	3	Busch

MALLET SWINGERS CUT LOOSE IN OPENING GAME ON NEW FIELD

BULLOCK-WEBSTER AND HURLEY ENTER CLASSIC

Leading Amateurs of Southland to Tee Off; Week-end Golfing News From Other Clubs

BY THE GOLFER

Harlow Hurley and A. Bullock-Webster, leading Southern California amateurs will qualify today in the annual invitation Pasadena golf tourney. Both Hurley and Webster are too well known to the local golfing fraternity to need any detailed introduction and Walker Smith, tournament chairman is to be congratulated for signing the stellar pair for the yearly Pasadena classic.

Bullock-Webster will make his first tournament appearance playing under the banner of the Hollywood Country Club, and Harlow Hurley, fresh from his victory in the Julius A. Brown trophy play at his home club—the Los Angeles, may be counted upon to give the former Del Monte ace a run for titular honors in the Invitational.

Entrants may qualify today or tomorrow and a record field have already signed up for the event. Match play in all flights will start Wednesday and finals will be played Saturday.

SEVEN FLIGHTS

There will be seven flights and entrants qualifying will be paired according to their qualifying scores and not to their handicaps, eliminating all consolation flights and caring for the good golfers, who shoot a poor qualifying round.

Many of the older entrants in the Pasadena tourney look with pleasure to renewing their acquaintance with Dave Findlay, veteran Pasadena pro. Findlay has the rolling Pasadena course in wonderful condition and, according to Billie Hutchinson, may be depended upon to insure the success of any golf event.

California will have a flock of fast amateurs in the tourney, as will also the majority of other local clubs. Wallie P. Lohman Hollywood, Harry Busby, Rancho—and other tournament stand-bys will be on hand and as is natural in Southern California tournaments, competition in all flights will be keen.

Stanley Oriopp, new California Country Club member, who formerly was a scratch amateur at Dallas, Tex., and Eddie Moore, also of California, will play in the tourney. Moore was a 2 man at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Other players who will compete include: Herman Politz, Hillcrest Club champion; F. W. Shedd, A. French, J. C. Hodge, George T. Cline, Frank Deleot, Ben Fahy, L. Montgomery, J. W. Campbell, Harry Busby, Dan Green, E. P. Shaw, J. A. Knudson, D. H. Clark, Eugene Webb, Jr., Ben Gubser, Warner Oland, J. C. Hatler, Harry Atwater, Jr., L. Campbell, Otis W. Hicks, J. F. Rothwell, L. Bixby, J. R. McKinnie and a host of Pasadena members.

RANCHO PLAYING THROUGH

When the greens committee and the other powers that be stage a tournament at Arthur Clarkson's popular Rancho Club, the entrants all get out their best walking boots, for it is seldom that a match is determined over the specified eighteen-hole route. Clarkson has done much for the playing members and the high caliber of the battling personnel would be a credit to any organization.

Play in the President's, First and Second Vice-president's and also the consolation flight has carried some truly representative golfers through to the finals in every flight—and the brand of golf appears to increase with the number of holes.

Many of the most enjoyable down-State tournaments have been held at Rancho—Rancho-visiting players always contribute much to other club tournaments and the heavy play on the popular course speaks well for President H. F. Collins and his executive staff.

Maybe it was the worth of the sterling trophy—and again maybe it is just the fighting golf that Clarkson seems to inject into his members, but H. F. Collins, after trimming E. W. Slark, 1 up after twenty-two thrilling holes in the trophy play which bears his name, forced Leon Kellar to travel a like distance before gracefully dropping from the play, 1-down. Norman Allen, who defeated Dr. T. E. Seddon, 1-up, will meet George Cornes, who won from James Sterling, 4 and 3, in the lower bracket of the semifinals.

DEFEATED EIGHTS, PRESIDENT'S CUP

W. B. Davidson defeated Brandon Hurst, 1 up. E. E. Newton won from J. F. Waddell, by default.

L. A. Barry defeated J. C. Mattie, 3 and 1. Gordon Wells defeated Vic Pound, 2 and 1.

FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT'S CUP

H. L. Blake defeated Harry Atwater, Jr., 4 and 3. H. J. Moss defeated C. E. Aull, 3 and 1.

SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT'S CUP

W. L. Demorest, Jr., defeated R. H. Rapland, 2 up, 19 holes.

James Ross defeated A. J. Calvert, 1 up, 19 holes.

R. Hamilton defeated Warner Oland, 2 up.

SEMIFINALS

James Ross defeated W. L. Demorest, Jr., 2 and 1.

George Clark defeated M. Hamilton, 1 up.

ANNANDALE COLLECTS ACE

When they do anything at Annandale — Jack Malley's prize-winning organization—they do it well, so yesterday, when Frank Burnaby made the 125-yard, fourteenth hole in one—only Burnaby was surprised. In electing himself to a life membership in the Hole In One Club, Burnaby pitched his tee shot dead on the pin—and the ball rolled into the cup.

BUCK AND MESCAL TIE AT CALIFORNIA

Cliff Buck, hard-hitting and generous California golfer, shot a sterling 76 to tie John Mescall's 76 for medal honors in the qualifying round of the Dick Smith Sterling Silver Trophy play at California yesterday. Buck is generous because he never collects when he wins—not always—anyway—and rides a ball farther from the tee than most championship contenders. Mescall hit his tee shots just as straight and the fact that his 76 stood up just as strong as Buck's save more explaining.

More than 100 California members teed off in the event and Harry L. Burford won the low net trophy by turning in a card that reduced to 76. E. R. Hurst—and they don't make club presidents any better—shot a 78, managing to lead E. E. Moore, who shot a 79.

After a week's illness, Tom Stevens, club pro, is back on the job. Tom had serious intentions regarding the National Open but ill health prevented him qualifying and he lost out on the trip back East.

HOLLYWOOD HANDICAP PLAY

S. L. Knox, 16-year-old Hollywood golfing fiend, tripped up the veteran J. A. Knudson in the first round play of the annual spring handicap yesterday.

Earl Neitzel shot a 76 to defeat H. E. Blythe, 1 up, 19 holes, when the latter turned in a 79 in another first-round championship match. H. S. Penn defeated R. Lee Sprigg, 4 and 3, and C. M. McLean defeated A. H. Moore, 1 up, in the other matches played yesterday. Everything is in readiness for the annual flag tournament for Hollywood members next Saturday—Decoration Day, and other enjoyable events are fast approaching.

SAN GABRIEL RAMBLINGS

Grant Halstead, popular San Gabriel pro, has a lot on his mind these days — and when you've seen him with his hat off — you'll know it isn't his hair. Anyway, there is a pleasant surprise in store for readers of this column — and in the near future too. In the meantime, Grant congratulated D. A. Jacobs, who returned to the links after a prolonged absence due to ill health — and shot a 77 over the fast tree-studded course. E. E. Bean played down to his small handicap and was rewarded with a 76. Sam Dalzell also collected 76 yesterday and D. C. W. Cook turned in a 78.

CRAIG ACES

W. H. Craig, Jr., laid his tee shot dead on the flag that flattened in the 145-yard fourteenth green and joined the select Hole-in-One Federation when the ball dropped into the cup — assuring undying glory for the fast-traveling golfer.

AMERICAN GOLFERS TEE OFF TODAY IN BRITISH AMATEUR

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

WESTWARD HO (Eng.) May 24.—England's greatest golfers, some of the Scottish stars, a few Americans and other foreigners are here for the amateur championship commencing tomorrow.

There will be 151 participants, the smallest number since 1912.

Two Americans, J. F. Bailey, Oak Hills Country Club of Rochester, N. Y., and L. V. Cochrane, Onwentsia Club of Chicago, are in the upper half of the draw. The other three Americans, R. A. Stranahan, Inverness Club of Toledo; A. F. Bourne, Garden City Club, New York, and Douglas Grant, semifinalist in 1923, are in the lower draw.

Sacramento Drops Pair to Beavers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 24.—Sacramento dropped a pair of games to Portland today, 5 to 3, and 11 to 6. Inability to hit in pinches and poor work afield, coupled with poor pitching, lost the double bill for the locals. Scores:

SWEEPSTAKES

E. R. Maule and C. R. Ward finished 2 down at Brentwood yesterday to tie for first prize in the regular Sunday Class A match play against par. L. V. Bentley won third honors, coming in 3 down.

W. J. Brausnschweiger, Dr. E. P. Clark, D. J. Tallant, J. L. Martin and Paul Overton finished 1 down to tie for top honors in the Class B play.

FOURSOME EVENT

A special two-ball mixed foursome event has been scheduled for Sunday and will find most of the Brentwood membership engaged in the enjoyable event. Many Brentwood players have a fine chance to win the feature, and among the names, even if they don't play together, are to be found those of L. P. Ferguson and his wife, Mrs. Ferguson.

PROFESSIONALS TO DINE PATTERSON

Members of the Southern California Professional Golfers' Association will gather at the Alexandria Hotel at 7 o'clock tonight to attend the testimonial dinner to J. A. Patterson, secretary of the organization, who will leave for an extended vacation next week. "Pat" has been working his head off with his secretarial duties and has been kept on the jump with professional duties at the Warren G. Harding course in Griffith Park and has been due for a rest for months past. The boys will miss him and will unite to wish him a speedy recovery and an even faster return. All members are urged to be on hand at 7 o'clock this evening.

SWEEPSTAKES

The regular semimonthly professional sweepstakes will be held at Griffith Park this afternoon. As usual, most of the local pros will be in there shooting and some good scores should be recorded over the difficult course. Special arrangements have been made to care for all entrants and the play will be fast—and so will the greens and fairways.

HILLCREST GOLF EVENTS

Big Ed Gayer, Hillcrest's professional golfing ace—one of the best in the country—the same Eddie that took nineteen putts on the first nine holes in the thirty-six-hole qualifying play for the national open—and then still had the nerve and golf enough to finish in the money—will leave for the national open Tuesday. Gayer has a wonderful chance in the world's greatest golfing event—has always had a good chance—but this year should finish right up with the leaders.

Realizing the value of having a representative in the national classic—and because he deserves it—Gayer's expenses will be paid by Hillcrest—and the investment is a worthy one.

FOURSOME PLAY

Mrs. Harry Grossman and Curt Rosenthal shot an 86 to win low gross honors in the special two-ball mixed foursome event at Hillcrest yesterday. Mrs. A Saenger and H. Hellman's 89-16-73 won low net trophy in the event, in the President's Cup Play. M. E. Hoffman defeated Henry Mosler, 1 up; Larry Lewin defeated Harry Grossman, 6 and 5, and as Ellis Elkeles and Curt Rosenthal have already won their way into the semifinals, they will play off this week in the lower bracket.

BLIND BOGEY

Marco Newmark and Henry Mosler shot 73s to tie for first honors in the Blind Pogey Sweepstakes and Ben Kaplan won second prize with a 72.

MESERVE WINS AT MIDWICK

E. A. Meserve, president of Midwick, who also has the honor of being the brother of Shirley Meserve, national president of Phi Kappa Psi, finished 2 up to tie with J. B. Murray for first honors in the special match play against par at the Midwick Club yesterday. E. C. Cowan and Robert Pitcairn finished even for second prize in the event.

MONTEBELLO, 6; FREMONT, 5

Four runs in the ninth inning gave Montebello a win over the league-leaders yesterday at Montebello. Anthony stole home with the winning run in the ninth inning. The score:

Bees Crown Seattle in Double Bill

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SALT LAKE CITY, May 24.—Salt Lake twice defeated Seattle today, 5 to 4 and 11 to 3. The series closed with six victories for the Bees and one for the Indians.

The first game had a great ninth-inning finish, the Indians making two for a one-run lead and the Bees making two to win.

The second game was a slugging match in which thirteen two-base and three three-base hits were made in seven innings.

Manager Killefer was put out of each game. In the first he had a run-in with Umpire Brashear and in the second Umpire Reardon banished him for talking from the bench. The encounter with Brashear threatened for a few minutes to become serious.

Manager Vitt was knocked out through a blow on the knee from Brazil's bat and Catcher Earl Baldwin was put out through a foul tip on the finger. Scores:

Detroit Trims Washington, 5 to 2, To Win Series

THE ROARING ROAD

BY FEG MURRAY

Metropolitan Newspaper Service

What some people call "America's Biggest Sporting Event" takes place next Saturday afternoon at the Indianapolis Speedway. Starter Fred Wagner will give the signal and two dozen or more modern knights mounted on glistening, fire-eating, castor-oil burning steeds will start tearing around an oval track until they have completed 500 miles. About 150,000 persons will watch in awe and wonder as the drivers risk their lives to win the double prize of money and glory that goes to him who first crosses the finish line.

What name will be added to the list of famous racing drivers who have won this Gasoline Derby? Will a new champion head the list, or will some former winner repeat? Tommy Milton won in 1921 and 1923, and no other Speed King has been able to finish first twice. Dario Resta, "Howdy" Wilcox, Gaston Chevrolet, Jimmy Murphy and Joe Boyer, all of whom won at Indianapolis, have driven their last races. Resta, Murphy and Boyer all were killed at various times last year.

The popular Tommy Milton, who has a good chance, from his spring record, of winning a third victory in the Memorial Day Classic, drives to the Hoosier City from Los Angeles each May as part of his training for the big race. Tommy also gets into shape by playing handball, and is a good enough player to compete in the national handball championships.

CRAIG DEFEATS DE LARA

Franklin High School Net Star Overwhelmed in Sycamore Grove Tourney; Wachter, Hall Win

Tennis in large and potent doses was absorbed yesterday by a score of perspiring players as they wound up the Sycamore Grove Park men's singles and doubles tournament which has been in progress for three weeks. Norval Craig, playing his fourth match of the day, smeared Jack De Lara in the singles final, 6-2, 6-0. Two and a half hours later Wayne Hall and Richard Wachter socked home the final point of the match that gave them the doubles title, winning from Craig and Joe Ciano, 4-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

After the match two small grease spots, alleged to be the earthly remains of Craig and Ciano, were removed from the court. Ciano came within a whisper of reaching the final of the singles, but after he had De Lara 5-1 in games and point set, he began shooting the ball into the net and the fence and his slim, youthful opponent won, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5.

With the hectic tournament finally over and the shades of night falling fast, the hoarse spectators gave three cheers for the champions, and one or two shook hands with Ciano, who worked day and night on the tourney for three weeks. The summary:

Third round: Weesner and De Lara defeated Norton and Shauger, 6-1, 6-1.

Fourth round: Hall and Wachter defeated Saunders and Vargas, 7-5, 6-4; Ruggles and Ordway defeated Bellusch and Heathco, 6-1, 6-3; Craig and Ciano defeated Booth and Aung, 6-2, 6-3; Weesner and De Lara defeated Call and Kerwin, 7-5, 4-6, 8-6.

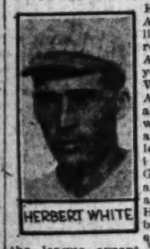
Semi-final round: Craig and Ciano defeated Ruggles and Ordway, 6-4, 5-7, 6-0; Hall and Wachter defeated Weesner and De Lara, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4; De Lara defeated Ciano, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5; Craig defeated Dickenson, 6-1, 6-0.

PIONEERS MEET POLY

L. A. High Baseball Team Takes on Mechanics at Washington Park This Afternoon

Playing their last game before the all-important struggle with Jefferson for the City League flag, the Los Angeles High School baseball team meets Polytechnic at Washington Park this afternoon. Coach Herbert White arranged the schedule thus, so that his men will have nearly two weeks for rest and brushing-up before they take on the powerful Democrats at Housh Field, June 5.

Louie Alamada, Pioneer pitcher de luxe, will start on the mound today, opposed by the diminutive King, of Poly. Alamada looks like the only real pitcher L. A. can use this year. Coach White started Al Bonner against Hollywood last week, and he lasted less than four innings. Joe Grimes lasted an inning and a half. And Hollywood has been beaten by every team in the league except Franklin this year.



This is the last major-sport contest of the year for the traditional city rivals, and it won't be any less exciting because of the relative strength of the two squads. Coach Voyle Brennen has a good team that hasn't gotten started this year, and if it gets moving against the Romans today, they're liable to get a real test under fire. Watanabe, Newman and Stevens are all good hitters, and if they begin getting "to" Alameda, things will get interesting.

Jefferson attacks Franklin on its home grounds Friday and Lincoln goes over to Hollywood for a little practice. The game is a scheduled City League struggle, but it won't be anything more than a workout for Coach Mallette's squad.

BABE RUTH MAY BE IN YANK LINE-UP SOON

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 24.—Babe Ruth's appearance in the Yankee line-up may be delayed until late this week, his physicians having advised him not to leave the hospital before the middle of the week.

Despite chilly weather and occasional showers, Ruth continued his light batting practice at the Yankee Stadium today.

BOXFEST WEDNESDAY AT HOLLYWOOD A. C.

One of the best shows in the history of the Hollywood Athletic Club is slated to take place Wednesday night when Bob Howard, boxing director of the Movie City club, starts his show at 8:15 p.m. Howard has lined up seven high-class boxing bouts, three wrestling matches, four acts of vaudeville and the male quartet.

Four of the best amateur boxers on the Pacific Coast will meet in the main event and the semi-final. Jimmy Bronson of the Santa Monica Athletic Club and M. Lomelli of the H.A.C. tangle in the main event. James Piele and M. Borgam of the Hollywood High meet in the other high spot on the card.

FARMERS-MERCHANTS WIN

In their game with the American Commercial Corporation Saturday afternoon the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank defeated their opponents by the score of 14 to 7. Clegg and Gregory did the twirling for the winners, while the losers also used two twirlers, who were Schneider and Culp. Score:

CUBS SPLIT WITH REDS

Alexander Blanks Cincy Until Ninth as Chicago Wins, 5 to 1; Sheehan Reverses, 6 to 1

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CINCINNATI, May 24.—Chicago and Cincinnati divided a double-header here today, the Cubs taking the first game, 5 to 1, and the Reds the second, 6 to 1. Alexander yielded seven hits in the opener, but kept them scattered and held the Reds runless until the final inning. Sheehan was equally successful in the second game, when the visitors failed to score in eight of the nine rounds. Score:

TIGERS DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL

ball for seven innings in the afternoon and as the Seals had picked up two runs off Barfoot, it looked as if the Seals would make a clean sweep of the seven games. But in the eighth, Tim Hendryx dropped Barfoot's high fly and the pitcher took two bases. Blakesley's out put Barfoot on third and he scored when Umpire Phyle called Wolfer safe at first on an infield out. Wolfer looked to be out, but Phyle called him safe and the run counted.

The Seals got that run back in their half of the eighth when Waner got his third hit of the afternoon, a double and scored on Hendryx's single and Hannah's error.

In the ninth Becker and Hannah got hits. Ellison took Geary out and sent in Griffin. Finn bunted and Griffin had plenty of time to throw Becker out at third, but he threw to first instead and threw into the dirt so that all hands were safe and the bases were packed.

BECKER SCORES

Barfoot forced Finn at second, Becker scoring and Ellison threw Whitney out at the plate after fielding Blakesley's grounder. Wolfer followed with a double, putting the tying run over and then Hemingway was walked on purpose, filling the bases. Then McDowell hit to center, putting over two runs and Hemingway was caught at third.

The Seals put over one in the ninth but could not quite tie the score. Agnew led off with a hit and Stivers was put on to run for him. Ritchie batted for Griffin and popped out. Valla forced Stivers at second, but Mulligan belted out a double that scored Valla.

That brought up Waner with the tying run on second, a situation just made to order for the fans. But Bill Essick promptly yanked out Barfoot and sent in Oldham, an experienced left-hander to pitch to Waner, the most dangerous hitter in the league. Waner fouled a couple and then ticked another that Whitney caught and the game was over. Scores:

WEATHER HINDERS LEWIS AND MUNN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MICHIGAN CITY (Ind.) May 24.—A cold wind sweeping over the city of dunes today cut short the training plans of Ed "Strangler" Lewis and Wayne "Big" Munn. Trainers Billy Sandow and Lou Talabar were not willing to take any chances of stiff muscles that might result from wrestling work in the open air. Road work and setting-up exercises were the principal stunts indulged in by the contenders.

ANGELS DIVIDE WITH OAKLAND

the score in the eighth when they got their first two men up to second and third with but one out, but Flowers took Hood's roller and threw to the plate in time to nail Jacobs. In the ninth the home guards had the tying run on second with two out, but Boehler struck out Ray Jacobs to end the affair.

The second game was nothing more than a merry-go-round, with Herb Pruett, who started on the mound for the visitors, supplying all the power to make the Angels travel round the sacks. Pruett walked five men in the first before he was taken out, and the Angels converted them into six runs by throwing in a couple of hits and a sacrifice fly for good measure. After that it was all over, but the athletes still played on, with the Angels increasing their margin.

Doc Crandall toyed with the Oaks, just lobbing them over until the visitors got troublesome, then bearing down and getting the side out.

GAME CUT SHORT

A description of the first inning tells the story of the ball game. Pruett walked Jacobs, Horan and Grimes to fill the bases, and then Wally Hood poked a hit to left, scoring Jacobs. Whaley hit a sacrifice fly to Lafayette, Horan counting. Ennis walked and Pruett had two balls on Beck when he was lifted. Kunz, who took the mound, finished up the task of walking Beck, forcing in another run. Krug's single to left brought in two more, while the final run of the inning counted on Crandall's infield out. Jacobs skied to Lafayette to end the inning.

Read's double brought in Flowers and Guisto, who had singled, with two Oakland runs in the second, but the Angels immediately got them right back in the home half of the second. The Angels picked up their other runs in the fifth and sixth frames, while Crandall eased up and allowed the Oaks to score their final run in the eighth. The game was then called by Umpire Teck to allow the Angels to catch a train for Seattle. Scores:

Southern California Tennis Association Approves La Jolla Ninth Annual F

SET DATES FOR NET TOURNEY

La Jolla Annual Affair Gets Under Way on July 14

Record Entry List Expected to Cavort on Courts

Four Days Are Provided for Play in Big Tourney

The dates for the ninth annual tennis tournament to be held at La Jolla have been fixed, July 14-18 has been approved by the Southern California Tennis Association. This announcement is one looked for by tennis fans all along the Pacific Slope. It is one of the largest and most popular tournaments in Southern California and is attended yearly by the leading players in Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Santa Ana, Oakland, Long Beach, Imperial Valley and other cities. In addition to the leading players of the State there are many local stars.

The cement and dirt courts at the playground in La Jolla, the good sportmanship and the hospitality of that attractive ocean resort bring each year increasing numbers, many of whom look forward to this tournament as a summer spree. It is not to be wondered at, for, with good players, good sport, good times and the welcome given by La Jolla residents, there is everything a real fan can ask for.

There are open events in men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles, and mixed doubles. There are junior events for players who had not reached 18 by January 1, 1926. These, like the open, events, are singles and doubles for men and women and mixed doubles. This junior tournament will be July 16-18. All events carry with them a trophy for the winner. An entrance fee of $1 is charged for each person in each event, but no general admission is charged for spectators so there is always a large and enthusiastic gallery. Anyone interested in obtaining entry cards should address, A. C. Tallboy, La Jolla, Cal.

MANILA, May 24. — The Far East Athletic Association at its meeting today decided to hold the 1927 Far Eastern Olympic games in China. It was not decided which city would be awarded the games, but indications were that either Shanghai or Peking would be selected.

C. C. Wang of China, was elected president of the association and Seiichi Kishi of Japan, first vice-president.

ROPER IN WILMINGTON GO

Former Army Captain Meets Sandy More in Main Event of All Heavyweight Show

An all-heavyweight show, featuring Capt. Bob Roper and Sandy More, young Chicago boxer, will provide the fistic fireworks at the Wilmington Bowl next Wednesday night.

Roper, a veteran of many ring battles, is going at top speed in Southland bouts. The former Army man appears to have a new lease on ring life and he should prove plenty tough for More. The latter is a former holder of the amateur heavyweight title of the Central A.A.U., and since turning pro he has turned in a string of more than twenty victories, losing only one bout in the process. This is More's first invasion of the Coast. He is managed by Max Richman and will be trained by Gig Rooney for his affair with Roper. More is showing a lot of class in his workouts at the Newsboys' Club in Los Angeles and he figures to give Roper a rough evening.

Jack Roper, Bob's promising younger brother, will mix with Frank Freeman of Huntington Beach in the ten-round semi-windup. The younger Roper is highly touted and has shown to advantage in Southland scraps.

Matchmaker Doc Moffett is using Bob Jones of Redondo and Kid Huntley of San Pedro in the six-round special. Kid Como of Long Beach will open the show against an opponent yet to be named.

HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY

A tradition has it that the Masonic order dates to the building of the Temple of Jerusalem and that the first Grand Master was King Solomon. But Masonic historians are content to plant the roots of the order in the brotherhoods of cathedral builders which flourished from the eleventh century on, while Freemasonry in its modern sense dates probably to the early eighteenth century.

The original associations of builders, who traveled from place to place to ply their trade and who were often accorded special priveleges because of their importance, bound themselves together for companionship and perhaps also with a view to preserving the secrets of Gothic masonry. Eventually membership solidified into lodges.

At first only the members of the craft were eligible; later the privilege was extended to others, much as press clubs admit lawyers and politicians. In 1717 four old lodges of London joined in the first grand lodge and elected Anthony Sayer their first Grand Master.

The introduction of Masonry in the United States was under deputation of Daniel Coxe, of New Jersey, from the Grand Lodge of England in 1730.

The larger growth of the order has been comparatively recent. Recent figures show about 2,700,000 members in the United States, 167,000 in Canada and 3,600,000 in the world.—[Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SEASON IS COMING TO CLOSE SOON

West Virginia Athletes Prepare for Final Big Week of Sports

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MORGANTOWN (W. Va.) May 24.—The spring sport season at West Virginia University will be brought to a virtual close next week as there is only one event, the alumni-varsity baseball game, on the program for June. Coach Art Smith's varsity and first-year track squads wound up the season Saturday at Pittsburgh, Pa. West Virginia varsity squad does not include any men who have shown enough promise to warrant their entry in the I.C.A.A.A.A championships and other important meets to be held during the closing weeks of the season.

Next week's varsity baseball card calls for three games. The Mountaineer nine is to oppose West Virginia Wesleyan College at Buckhannon, W. Va., Tuesday and will entertain the strong Pittsburgh collegians on Friday and Saturday.

Freshman tossers are booked to play West Liberty Normal here on Thursday and Potomac State School at Keyser, W. Va., Saturday. The Potomac State game is to be the last for the Mountaineer plebes, who will get down to work for final examinations on their return to Morgantown.

Considering that the outlook for the varsity baseball and track squads was not any too bright when prep was started in March, the Mountaineer teams have been very successful. Trackmen hold the dual meet title of the tri-State section and if they win over the Pitt intercollegiate will be the undisputed champions of the district. The rookie Mountaineer nine ranks third among tri-State baseball teams and has a chance to advance to second place.

Coaches Rodgers and Smith deserve credit for the showing of the teams they have worked so hard to develop. They had no seasoned material with which build their machines and the various triumphs are a tribute to their ability.

HURLS SHUT-OUT GAME

FRESNO, May 24. — Pete McHenry pitched his fourth straight shutout today when no held the Madera Central California League Club scoreless, while the Fresno Tigers piled up nine runs on a dozen base knocks coupled with ten Madera errors.

BIG LEAGUE OUTFITS OF WEST LOSE

Eastern Major Loop Clubs Emerge Triumphant After Intersectional Games

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 24.—Intersectional hostilities ceased tonight on the baseball front as West and East called home their storming baseball legions with eastern supremacy temporarily but clearly established.

Termination of the struggle today found pennant races in both major leagues definitely confined for the time being to the narrow limits of four Atlantic Coast cities, Philadelphia, to the growing amazement of baseballdom, had fortified themselves at the top of the American.

Washington maintained a challenging position in the wake of the Athletics, while the Giants were perched far from danger on the National peak, with Brooklyn in second place.

Only one wing of the West forces in the National was able to penetrate the defenses of the East, even as but a single unit of the West at home successfully stood off the invading eastern forces of the junior circuit.

The lone exceptions in each loop were Pittsburgh and White Sox teams. Each team won a majority of games played. Cleveland, in the American, and Cincinnati in the National, surrendered second positions, dropping back to fourth place during the intersectional battles. Boston outfits offered the weakest front of the eastern teams.

SWIMMING STYLES CHANGE

Weismuller, Borg and Other Champions Employ a Style Peculiar to Each of Their Physiques

It is interesting to note the changes that have been made in aquatic sports during the last two or three years. The younger generation is stepping into the place of the older swimmers who in the past have held the honors individually. The results of the San Francisco championships in April proved this conclusively. Walter Laufer and Walter Spence, two youngsters in their teens, succeeded in springing the surprise of the day, by becoming high-point winners of the meet—making new American swimming records with apparently little effort.

Styles in speed swimming are changing in respect to the old belief that form is essential for speed. Every swimmer in the national events in San Francisco used his own particular style or manner in getting through the water. Arne Borg, the Swedish champion, is one of the best examples of this new idea. His manner of swimming contradicts all scientific ideas of swimming and yet he continues to break world records. This can easily be explained when comparing swimmers to runners. No two athletes run in the same style. Until recently, swimmers have tried to abide by set rules regarding speed swimming—the result being that swimming honors have rested on just a few heads since 1906. Now that they are using their physical assets in their own individual way—more or less disregarding the set rules of swimming, the records have been spread over a very much larger field.

Weismuller, champion in the sprints, swims high in the water, with a comparatively slow stroke, which is designed for smoothness. The leg drive compares with a propeller of a motor boat and the speed of the body through the water is regulated largely by the leg drive. Borg, on the other hand, depends for speed through the water on a peculiar whip of the arms and shoulders. Walter Spence, the new swimming sensation, has a style of his own. Being short in stature, his stroke is short and choppy and very powerful. Walter Laufer of Cincinnati, built on the order of Norman Ross, with a large, buoyant body, seems to glide through the water.

Salley to Face Young Danny in Pasadena Ring

Many fight fans of San Bernardino will be moving over to Pasadena Thursday night, when two favorite boxers from there are scheduled to go on at the regular Pasadena Armory boxing show.

Young Salley, a favorite San Bernardino 128-pounder, will meet Young Danny in ten-round main event. Danny recently knocked out Jack Carr, and holds decisions over Trench King, Ruby Lavine, and many other good boys. Salley and Danny have met twice before at Hollywood Stadium, putting up one of the best slugging matches ever seen at the local stadium.

In the six-round semifinal Benny Jordan, another San Bernardino favorite, will swap blows with Young Lancho, who is staging a come-back, being kayoed by Chuck Borden a few weeks ago. These boys are 140-pounders.

The rest of the armory's card of four rounds each:

Eddie Shannon vs. Jimmy Black, 118 pounds.

Stanley Thompson vs. Vernie Kelterner, 165 pounds.

Henry Meano vs. Ernie Smith, 110 pounds.

DOWNEY, 5; E. K. WOOD, 1

Hopper's classy hurling was a little too much for E. K. Wood's ball team yesterday. Hopper let the losers down with but seven hits. Morris, losing pitcher, got three hits in three times up. The score:

BUTCHER'S MATE LAND ON JACK'S RENOVAT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 23. — When the Cunarder Berengaria arrived today from Southampton it became known that the world's champion heavyweight, Jack Dempsey, who was a passenger on the eastward voyage, with his bride, had boxed three rounds on deck with Kent, the butcher's mate, and had his claret tapped in the presence of fully 2000 of the passengers and crew.

The officers said today that it was the most exciting scene they had ever witnessed on the deck of a liner at sea. It occurred on Mon- [illegible] Cherbourg and the sea was as calm as the proverbial mill pond.

Dempsey's opponent, Kent, had been amateur champion heavyweight boxer of the British army and navy, but he had passed his forty-fifth year and was not up to the world champion's form for standing punishment. It was arranged that the men were to spar three rounds, Marquis of Queensberry rules, and the match was properly chaperoned by referee and timekeeper.

Dempsey did not try to knock his opponent about and let him do all the fighting. When Kent hit the champion on the nose in the beginning of the second round and the blood started to run, the latter did not like it, as his nasal organ was [illegible] beautifying [illegible] with war [illegible] trickling [illegible] spite of his [illegible] such great [illegible] big audience [illegible] liner [illegible] a hatch and [illegible] other [illegible] the canvas.

Monarchs Meet Vancouver in Hockey Clash

By virtue of the win over the Los Angeles Monarchs Saturday night, Vancouver has successfully defended its claim to the Pacific Coast amateur hockey title for this year at least. The teams will play one more game tonight and, while there is no championship at stake, this contest promises to be even more spectacular than any game of the series. The Monarchs are bent on handing out another drubbing to the British Columbia visitors, while the latter outfit would like nothing better than to make it four wins for the series.

Should the Canadian Amateur Athletic Association sanction the playing of a series between Port Arthur, Ont., world champions, and the Los Angeles Monarchs, Bill Scott, who is handling the present series, announced that he would, in all probability, have the games arranged for the week during the Shrine convention. A definite reply is expected from the Canadian authorities early this week.

SHOWER SILVER ON GEN. HOWZE

Popular Commander of Texas Cavalry Feted

Transfer Made Occasion of Princely Gifts

Social Affairs Testimonial of Regard Held

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO (Tex.) May 24.—When Maj.-Gen. Robert Lee Howze, commanding officer of the First Cavalry division here, retires from Uncle Sam's Army, he can open a silversmith's shop with all the presents which have been presented to him since the announcement that he had been transferred to command of the corps area at Columbus, O.

El Paso business men, headed by former Mayor Charlie Davis, and James L. Marr, led off with a complete dinner service of sterling silver, which was presented to Gen. and Mrs. Howze at a dinner given them by their friends. Seven subdebs in white dresses marched into the Paso del Norte dining-room with the silver service on serving trays and arranged it so the guest of honor and his wife were entirely surrounded by solid silver.

Then the war service committee of the Southern Baptist Church presented them with a sterling silver tea service as an appreciation of the co-operation they had rendered the committee in its work to make the enlisted men's life on the border a little more pleasant and a little less sandy. Staff officers at Fort Bliss followed suit with loving cups, regimental and unit insignias in silver and gold, until Gen. Howze will have to charter a special express car to take his gifts with him to Columbus.

WISH FULFILLED

When the late Jimmie Irvin, brigadier-general, commanding the border sector during Pancho Villa's last stand in the north, was given a farewell banquet by his hundreds of friends in the old Sheldon Grill, Gen. Howze, who succeeded him, said he would be willing to retire if he could have such a farewell by his friends. Although the general is four years under the retirement age and has been assigned to an important command at Columbus, his wish has been more than fulfilled, for his farewell has been as enthusiastic as that of Gen. Irvin, who died recently in Pasadena and who was known as the most popular commander on the Mexican border at the time of his transfer.

Plans had been made by Emmett Hines, Charlie Davis, Lamar Davis and others of Gen. Howze's close friends to take Gen. and Mrs. Howze to the farewell dinner in the old Concord stage coach which carried Mrs. Pancho Villa out of Mexico. The plan included a team of sixteen white mules from the remount station driven by Riley Powers, old-time frontier freighter, with the leading young business men of El Paso acting as outriders, dressed in chaps and Stetson hats, with a plentiful supply of blank cartridges to announce the progress of the general through the downtown streets. But the stage coach was shipped to Santa Susana, Cal., a few days before the dinner and this part of the plan had to be abandoned.

SON FOLLOWS FATHER

In addition to the farewell dinner given to him by his friends, the Pan-American Round Table gave a farewell luncheon in honor of Mrs. Howze, which was attended by the members of the Mexican-American Commission, now in session here to untangle the various border smuggling problems. A series of receptions, dances and dinner parties have been given at Fort Bliss and downtown for the Howzes before their departure for the East, where they will attend the graduation of their son, Robert Lee Howze, Jr., from West Point in June before going to Columbus.

Gen. Howze's war record fills a number of pages in the War Department archives in Washington. He won the Congressional Medal of Honor during his tour in the Philippines and was cited for bravery during the Pershing expedition, when he made his famous all-night ride to Ojo Azules. Chihuahua, attacked a remnant of Villa's command before daybreak and killed or captured the entire command. He commanded a division under Gen. Pershing overseas and returned to Fort Bliss to command the First Cavalry division, the largest cavalry command in the United States Army.

In addition to his professional activities he was interested in mining in Mexico.

Kentuckian Has Device to Save Tot From Autos

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RICHMOND (Ky.) May 23.—John Sharbach of Buckeye Creek, this county, has "invented" a scheme to prevent his son, John Jr., 6 years of age, being caught under wheels of automobiles.

Sharbach, who lives in the country, had read about so many children being run over by cars that he realized something had to be done when he brought Johnny to town.

So he hitched Johnny to himself with a rope. The check rein was used for a double purpose—to keep the lad from dashing away from his father in the height of excitement in the city and also to be used by the parent if, by chance, Johnny should be drawn under the wheels of a car, in which instance, Sharbach set out, "Mother rigged up this contraption to keep him near me and give me a chance to jerk him from under the auto wheels. I don't have to hold Johnnie's hand all the time now."

SKELETONS COVER FIELD OF 20 ACRES

Mystery Shrouds Extinct Spanish Settlement in Oklahoma

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) May 23.—Acres of human bones surround the ruggedly beautiful Devil's Canyon in the Wichita Mountains, about twenty miles from the town of Altus, Okla., which is twenty-five miles from Hobart.

The story of Devil's Canyon is a mystery never yet fathomed completely. Some records indicate that the Spanish explorer Coronado's men, or some who deserted him, settled there. There are records in San Fernando Cathedral, San Antonio, indicating that a later group of Spaniards went into the Wichita Mountains and mined gold until Indians killed them.

Whatever may have been the exact date, it is known that the settlers were Spaniards, and that almost 300 years ago they established a village in the beautiful canyon, prospered there a few years and then died.

Rayborn Kimberlin, an old-timer in Southwestern Oklahoma, camped near the village ruins as a boy herding cattle. He remembered the rows of dugouts with timbers that once supported roofs. In the open space within the canyon hundreds of skeletons had been dug up and various weapons dating back to the Spanish exploration period.

There is little ground that can be tilled in the vicinity and where the Spaniards lie in shallow graves. There are twenty acres, not ten square feet of which can be trod without stepping on human bones.

At first the bones were ploved up as whole skeletons but they quickly disintegrated in the air until now they are only fragments.

Settlers Must Pay for Lands Held 65 Years

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RENO, May 23.—After holding their lands for fifty to sixty-five years and successfully resisting several attempts by the government to evict them, white settlers on the Pyramid Lake Indian Reservation are facing virtual confiscation of their holdings.

Government appraisers recently recommended that the settlers be forced to pay as high as $65 per acre for the lands they had improved, and Secretary Work has ordered the first payment to be made within thirty days.

The settlers, some of whom wrested the barren desert acreage from Indian tribes, were informed their lands would not be appraised at more than $1.50 to $2.50 per acre. Senators Oddie and Pittman have promised they will seek relief for the settlers at the next session of Congress. In the meantime payments must be made.

EASING CREDIT CHEERS TRADE

Rising Stock and Bond Prices Add Favorable Note

Sterling's Return to Near Par Steady Influence

Tangible Gains Achieved by Various Industries

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 24.—Easing credit conditions, sterling's return to virtual parity, rising stock and bond prices, and a series of favorable dividend announcements, laid the basis for distinct improvement in business sentiment last week. Additional support for the more cheerful feeling was supplied by tangible gains in various industries—large buying orders, firmer prices and expanding operations.

One of the constructive factors in the oil industry, which has hitherto escaped notice, has been the increased demand for American petroleum products from European countries. Exports of gasoline in March totaled more than 125,000,000 gallons, or about 40,000,000 gallons greater than in the same month last year. Despite recent increases in the output of crude and refined products, the heavy drain upon stocks has brought about further price advances.

BUSINESS IS HEAVY

Since a large portion of the world's trade is conducted on a sterling basis, the significance of the rise in British currency to within a narrow fraction of par—$4.86 5-8—did not escape notice in the financial and business quarters. With the rate considerably above that figure at which gold exports would be practicable, adequate protection for the exchange seemed to be assured and everywhere the great importance of Great Britain's gold-resumption policy was conceded.

Although there have been no striking changes in the general run of commercial activities, it has become increasingly apparent that a tremendous volume of business has been and is being transacted. On the surface, the pace of operations has been more deliberate, with the actual volume of trade covered up by the efficiency in the production and movement of goods. Manufacturing activity has been sufficiently short of capacity to insure ready filling of orders and the railroads so far have encountered no congestion of traffic to delay deliveries. Both factors have accounted for the deliberation of retailers in placing forward business, and at the same time have regulated the buying for current needs on a generally higher level than the average.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC GROWS

Growing importance has been attached to the progressive movement in freight traffic. Since the first week in January car loadings have consistently averaged more than 900,000 cars a week, and for the last month have been nearer the million-car level. Disappointment over the lack of a bulge in going business has been offset by the realization that the better regulation of business is likely to prevent the normal summer slump in traffic. Maintenance of the freight movement at its present high rate, it is recognized, will have a vital influence on railway earnings, which in previous years have been impaired by summer depressions.

Leaders in the steel industry, attending the annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute last week, did not hesitate to express the belief that their business had already passed the low point of demand and that trade from now on should gradually pick up speed. In making their estimates and predictions, the steel men were fortified by statistics covering the last fortnight, showing gains in orders and a slightly accelerated rate of production.

Kansas City Rail Chief is Ordered to Return Bonds

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KANSAS CITY, May 24.—Judge John C. Pollock in the Federal court in Kansas City, Kas., ordered J. J. Heim, majority stockholder in the Kansas City, Kaw Valley and Western Interurban Company, to return to the treasury of the company $224,000 in first mortgage bonds and $6720 interest on the bonds. The bonds were taken out by Mr. Heim just before the receivership of the company in exchange for second mortgage bonds and other paper, which Judge Pollock termed "worthless."

Racing Driver Dies Following Auto Smash-up

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN JOSE, May 24.—Jack Kemp, auto racing driver of Bell, Cal., injured here this afternoon, died at 9:35 o'clock tonight. He received a fractured skull in an accident to the car he was driving in the qualifying time trials for the races to be held here. The car was the same one in which Bill Reed was killed at Tanforan early this year.

PEACE PLAN FOR CHINA PUBLISHED

Prize-Winning Proposal Aims to Unite Nation and Settle Internal Strife

BY JOHN POWELL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, by the Chicago Tribune]

SHANGHAI, May 24.—The Chinese and foreign newspapers in all parts of China today published the complete text of a practical peace plan for settling China's internal troubles and unifying the country. The plan, which carries the title of China's $1000 peace plan was awarded as first prize in a competition held by the China Weekly Review in Shanghai, an American paper. Several hundred plans were submitted to the judges, composed of American, British and Chinese.

The plan contains fourteen points and urges the Chinese leaders to devote their attention to clearing up the internal feeling and charges civil war to the perversion of the truth by politicians and militarists who attempt to use force in settling the differences. The plan demands three things from the powers, to wit:

To stop lending money to the rival factions;

To stop selling arms to the militarists;

To bring the unfinished portion of the Washington conference into effect immediately.

The plan then says there really is no feeling toward foreigners among the Chinese people. It closes with three demands to the Chinese people, being to put the provincial constitution into effect and outline a Federal system for the government of the country. It urges a conference of the military leaders for the purpose of disbanding the soldiers and putting them into productive work.

This Nurmi Not Fast Enough to Outrun Hold-ups

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24. — Being a namesake of Paavo Nurmi, Finnish long-distance runner, was of no use to one Gus Nurmi, a sailor, who reported to police today that being slow of foot cost him a black eye and all his money — 35 cents. Nurmi said he was approached by four men who attempted to hold him up. "I ran, but every one of those guys ran faster than I did. They all caught me," said the less fleet-footed Nurmi.

LARABEE NAMED TO WEST POINT FACULTY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24. — Maj. Alfred E. Larrabee, acting signal officer on the staff of Maj.-Gen. Charles T. Mencher, commander of the Ninth Corps Area, has been appointed an instructor in tactics and Signal Corps work at West Point, it was learned today. He plans to leave here next month. Larabee was graduated from the military academy in 1914. He served as a major in the World War and was promoted to lieutenant colonel in 1919. He also acted as representative of the Signal Corps on the United States Liquidation Commission.

BRITAIN'S GOLD ACTION LAUDED

Federal Reserve Advisors See Hazard Gone

Statement Cites Fluctuating Exchange Danger

Lifting of England's Export Ban Held Epochal

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 24. — The Federal Reserve Board's advisory council believes the return of Great Britain and dominions to a gold standard marks once more the undisputed sway of gold over the world's leading financial systems and removes one of the great hazards — fluctuating exchange—which has confronted business since the outbreak of the World War.

One of the few normi statements of the council declares tonight that when England established a free gold market and anchored herself "unreservedly to the gold standard," the time came to an end "when the world seemed to waver between monetary systems frankly bottomed upon gold on the one hand and fluctuating exchanges and so-called 'managed currencies' on the other."

MILLER'S STATEMENT

This was the second statement from official sources in two days dealing with America's part in the re-establishment of the gold basis in England. The first came from Dr. A. C. Miller, Federal Reserve Board member.

The council viewed the decision of England to lift the ban on gold exports as "an epoch in the financial history of the postwar period."

"For the United States," the statement said, "this development is of vastest importance.

"First, because we own approximately one-half of the world's monetary gold.

"Second, because in order to preserve for ourselves conditions of a well-balanced prosperity, foreign markets absorbing our surplus production are an imperative necessity and it is idle to expect that without exchange stability the purchasing power of foreign countries may regain its full capacity.

"Third, in present world conditions, the sale of our vast excess production to foreign buyers can only be maintained on anything like the present scale as long as we continue freely to absorb foreign securities. Our ability to do so, however, will depend upon the degree of credit these foreign countries will command here.

DANGER SEEN

"A true picture of the outlook is gained only if one considers what might have happened had England decided to continue the embargo on gold exports. It would not seem an overstatement to assume that in such a case the world might have suffered another exchange collapse, that private and public credit in foreign lands would have been impaired and that instead of making efforts to balance budgets by taxation, the temptation for debasement of currencies in many countries would have continued indefinitely.

"In such circumstances, true wages, and with that, living standards, in competing countries would have been further reduced."

COLUMBIA DAMS BAR TO SALMON

Oregon to Seek Injunction Against Project

Ninety-foot Barrier Spells Doom of Fish

General Electric Company is Facing Problem

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 24.—Serious objection to the construction of the Priest Rapids power dam on the upper Columbia River is being raised in Oregon and Washington. The dam is regarded as a menace to the salmon industry of the Columbia River, an industry amounting to some $5,000,000 a year, because it will keep the fish from their spawning grounds on the upper Columbia and the Snake.

The Priest Rapids project, backed by the General Electric Company and financed by eastern capital, is one of the most important developments to be launched in the Pacific-Northwest. The dam, as contemplated, will be ninety feet high, two miles long and will cost from $12,000,000 to $14,000,000. The entire project involves an investment of $50,000,000.

FISH DRAW LINE

Not only this dam, but other power and irrigation developments are alarming the fishing industry. In early projects of this kind low dams were the rule. Fish ladders were provided beside these dams and the salmon used the fishways to pass the dams and reach the spawning grounds. More recently the tendency has been to build the dams increasingly higher. The problem of getting the salmon past the high dams has not been solved. Most salmon will not climb a fish ladder that is more than thirty feet high, although some varieties will negotiate twice that height. No means of successfully getting fish past a ninety-foot dam, such as is planned at Priest Rapids, has yet been found.

Within the past year there have been experiments with fish elevators in Oregon and Washington. The idea is to lift the salmon from the pools below the dams and turn them loose in the streams at the upper levels. This is recognized as a makeshift plan at best, difficult and expensive of operation. Even those who are trying it out know that it will never be completely successful in solving the spawning problem.

The backers of the Priest Rapids dam have engaged to build a fishway around it. The salmon interests believe that it is impossible to build a fishway that will actually be used by the salmon; and if the salmon would get past the dam they think the young fry would be killed by the ninety-foot plunge as they make their way downstream.

Formal notice has been served that Oregon will seek an injunction to prevent building of the dam. Action to this effect was taken by the Oregon State Fish Commission and Department of Commerce notified.

"Even though there are some plans for the construction of a fishway at Priest Rapids, what we want is a system that will work," declared F. P. Kendall, chairman of the Oregon commission. "There have been a number of ideas on this subject, but they all have failed when put to the actual test. The commission does not hold that it cannot be done, but we do know that under similar conditions it never has been done."

As two-thirds of the salmon spawning area of the Columbia River lies above Priest Rapids, the commission regards the issue as vital.

BEAR PLAYS HAVOC WITH TEXAS HERD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MIDLAND (Tex.) May 24.—Over in the Magdalena district of New Mexico a giant grizzly bear is playing havoc with cattle on the open range. In a single night recently the animal killed sixteen grown cows at the ranch of Dub Evans. Evans and a group of cowboys hunted the bear for a few days but could get no contact with it. Knowing that there are three mighty bear hunters in Midland in the persons of Elliott, George and Bill Cowden, brothers, Evans sent a telegram urging them to come to his ranch as quickly as possible and go on a hunt for the big grizzly.

The Cowden boys accepted the invitation and in a few hours they had their four packs of bear dogs, forty in all, ready and started with them on the 800-mile trip to the Evans ranch. Most of the dogs which they took with them are veterans in trailing bears. The Cowden brothers spend a few weeks each year hunting grizzlies in the mountains of New Mexico and other western States.

It is supposed that the particular bear which is causing such heavy losses on the Evans ranch, came down out of the Gallina Mountains at the opening of spring.

COURT REFUSES STAY FOR BANKER CONVICT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MILWAUKEE, May 24.—Despite the fact that he was granted a new trial by the Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago, William C. Hood, former Racine banker, convicted here on charges of conspiracy to violate the National Banking Act, must go to Leavenworth penitentiary Monday to start serving a four-year term. The court refused further stay of execution. Hood was president of the former American National Bank of Racine.

DISSOLUTION ASKED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MINNEAPOLIS, May 24.—A petition for the voluntary dissolution of the St. Anthony Elevator Company of Minneapolis, which was incorporated in 1886, was filed with the clerk of the Hennepin County District Court.

LOS ANGELES . . . A WORLD KNOWN METROPOLIS

"One if by Land"—

EVERYONE is familiar with the famous ride of Paul Revere. When the lantern beamed from the old North Church, "light-made" history was written. Had this light failed, the glorious story of our Colonial forefathers might have been different.

Bureau Service Outstanding

The Bureau of Power and Light is making history in Los Angeles with a super-service of electric light—friendly light that floods highways, homes, unceasingly contributing comfort to purse and person. And, above all, dependable at all times.

Lowest Rates for Lighting

Rates offered by the Los Angeles Bureau of Power and Light are the lowest among America's large cities! The average monthly bill for Bureau electricity is $1.30 per home. This amount includes light, fuel for cooking appliances, and the many conveniences which lighten household cares. Over 200,000 Bureau-served homes save 25% to 75% for electricity compared to average rates throughout the United States!

Only a part of the story of Bureau efficiency is told by these savings. The Bureau of Power and Light operates without any assistance from taxes, and annually shows a financial statement of profits equal to and in many cases greater than the usual public utilities.

BULLS RULING WHEAT TRADE

Weather, Crop Conditions Dominant Factors

United States Approaching Domestic Basis

Corn to Work Higher; Oat Stocks Are Low

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 24.—Weather and crop conditions, especially the latter, are dominant factors in the world's wheat situation and are to be at least until the season is sufficiently advanced so that the size of the crop in the United States, Canada and Europe can be fully determined. The wheat trade is bullish, not only in North America, but abroad, owing to the uncertainty of future supplies and their close adjustment to the demand.

There are indications that the United States will be nearer if not entirely on a domestic basis the coming season. This is the belief of the Department of Crops and Markets of the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington. The situation is put squarely for the public and tends to confirm the belief that a number of people in the trade have entertained for a long time. What this means in the way of prices is for the future to determine.

WEATHER IS FREAKISH

Weather in the northwest and southwest has been most freakish, changing from low temperatures, down to 16 above in parts of the Northwest to around 100 within a week to ten days. In the Southwest the changes were from cold weather to a temperature of 100 with hot winds over Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska, which has dried out the surface moisture and placed the crop in a condition where rain is needed at once to maintain the present average.

Private crop reports suggest that there has been a loss of 6,000,000 bushels in Kansas in the last two weeks, with estimates of 85,000,000 bushels, although at a Kansas grain dealers' conference the Kansas crop was estimated variously at 90,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels. The government report gave it 96,000,000 bushels while last year it raised 154,000,000 bushels.

The next government report is expected to show less winter wheat than in May, with a low condition of spring wheat, the result of recent freezes in the Northwest.

OATS HAVE DECREASED

With a bull market on in wheat, there is also a sympathetic reflection in corn, despite prospects of a larger movement. It is claimed, however, by those who are bullish that the corn market is due to work higher, and that there will be a demand for the increased movement of fresh shelled corn from the country. Stocks are decreasing at a fair rate, although the consumptive demand is said to be slow.

Oat stocks have decreased nearly 50 per cent from the high point of the season, and a further reduction is in sight. Crop prospects are mostly favorable, although the Northwest is understood to have had a setback.

May rye has become hard to buy or sell, even in small lots at times, without materially affecting values.

Erupcion Finds New Lead Body in Chihuahua

It is stated that a new body of ore with a vertical dip and forty feet in width, has been found in the property of the Erupcion Mining Company, near Los Lamentos, Chihuahua, Mexico, and that the mine is opening up in a manner most gratifying to company officials and shareholders.

According to recent advices from Los Lamentos, the Ahumada Lead Company and the Erupcion, both controlled by practically the same interests, and whose properties adjoin, are making arrangements to ship several thousands of tons of low grade ore, running from 10 to 14 per cent lead and five ounces in silver to the ton, to the El Paso smelter.

It is also stated that the two companies have in contemplation the building of a large concentrating plant at the mines. With its completion and use a material saving in freight and treatment charges is anticipated. At the same time increased profits may well be looked for which should result in an increase in the regular dividend-paying rate.

INDUSTRIAL MUSEUMS TO BE VOCATION GUIDES

CAMPAIGN WILL BE BEGUN TO RAISE CAPITAL FOR UNDERTAKING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 24.—Museums of engineering and industry are to be established in Chicago and other great cities, on which working exhibits of all the principal industries of the country will be demonstrated. The value of this will be to give the youth of the country a vocational guidance and make it possible for them to determine what occupations they are best suited to prepare for.

Samuel Insull, who was chosen president of the big enterprise, is already busy with a campaign to raise $10,000,000 to erect and equip these museums. The chief industrial center of each State will get one, according to present plans, and will contain replicas of the exhibits on display at the National Museum, to be established on the Mall in Washington. This will be the largest museum building in the world, it is said, comprising more than twenty-five acres of floor space.

Supplementing the local museums will be traveling exhibits, carrying the work of industry to people in remote districts. European nations established similar institutions a century ago, but the managers of the present plan intended to go at the work on a much more elaborate scale than ever attempted.

HIGH COURT STILL FAILS TO CATCH UP

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Efforts of the Supreme Court to catch up with its docket are not meeting with any success this year. The court finds cases continue to be filed faster than it can dispose of them. The present outlook is that when the current term ends next month there will be more cases on the docket than it had pending for action when it met last October.

As far back as 1891 Congress recognized the need of protecting the court from being overburdened. That year 1800 cases were docketed and Congress created the Circuit Courts of Appeal to restrict the field for review by the Supreme Court.

This measure was temporarily effective, but in 1922 the number of cases docketed jumped to 1129 and during the present term 1261 cases have been filed, a thirty-four-year record. Present indications are that the number will exceed 1300 before the term ends.

Nippon Prince Begins Trip for Study Abroad

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TOKIO, May 24. — Prince Chichibu, second son of the Emperor of Japan, left for England today aboard the warship Izumo for two years' study abroad. He will leave the warship at Hongkong whence he will travel by liner.

The visit of Prince Chichibu to Europe is the first case of a son of the Japanese Emperor being educated in the Occident.

The Prince will spend fost of his two years in England, where he will live incognito as Marquis Chichibu. It is expected that he will live with one of the families of the British nobility while studying in England.

He will also travel on the continent, and it is possible that he will return to Japan by way of the United States.

Prince Chichibu is 22 years of age.

Message From Yacht Reports Coolidge Well

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 24. — A radio message from the President's yacht Mayflower reporting all well today indicated that President Coolidge had recovered from the attack of indigestion which forced him to cancel engagements yesterday.

Mr. Coolidge virtually had recovered from the indisposition yesterday before boarding the Mayflower, but his two physicians, Maj. James F. Coupal and Commander Joel T. Boone, accompanied him.

The yacht proceeded down the Potomac River this morning after anchoring for the night about forty miles from the capital, and it was assumed that President and Mrs. Coolidge would not return to the city until tomorrow morning.

SCHOOL DAYS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO RECALLED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LA CRESCENTA, May 24.—A social entertainment was held here in which the honor guest was a Kansas school-teacher of more than a half-century ago, and the host, one of her pupils, who, fifty years ago, was the banner scholar in the little sod school-house at Smith Center when Indians and buffalo still reigned over the plains of the Middle West. The host was J. P. Nickel, and the guest, Mrs. G. H. Elson, who is now a resident of Van Nuys. A dozen guests were present to do honor to Mrs. Elson. Most of the social evening was spent in recounting the old days in the little sod schoolhouse without floors, where Mrs. Elson and her pupils burned corn to keep themselves warm on the coldest winter days.

LA RUE DEPARTS FOR COLORADO PARLEY

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 24.—E. C. La Rue, an authority on the Colorado River, left Pasadena this afternoon for Phoenix, Ariz., to confer with engineering representatives of Gov. Hunt on plans for a survey of the Arizona desert regions adjacent to the Colorado River. It is believed that during his three-day stay in Phoenix, Mr. La Rue will discuss with the engineers the feasibility of a plan by which water from the Colorado could be brought to Southern California through a system of aqueducts not requiring the use of a single pump. This gravity system is outlined in a report prepared by Mr. La Rue for a Federal commission, which has not yet made public in Washington the details of the plan.

OLD LANDMARK AT SAN DIEGO MUST GO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, May 24. — A landmark that has stood for thirty-six years will be razed starting tomorrow when workmen begin tearing down the rambling structure on University that served as St. Joseph's Hospital. The hospital is now housed in a modern six-story concrete structure.

HUGE BENEFIT PLANNED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH PASADENA, May 24.—What is expected to be the largest outdoor benefit ever presented in South Pasadena will be staged in Garfield Park on the evening of the 29th inst., to provide funds for a high school scholarship. "The Piper," a $10,000-prize play written by Josephine Peabody, has been selected by Mrs. E. Balcomb for presentation by the oral expression class of the high school under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association.

TRADE BODY TO BE ROW CENTER

Attacks Will be Met by Move for Statutory Backing

Conservatives Plan Counter Effort Against Radicals

Coolidge Said to be Ready to Defend New Policies

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Attacks upon the new policies of the Federal Trade Commission in Congress are to be met by a counter movement to amend the law to insure their permanency.

The commission is certain to be a storm center in the coming session, but those who favor the attitude of the present commission do not intend that the fighting shall be one-sided.

Radical and so-called Independent Republicans and Democratic groups in sympathy with them will:

Demand the abolishment of the Federal Trade Commission.

Seek to cut off all appropriations for the commission when the independent offices appropriation bill comes up for action.

Seek to add provisos to the appropriation bill prohibiting the use of funds of the commission unless its members follow certain policies.

Attack President Coolidge and the Republican administration generally for supporting the policies of the present Republican majority of the commission under which it is sought to do as little injury as possible to business through its activities.

On the other hand conservative Republicans aided by conservative Democrats, with the backing of business organizations throughout the country will:

Press the Wadsworth-Williams bill revising the Federal Trade Commission Act to insure more friendly treatment to business.

Assail the critics of the present Federal Trade Commission as identified with the La Follette radical and Socialistic groups and as disgruntled because one of their chief sources of campaign material has been closed to them.

The Wadsworth-Williams bill was introduced in Congress late in the last session with the backing of many business organizations. It was designed to accomplish something quite similar to what has recently been brought about by the voluntary action of the commission without the mandate of law. Despite the changes made the sponsors of the Wadsworth-Williams bill intend to continue their activities for its passage at next winter's session. Passage of this measure would make it clear that Congress intends that the commission shall pursue certain policies, whereas with the law in its present form the minority members of the commission dispute the majority's interpretation of its meaning.

President Coolidge, it is understood, is ready to meet the issue and will defend the new policies of the commission. The Republican leaders point out that this is the first time that the Republicans ever have controlled the commission since its establishment during the Wilson administration. While the Republican administration has been in power for more than four years, the holdover terms of Wilson appointees made it impossible for either President Harding or President Coolidge to exercise any influence whatsoever over its activities. It is conceded that the turning point came with the appointment of former Representative William E. Humphrey of the State of Washington, whose confirmation was opposed by the La Follette group in the Senate.

TOKIO QUAKE HERO'S LIFE ATTEMPTED

Third Effort is Made to Slay General Who Ruled City During Crisis

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TOKIO, May 24.—The vernacular press printed special dispatches today saying that another attempt had been made to assassinate Gen. Masataro Fukuda, commander of the Tokio district during the martial law period following the earthquake and fire of 1923. The new attempt, the dispatches said, occurred last night while the general was dining in a restaurant in Fukuoka. A pistol bullet was fired through a window but the shot went wild. The assailant escaped.

It is believed that the attempted assassination was in retaliation of the slaying of the Socialist leader, Sakaye Osugi in Tokio shortly after the earthquake.

The general was en route from Nagasaki to Tokio when he was fired upon.

Sakaye Osugi, a radical Socialist, and his wife and child were strangled to death by Capt. Masahiko Amakasu, gendarmerie officer, on September 16, 1923. Amakasu admitted the slaying and declared he had committed the murders in his capacity as a citizen because Osugi's principles and actions were detrimental to the people of society during the chaotic times, which followed the earthquake.

Friends of the slain Socialist held Gen. Fukuda as commander of the district responsible for the killing. Subsequently two attempts were made upon his life.

RIO GRANDE VALLEY CROPS BREAK RECORD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) May 24. Crops in excess of $18,000,000 have flowed out of the Rio Grande Valley this season, topping last season's record by several hundred thousand dollars, and when the truck season ends in June the total will be even greater.

Such is the report made from freight and express records of shipments since the opening of the season in October, with still more than a month of the season to be checked. Estimate of the crop value in excess of $18,000,000 was reached by tabulating the shipments of each month according to commodities and the prices received.

EVOLUTION QUIZ BEGINS TODAY

Indictment Near for Banned Doctrine Teaching

Loud Speakers to Broadcast Weighty Argument

Tennessee Case Promises to Settle Debate

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DAYTON (Tenn.) May 24.—Dayton tonight was dusting off its best bib and tucker in preparation for the first phase of the court test of the constitutionality of the recently enacted Tennessee law against the teaching of evolution in public schools.

Presentment of an indictment to the Rhea county grand jury, called in special session Monday, will start the revolution of the wheel that is expected eventually to decide whether evolution is a theory, a science or both in Tennessee, and whether it can form a part of school courses as a recent Legislature has said it cannot.

John T. Scopes, science teacher in the Rhea County High School, recent graduate of the University of Kentucky, is the central figure in the contest. He was formally charged with violation of the law and the 9th inst. given a preliminary hearing before three justices of the peace. They held that he was "technically if not intentionally guilty" and held him for action by the grand jury. His bond was placed at $1000, but he was not required to post securities.

The case has thrown Dayton squarely in the center of the stage of publicity. The county seat of Rhea county is a small town, its population not being much in excess of 2000. The Courthouse where the trial will be held if Scopes is indicted, regarded as a certain development, is a building of the orthodox courthouse type, sheltered by scores of trees, a dozen varieties of maples. An immense lawn surrounds the twenty-five-year-old building and here it is planned to have most of the crowd, expected to gather for the trial, hear the argument, loud speakers of the mechanical variety being installed in the courtroom. The present case, in a fair way to be heard around the world, was started one night when a crowd of congenial spirits had gathered in a drugstore, the town club, to all intents and purposes.

Mr. Scopes was present and in a discussion of the legislative edict against the teaching of evolution, he remarked that he was teaching it in the biology courses of his science department.

Six Are Badly Hurt in Oakland Stand Collapse

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, May 24. — Six persons were seriously injured and more than a score suffered minor hurts when a portion of the grand stand at Idora Park collapsed here today.

Seventy-five persons viewing a bathing contest occupied the section that gave way, but only those on the top seats were badly injured.

DENTISTS WILL HEAR ABOUT LEGISLATION

BAY CITY MAN TO TALK ON BILLS AT CONVENTION OPENING TODAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, May 24.—A detailed explanation of dental legislation passed by the last Legislature is to be made by Dr. Henley E. Miller of San Francisco to the fifty-fifth annual convention of the California State Dental Association, which opens here tomorrow.

Dr. Miller will show in his report that all of the bills introduced into the Legislature relative to dentistry were passed and that the Governor is expected to sign them. One of the measures, Assembly bill 813, empowers boards of town trustees, City Councils and County Boards of Supervisors to employ licensed dentists or dental hygienists to carry on the work in rural and isolated communities.

Dr. Miller says in the report that there are only four dentists in Sacramento county outside of the city of Sacramento and none in the southern part of the county within fifty miles of each other.

Assembly bill 815 relates to the licensing of dental hygienists and is framed to encourage such hygienists to come to the State. The dental measures, Dr. Miller says, are no additional burden on the State and for that reason he believes the Governor will sign them.

There are 73,500 children in the schools of California who are receiving instruction in dental hygiene, Dr. Guy S. Milberry of San Francisco says in a report to be submitted to the convention by its educational committee. Six hundred rural school districts are reached by ten traveling clinics. Three of these clinics give instruction to 18,072 children in Los Angeles county alone.

Longfellow's Hesperus Not Wrecked at All

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BOSTON (Mass.) May 24. — The schooner Hesperus, made forever famous by Longfellow's ballad "The Wreck of the Hesperus," was not wrecked at all. Instead of going to its doom on the reef of Norman's Woe, the vessel lay in safety in Boston Harbor and suffered only the breaking of a bowsprit when buffeted by the gusts which reached her.

The historical mistake is revealed in a study of newspaper files of the period of the great gale which inspired the poet.

On December 17, 1879, the newspapers printed an account of a sad disaster, telling how seventeen bodies were washed ashore. In the same column was a paragraph telling how a gust drove the Hesperus from her moorings in Boston Harbor against the ship William Badger, carrying away her bowsprit. A trifling misfortune like this won the schooner Hesperus undying fame. Perusal of Longfellow's diary for the 17th shows that he must have read both items and confused them.

Twelve Hundred Pay $1000 Each for Fund Feast

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 24.—Paying a cover charge of $1000 each, 1200 men and women attended a dinner in the Hotel Astor tonight in celebration of the breaking of ground today for the Yeshiva of America, the Jewish seminary and college to be erected on Amsterdam avenue.

Judge Otto A. Rosalsky, vice-chairman of the campaign to raise $5,000,000 for the erection of America's first Jewish college, said that Jewish education frequently stopped with the confirmation ceremonial, and that the purpose of the college would be to continue this education and to save the young people to Judaism.

The proposed institution will be the largest center of higher Jewish learning in the world, it is said.

DRUG RAIDERS FIND LOST GIRL

Father Traces Maid From Portland to Bay City

Narcotic Ring is Broken Up by His Efforts

Five Offenders Will Face Federal Prosecution

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—Begging the police to find his runaway daughter and help him rescue her from the grip of narcotics, John Harper, Portland (Or.) business man, today led a squad of raiders into the rendezvous of drug peddlers in Oakland and broke up a narcotic ring that Federal men have sought for months.

Five were arrested and lodged in the Oakland City Prison under $1000 bail. One of them was Harper's daughter, Mrs. Ivadell Rogers, 24, and another her husband, Charles Rogers, 27.

The father had traced his daughter from Portland to Oakland and from letters had learned she was living in the 1000 block on Castro street. Unable to find her specific address, he called upon the police, revealing to them that the young woman had taken to using narcotics.

Special police raiders, headed by Inspector A. Monroy of the government narcotics service in San Francisco, searched through the suspected block until they found Mrs. Rogers. When she and her husband were caught with narcotics concealed in their clothing and in their apartment they broke down and confessed, the police reported tonight, the names of the other members of their drug ring.

The police then went to 1111 Franklin street, where they caught Fred Hunter, 26, asserted head of the ring, who is accused of having supplied the Rogers couple with narcotics to peddle. In Hunter's apartment they discovered evidence implicating Mrs. Florence Johnson and Bud Pollard, 196 Forty-first street, and they were arrested.

All are held for violation of the State Poison Act, and after arraignment in the Oakland Police Court will be turned over to Federal authorities for further prosecution.

"We have broken up, through this father's search for his daughter, one of the worst drug bands on the Coast," Inspector Monroy commented tonight. Harper will try to take his daughter back to Portland after she has served any sentence that is imposed upon her by the courts, he said.

TOLL OF FREAK COLD MOUNTING

from the Central States territory to the Great Plains and northward to the Canadian border, tonight shows a puzzling mixture of rains, thunderstorms, gales, hail, sleet and snow. In Northern Wisconsin and the Michigan peninsula heavy snow fell yesterday and last night, reaching as far south as Milwaukee. Disheartening reports are coming in tonight from the great fruit belt of lower Michigan.

Lifesaving crews at Chicago and other lake stations, had a busy day bringing in misguided parties in small boats, who had been swept out by the heavy tides and high winds. No lives were lost, as far as known tonight, but several persons were rescued in an exhausted condition.

One of the most disastrous damages is that of the straw-hat crop. Merchants had filled their windows with a bewildering display of summer lids but today clerks put them in storage and filled the windows with sweaters, mittens, ear muffs and heavy clothing. The swimming beaches, which were densely populated Friday, were deserted today and the busses, usually crowded on top, rattled through the streets with the passengers all huddled inside.

SEVERE STORM BRINGS HAIL, DEATH IN EAST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 24.—Devastation and death continued in mounting toll today as a result of the storm, which tore through this section of the East last night on the wings of a sixty-four mile-an-hour gale.

Trees were uprooted, automobiles wrecked, signs torn down and small boats strewn along the beaches. Along the north shore of Long Island hot houses and automobile tops were wrecked by the hailstones, which were reported as large as eggs. Wealthy estate owners near Port Washington and Glen Cove estimated the damage done to their property at $250,000. The Marcus Loew estate alone is said to have suffered $175,000 damage. Every pane of glass of the roof in the large greenhouse on the estate was broken by the hail stones.

In New York City Mrs. Catherine Howard required five stitches in her head because she stooped over to protect her baby when the high wind swept a sky light from the roof of their home. The child was unscathed.

Two deaths were reported, directly attributable to the storm.

Cool to cold weather and intermittent rains continued today in many sections of the East. The Weather Bureau predicted snow flurries for Northern New York tomorrow. Oswego reported a low temperature of 36 today.

Today's minimum of 46 was not the lowest on record for May 24. May 24, 1877, a low of 42 was recorded.

What was probably a record temperature drop occurred between Saturday afternoon when the city was sweltering with the thermometer at 92 and this afternoon when overcoats were in order and the mercury disclosed a drop of 46 deg.

CIVIL SERVICE STRIDES AHEAD

Vigor Given Under Roosevelt Regime Still Felt

Faithful Effort Rewarded by Sure Progress

Some of Original Staff Now Have High Places

BY WILLIAM C. DEMING,
President, United States Civil Service Commission
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Thirty years ago this month the six-years' service as United States civil service commissioner of Theodore Roosevelt ended.

Roosevelt entered upon his duties as civil service commissioner in a characteristic way. He burst into the commission's building and fired this volley at one of the employees:

"I am the new civil service commissioner, Theodore Roosevelt of New York. Have you a telephone handy? Call up the Ebbitt House. I have an appointment with Mr. Blank. Say I will be there at 10 o'clock."

Roosevelt's service of six years was a vigorous defense and constructive effort in behalf of the merit system of employment in public offices.

"Civil service reform is not merely a movement to better the public service," said Mr. Roosevelt in an article in Scribner's Magazine in 1895, "it achieves this end, too; but its main purpose is to raise the tone of public life, and it is in this direction that its effects have been of incalculable good to the whole community."

"In his six years of service," said Henry Cabot Lodge, speaking of Roosevelt, "he gave to the civil service law a reality and a vitality which it never possessed before, and a position of strength to the commission which it has never lost since."

"The force of the commission itself was all chosen through competitive examinations," Roosevelt said on one occasion, "and it includes men of every party and from every section of the country; and I do not believe that in any public or private office of the size it would be possible to find a more honest, efficient, and coherent body of workers."

SOME STILL THERE

Twenty men and women still with the Civil Service Commission are entitled to share in this tribute. One of them is now a civil service commissioner himself, George R. Wales. Another has been secretary of the commission for many years, Dr. John T. Doyle. Three are chiefs of division, Dr. Thomas A. Griffin, Dr. Thomas P. Chapman, and Henry A. Hesse. Two are district secretaries, Dr. Bollvar L. Falconer at Boston and Charles L. Snyder at San Francisco. All of the others hold positions of importance in the commission's organization. Every one of them had a humble beginning. Their advancement has been an exemplification of the practical application of the merit system at its fountainhead, of honest effort honestly rewarded.

In its Washington office and its field offices, the Civil Service Commission has 469 employees. Only five officers in the organization are appointed through nomination by the President and confirmation by the Senate. These are the three members of the commission, the chief examiner, and the secretary. Like Commissioner Wales and Secretary Doyle, the chief examiner, Herbert A. Filer, came up from the ranks. Every other key position in the organization is included in the competitive classified service and has been filled through promotion on merit.

LONG SERVICE

William C. Hull, clerk to the commissioners, started as a messenger boy.

Three of the commission's present employees, Mr. Doyle, secretary; Matthew Halloran, contact representative, and Ananias Davis, messenger, have served with the commission ever since the civil service law was passed in 1883.

Men and women alike have been rewarded for faithful and efficient service. The result is seen in a harmoniously loyal and hard-working force throughout the organization. This stable institution, built on merit alone, is an example of what a business organization may be when worth is recognized.

What has been accomplished by these men and women in the office of the Civil Service Commission can be accomplished in any other branch of the classified civil service of the United States. The government service offers a wide field of opportunity where individual tastes may be developed and where real constructive work — big, interesting work — may be done.

NEW COMPANY FORMED

Properties Are Acquired in Cananea District of Sonora

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HERMOSILLO (Mex.) May 24. The Charles W. Gabrielson Company has recently been organized to operate in the Cananea district of Sonora. The operations will be under the personal direction of Charles W. Gabrielson, who has already acquired the Silver Plume and the Silver Plume Extension mines in the Manzanal Mountains. The principal metal values in the ores of this region are gold, silver and lead.

Charles S. Eagan and Edward R. Haggin have located some promising silver claims in the San Xavier camp, adjoining the old Carmen mine. If this prospect continues to make a good showing during the development machinery will be installed and active mining carried on.

LAWN OWNERS COMPETE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) May 24. San Antonio's beautiful yard contest, which has grown to proportions far exceeding all other similar events in the history of the city, will close soon, it is announced by John L. Strohm, chairman of the beautiful yards committee. A total of $1000 in cash and merchandise prizes will be awarded to winners.

HARDING TROPHIES TO BE BROUGHT HERE

Shriners Treasure Drum Which He Signed and His Bugle

Columbus Shriners With Mementoes

ALADDIN TEMPLE of Columbus, O., is bringing to the doin's next week the bass drum on which the late President Warren G. Harding wrote his signature, the night that he trod the burning sands and became a noble of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Mystic Shrine. A few weeks later he was inaugurated Chief Magistrate of the republic.

To preserve the signature it has been given a coat of shellac, which also served to bring out the name, sharp and clear. Drum Major Pearl Nichols, who served in France with the Rainbow Division, guards this treasure of the temple with zealous care.

In the days when President Harding played in his home town band, at Marion, O., he tootled on a gold cornet. When he joined Aladdin Temple he presented it to the Aladdin band, and its tones will be heard here at the lips of Frank Todhunter, soloist of the temple.

Both the cornet and the drum are exhibited wherever the band goes.

NEW YORKER HAS CANADA OIL OPTION

Experts on Way to Explore Prince Edward Island for Doherty Company

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 24.—An option to lease all rights on Prince Edward Island in Canada for oil exploration and subsequent drilling has been obtained by Henry L. Doherty & Co., it was announced today. The option was obtained from Hugh J. MacKay of Sapulpa, Okla., who possesses a license granted him by the provincial legislative assembly. The property embraces 1,400,000 acres.

Six geologists are on their way to Charlotte Town, P. E. I., to begin a survey preliminary to a drilling campaign, should indication point to oil.

The Canadian government pays a royalty of 26 cents on every barrel of oil produced within the Dominion of Canada, in an effort to stimulate petroleum exploration.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OTTAWA, May 24.—The Dominion government discontinued some time ago a payment of bounty on oil produced in the Dominion.

It was not possible to get an official statement tonight on the Mackay leases in Prince Edward Island, but unless some special concessions have been obtained from the government, unofficial opinion here is that the Doherty company, which has taken over the leases for immediate development, will get no bounty on its production.

Woman, 92, to Spend Birthday by Driving Auto

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN MATEO, May 24. — Mrs. Catherine Sneath, wealthy widow of San Mateo and well-known nonogenarian motorist, again feels the lure of the open road and subsequently is about to celebrate her ninety-second birthday anniversary by driving her car to Yellowstone Park and perhaps on to Chicago, it was learned today. Four years ago Mrs. Sneath drove to New York and back.

LAND RELIEF BILL SIGNED

Elwood Mead Denounced by Richardson as to Blame for Losses of Delhi Colony

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, May 24.—Criticism of the connection of Elwood Mead, United States Commissioner of Reclamation, with the Delhi Merced county land settlement project, while head of the California Land Settlement Board, is contained in a statement issued here today by Gov. Richardson announcing the signing of Assembly Bill No. 1250 appropriating $250,000 for the relief of settlers of the colony.

Gov. Richardson declared that while the State has about $2,000,000 invested in the Delhi project, the net value of the State's interest at the present time is not more than $1,000,000. He also declared that it it were not for the human element involved, it would be advantageous to the State if it could get $1,000,000 out of the project and clean the slate of its obligations.

The appropriation bill signed by the Governor was agreed upon by a special committee of the Legislature, land settlement officials and the Board of Control.

The Governor in his statement said:

"The State has about $2,000,000 invested at Delhi in a land-settlement project. The net value of the State's interest at Delhi at the present time is not more than $1,000,000. From this it is apparent that the State has already lost $1,000,000 in this project. If the State could get $1,000,000 out of this project and clean the slate of its obligations, it would be advantageous, but unfortunately there is a human element involved and consequently the State cannot get out of Delhi.

"The settlers at Delhi are hard working, industrious, 100 per cent Americans. Conditions at the colony were misrepresented to them and their losses have been considerable. In order to keep the colony afloat and to do justice to these outraged settlers, it is necessary that the State at this time appropriate $250,000.

"This colony is a monument to the visionary scheme and impractical ideas of Elwood Mead.

"The State of California must see this project through on account of its moral phase more than on account of its business phase."

Grazing Permit Change Rapped by Cattlemen

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) May 24.—A score of Southwest cattlemen met here yesterday to outline a report of their problems to be presented to the subcommittee of the Senate Lands Committee here on June 4. B. A. Packard, prominent banker, who has large cattle interests in Northern Sonora, was chairman of the meeting.

The cattlemen went on record as opposing the proposed change in the grazing permit of the Forest Service, which has enabled them to keep cattle in national forests. Wool growers of the State also are opposed to the proposed change, according to a communication from the Arizona Industrial Congress, which was presented at the meeting. The Forest Service proposes taking approximately 35,000 cattle out of the Arizona reserves and a considerable number of sheep.

Packard appointed a committee to prepare a report of the cattlemen's problems to the Senate committee.

BOBS OUST CHICAGO'S AUTOMATS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 24.—Automats, those highly ornate eating places so popular in Philadelphia and New York, which resemble a glazed safety deposit vault, cannot compete with the bobbed-hair waitress, according to rumors in real estate circles here.

At first they were immensely popular in Chicago and the Philadelphia firm established six of them here. The plan of slipping one or more nickels into a slot and releasing food of various kinds from tiny stalls, made a hit, especially during the war days when labor was scarce. Even fashionable society gave "automat" parties after Red Cross and war-loan drives. But times have changed. Now the automats have dwindled to three and it is said the equipment of the closed places is being shipped back to Philadelphia.

Restaurant men say bobbed hair has helped put the automat out of business. The pretty waitress is riding on a wave of popularity. No one can make a date with a coffee spigot or with a marvelously adjusted bit of machinery that only responds with a click. So the automats are closing and the bobbed hair waitresses are increasing.

JAPANESE YOUTHS TALK ON CONSTITUTION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, May 24.—S. Tokuyama of Oxnard last night won the tricounty Japanese oratorical contest held here in the Buddhist Temple. The youth spoke on the Constitution. H. Utsunomiya of Santa Maria was second and Toshi Tanaka of Guadalupe was third. Ventura, San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara counties were represented.

GERMANY HELD SAFE REPUBLIC

Hindenburg Election Carries No Menace, is Belief

Constitution Safeguard of Democratic Status

New President Pledges Word to Uphold Liberties

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The election of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg to the Presidency of the German republic and the character, record and past fealty of that doughty old warhorse have aroused almost endless speculation. Is there about to be a restoration of the monarchy, which Wilhelm scrapped? That, perhaps, is the question most frequently discussed.

Well-informed Germans in this country say that the answer is to be found in the form of government which the German people have established and in the constitutional hobbles which they have put on their President.

Roughly speaking, there are three types of republics. The first is the Presidential republic, such as the United States, in which the executive is essentially free of responsibility to the legislative branch, although Congress can impeach and remove the President from office, and he can veto legislation which he does not approve. The second is the collegiate republic, such as Switzerland and the Hanseatic City-States of Germany under the old regime, in which a college takes the place of a President. The third is the parliamentary republic, as in France. The German republic has some features of all three.

ELECTED BY PEOPLE

The German President is elected by the people, just as is the President of the United States, while the French executive is chosen by the two houses of Parliament, united as the National Assembly. The American President appoints his own Cabinet, subject to confirmation by the Senate, and it is responsible only to him. In France and in Germany, on the other hand, the President chooses a Cabinet, but it must be acceptable to the parliamentary body, for the Cabinet "falls" whenever it asks for a vote of confidence and is rejected.

In both France and Germany the Parliament not only exercises legislative power, but it also controls executive action to a degree, although in Germany the President is not wholly a creature of the Parliament. It is stated that he is intended to be a powerful part of the government, and, if need should arise, a check on the Parliament to prevent its becoming omnipotent.

The fathers of the German constitution wanted a sort of parliamentarism, the mechanism of which is controlled by the people and not by the Parliament; in other words, they wanted an unadulterated parliamentarism. Therefore, they gave the President an entirely different status from that of the French President, but also different from that of the American President, he is independent of Congress in his sphere of action. The nearest parallel to the German Presidency is to be found in a parliamentary monarchy, such as that in Great Britain.

As seen in the light of constitutional law, the German President stands between the Presidents of America and France; he is weaker than the one and stronger than the other. The separation of legislative and executive power makes him independent in his own province, but this province is limited, for he can act only with the counter-signature of a Cabinet member. Should the minister encounter the displeasure of the Reichstag he will "fall" over his signature and must be replaced by another man who will be more cautious. Thus in the ultimate, the President is always dependent on the Reichstag.

POWER IN REICHSTAG

It will be seen that, in effect, the internal policy as well as the foreign policy of the German President is determined by the majority of the parliamentary body, the Reichstag. However, in President Hindenburg's case, the division of the parties is nearly even between the parties of the right and left bloc, with no clear-cut majority on either side, but always with a Republican majority, so long as the Communists join the other Left parties. No monarchistic or Nationalistic President would have the ghost of a chance to alter the present status, except by a coup d'etat, and to accomplish that he would have to have a majority of the people behind him, which Hindenburg does not have, since he is a minority President.

He was elected by only a plurality of the popular vote, and while his strength with a large element of the people is conceded, it is asserted that he would not retain any substantial fraction of that strength should he undertake to overturn the republic.

However, Hindenburg has pledged himself to uphold the constitution and the republic and even his adversaries say he is not the kind of a man to repudiate his oath. It is pointed out that Hindenburg has never posed as a politician and never was a political general. He did his duty to his country, as he saw it, to the best of his ability, endeared himself to his soldiers through an extraordinary consideration for life and limb, and after he had led the troops back went into private retreat without taking the slightest part in politics.

Boy Wins Wager by Making Tour of Globe for $10

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MANITOWOC (Wis.) May 24.—Earl Reichert of Reedsville, this county, has won a wager made about a year ago that he could travel around the world on $10.

He left home August 1 last year with that amount of money and came back with $100. He earned money aboard ship by taking charge of stowaways from Havana to San Francisco and later by working as cadet on the steamer President Hayes. In the Orient he acted as a bodyguard for an aged couple.

DRY LEAGUERS HAVE BIRTHDAY

Anti-Saloon Organization at Thirty-second Milestone

Leader Sums Up Results of Years of Effort

Continued Fight to Enforce Law is Promised

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The Anti-Saloon League, of which Wayne B. Wheeler is the head, celebrated his thirty-second birthday today. It was founded in Oberlin, O., by a group of churches, throwing aside denominational lines.

Anticanteen law, for entire military establishments, 1901.

Prohibition for certain Pacific islands, 1902.

Suppression of liquor traffic among the Indians, 1906.

Amendments to interstate law, especially on plain branding of shipments, 1909.

Webb-Kenyon interstate liquor shipment law, passed and repassed over Presidential veto, 1913.

Law prohibiting liquor advertising in mails, and prohibiting shipment of liquor into dry States, 1917.

Prohibition for the District of Columbia and enforcement code, 1917.

Importation of distilled liquor prohibited, 1917.

Submission of the Eighteenth Amendment to Congress and its passage, 1917.

War-time prohibition, 1918.

Volstead Act passed, 1919.

Only three States were under prohibition in 1893, Mr. Wheeler pointed out.

"Many States, which had adopted prohibition following the Civil War had repealed it," he said. "Saloons were increasing rapidly and the vision of a dry nation seemed like a forlorn hope. Steadily the dry forces drove the enemy from the field until thirty-three States had adopted prohibition before the Eighteenth Amendment went into effect. 95 per cent of the territory of the United States was dry, and 68 per cent of the population lived in that dry territory. Prohibition was not put over but was voted over by the steady, determined growth of public sentiment that the liquor traffic was a menace to society.

"The Anti-Saloon League and other forces are now facing the most difficult part of the program for a sober nation, namely, law enforcement. A small minority will doubtless continue to make trouble. It is not the numbers of the minority, but their lawlessness which requires redoubled effort to halt their criminal practices.

"The successful work done by the Coast Guard against rum row, the improvement in the border patrol against smugglers, plus the concentrated campaign against the sources of supply in the wet sections of the country indicate what can be done when the government uses its full resources.

"The same forces which brought about national prohibition, augmented by others, who believe in orderly government, will continue the fight until organized resistance to law enforcement ceases and the beverage liquor traffic is suppressed."

Woman Willed Large Share of Amidon Estate

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WICHITA (Kan.) May 24.—One of the large beneficiaries in the will of the late Sam B. Amidon, former Democratic national committeeman from Kansas, is Mrs. Connie May Baker, who is bequeathed $25,000 and who also was given $25,000 in life insurance.

Prior to Amidon's death she had been given a rental property by deed from Amidon and his wife. Amidon's will also provided for the cancellation of a note from Amidon to her to cover a mortgage on a farm which Mrs. Baker owned in Kingman county.

When Amidon made his last European tour two years ago, Mrs. Baker accompanied him and passports were issued in the Federal court here to her as his niece. She was generally reported to be his niece but in the will no reference is made to the relationship.

HYLAN OPPONENTS WARNED BY HEARST

DISSENSION THREATENED IF RENOMINATION IS OPPOSED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 24.—Warning to Gov. Al Smith and his friends in Tammany, who are credited with a desire to deny Mayor Hylan renomination for a third term, that the attempt to put through any such program would upset their political "apple cart," was issued today by William Randolph Hearst.

In conformity with what appears to be the Hylan-Hearst program of requiring Tammany and the friends of the Governor to take the offensive in the movement to sidetrack Mayor Hylan, Mr. Hearst scouted the idea of a break between the Governor and the Mayor and declared that the Republican party, and certainly not the Democratic party, Gov. Smith nor Mayor Hylan, would gain by Democratic dissension.

Mr. Hearst in addition, held out the possibility of his support for Gov. Smith for another term as Governor, for United States Senator, and even for the Democratic nomination for President in 1928 in case Mayor Hylan were renominated and party harmony continued.

NEW PRODUCER AT FARMINGTON

Second Coal Creek Well Has Thirty-Barrel Flow

Untouched New Mexico Area to be Exploited

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FARMINGTON (N. M.) May 24. The Coal Creek Oil Company, drilling on Section 20, 29-11, has just completed its No. 2 well at a reported depth of about 600 feet, and getting a flow of about thirty barrels a day, according to Joseph Vigliotti, manager of the company. This production is said to exceed that of the company's No. 1 well. As soon as storage tanks can be erected both holes will be shot with nitroglycerine to increase the production, field reports say.

The Montezuma Syndicate is nearing producing sand in its No. 1 well, which is believed to be on the north slope of the structure. Oil men are anxious to see what it will prove.

The Kay Oil Company, a Denver organization, is starting to haul material for drilling on Sections 19 and 20, Township 29, Range 10, and will be the first to start the drill south of the San Juan River and off the reservation, this year. The Four States Syndicate is still under-reaming in its well northwest of Farmington.

F. D. Gibson, manager of the Gibson Oil Corporation, left for New York the latter part of the week. He expects to be gone about three weeks. He has started well No. 2 in the Bloomfield section and is down about 200 feet.

The refinery of the Mutual Oil Company at this place, which is owned jointly by the Continental Oil Company and the Murfox interests, is having difficulty in holding down the gravity of its gasoline to government standards, because the high grade crude used in refining.

It has raised the standard 2 per cent since it started. It is said this oil will make ideal fuel for aircraft when refined.

Sublease Given on Government Lands in Kern

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 24.—In a sublease of government oil land from C. G. and L. J. Cragin and V. E. Sack, one-sixth interest in two wells and the equipment on the northwest quarter of Section 29, 25-19 has been obtained by Jessie G. Mathews of Los Angeles. The land is in the Devil's Den district.

In the event of a paying strike the Cragin-Sack interests are to receive 7 1-2 per cent royalty up to a production of twenty-five barrels per day, and 12 1-2 per cent of the oil produced if it is more than twenty-five barrels per day. The United States government will receive the regular oil prospecting royalty of 5 per cent.

Government permits to the land first were granted to the Hogan Realty Company of Coalinga, which issued a lease in favor of the Cragins and V. E. Sack.

Dr. Harrison M. Hawkins of Taft has filed with the County Recorder a prospecting permit for 312 acres comprising the south half of Section 17, 25-20, northwest of the Lost Hills, structure. Simultaneously an oil drilling lease was filed by Dr. Hawkins to Joe Crail of Los Angeles, to drill on the land in accordance with government prospecting requirements.

Two New Wells Are Completed at Huntington

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 24. Two wells were completed in this field last week. One was a new hole and the other was a redrill. The new one is the B-32, belonging to the Standard Oil Company. This well is 3450 feet deep, and carries a 6 1-4-inch oil string, with 560 feet of screen casing. The well is yielding oil of 24 deg. gravity, at the rate of 900 barrels per day. The B-32 is located on the west side of Main street, near the high school.

The Petroleum Midway Company completed its Wilson No. 2 as a redrill after it had produced for some months from the shallow zone. Its present depth is 3633 feet, where the oil string carries 450 feet of slotted casing. The well was placed on the pump after swabbing for a time, and is now making 225 barrels per day. This hole is on Toronto street, offsetting the Shell Company's Davenport No. 7.

EL FUERTE OPERATIONS REPRODUCED

Walter H. Murray of Los Angeles has on exhibition a most interesting as well as attractive display of ores from the property of El Fuerte Mining and Smelting Company, operating in Sinaloa, Mex.

A feature of the exhibit that is most appealing to the mining man is a working model of the company's reduction plants and surroundings. This unique and ingenius miniature reproduction of true-to-life operations reflects great credit upon its originator, designer and builder. With the pushing of a button an ore-ladened train, with electrically operated locomotives, begins to move between concentrator and smelter.

Upon its approach to a bridge a whistle sounds and the train slows down. Smoke begins to issue from the stack of the smelter and water flows over the wheel of the hydroelectric generating plant near by. The scene is realistic, even to the fisherman at the deep hole below the power plant.

The reduction works of the company are located fifty-three miles from Fuerte, and four miles from the surveyed line of the Kansas City and Orient Railroad, the early completion of which now seems assured and from which branch lines will run to El Fuerte company's mines and smelter. It is hoped the smelter will be in commission this summer.

SHAFT AT OTSEGO IS DEEPENED

Navajo Company Expects to Strike Pay Streaks With Crosscuts at Depth

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KINGMAN (Ariz.) May 24.—The shaft of the Otsego mine, in the McCracken section, is being carried down toward the 1000 level by the Navajo Lead Mining Company. The locality is noted for its many silver-lead ore stringers, and it is proposed to crosscut at depth, with confidence that a number of pay streaks will be found.

At Cedar the Silver Queen property has been unwatered and development is proceeding under charge of W. P. Carr, with G. W. Gibson as consulting engineer. Deeper exploration is to be made by winze from the floor of a drift from the 140 level.

Frank Pell and associates of Los Angeles, represented by H. H. Donough and organized as the Cashier Mining Company, are pushing development of Wallapai district claims lately purchased from Rose & Ableman. A tunnel is being driven along the vein and it is proposed to crosscut three parallel veins.

The Pay Roll, one of the notable early-day mines of the Chloride district, is to be pumped out and worked by Thomas B. Scott, who owns three other groups of mines in the same locality.

An eighteen-inch ore streak that samples $80 in gold is reported found in deepening the shaft of the old Rosebud mine at Music Mountain. The whole bottom of the shaft is said to be in good milling ore. The property now is in the hands of John Phillips and H. L. Stewart, represented on the ground by James F. Meikle.

New Officials Named to Board of Gold Dust

With the retirement of Dr. Samuel Wilson as president, and W. H. Wise as secretary and treasurer, respectively, from the directorate of the Gold Dust Mines, Inc., of Oatman, Ariz., the governing board was recently reorganized, the new members being H. A. Dunn, president; E. S. Dolan, secretary and treasurer, and A. G. Keating, M. E.

A few days ago the new board sent out a letter to company shareholders, in which it was stated that the company's property had been thoroughly examined and sampled by competent mining engineers with results that were "surprisingly good;" it being demonstrated that in the mine workings 31,500 tons of ore of commercial grade was practically available at an estimated valuation of $521,540.

The letter states that many faces in the mine drifts indicate excellent opportunities for the development of profitable ore, while there are several rises which would seem to hold great promise.

C. D. Pickering, a mining man of wide experience, has been placed in charge of mining operations, and it is possible that arrangements will be made to treat Gold Dust ores at the Tom Reed mill, pending the rehabilitation of the company's own milling plant.

HEAVY OUTPUT IN SAN JOAQUIN

Twenty-two New Producers Are Brought in

Wells Being Drilled in Section Total 100

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 24.—Seven thousand one hundred and six producing oil wells in the San Joaquin Valley yielded 5,738,620 barrels of petroleum during April, according to figures compiled by the American Petroleum Institute. This is a daily average of 190,953 barrels.

The production by fields is as follows: Midway-Sunset, 3,059,766 barrels; Elk Hills, 1,128,796; Coalinga, 649,216; Kern River, 535,619; McKittrick, 175,829; Lost Hills-Belridge, 152,913; Wheeler Ridge, 26,781.

During April there were twenty-two wells completed with an initial daily production of 5430 barrels, 4805 barrels of this coming from the Midway-Sunset fields, while 600 barrels of the daily output sprung from the Elk Hills.

The report shows that thirty-four new rigs were erected in April, and that there were 100 wells in course of drilling, sixty-eight of which are in the Midway-Sunset fields, twelve in the McKittrick district, four in the Kern River area, four in the Elk Hills, seven in Coalinga, four at Wheeler Ridge and one in the Lost Hills.

Six new oil wells were started, in Kern county, last week, nine were tested for water shutoff and six repair jobs were started.

The new wells include three in the Midway district, two of them being the Pacific Oil Company's No. 8 and No. 15, on Sections 29, 31-24, and 19, 31-24, respectively, and the No. 32 well of the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company on Section 4, 32-24.

In the Sunset district the Midway Oil Company spudded in its No. 276-B well on Section 35, 12-24.

The Fremont Oil Corporation has begun drilling its No. 1 well on Section 22, 31-28, in Kern county, while in the Tembior district the No. 2 well of August J. Bomke is being drilled.

The Pacific Oil Company has completed the water test in its No. 24 in the Midway field on Section 21, 31-24. Similar work has been done in its No. 108 well in the Elk Hills on Section 35, 30-24. Other tests include: Washington Petroleum Corporation, No. 4, Section 8, 30-22, McKittrick; Standard Oil Company, No. 58, Section 36, 12-24, Sunset; Midland Oil fields Company, Ltd., No. 15, Section 24, 31-23; Manley & McGinn, No. 12, Section 15, 31-22, Midway; Midway Oil Company, No. 375, Section 35, 12-24, Sunset.

Deepening and redrilling jobs are reported as follows: Chanslor Canfield Midway Oil Company, No. 68 and No. 25, on Sections 8 and 9, 32-23, in the Midway, and No. 7, Section 9, 29-28, Kern River; Pan American Petroleum Company, No. 4-F, Section 2, 31-24, Elk Hills; General Petroleum Corporation, No. 4, Section 32, 31-24, Midway.

OLD TRINITY MINE AGAIN PRODUCING

Bonanza King Property Yielding Good Ore; New Strike Attracts Many

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDDING, May 24.—The old Bonanza King gold property near Carrville, Trinity county, which yielded over $1,250,000 when operated by the Treadwell interests of Alaska, is again producing.

Now controlled by the United Trinity Mines, composed of San Francisco and Los Angeles people, the old property is keeping a twenty-stamp mill busy and yielding good ore. The holdings of the company comprise 2800 acres of mineral land, in addition to extensive timber tracts and water-power rights on the East Fork of the Trinity River.

Discoveries of ore containing gold and platinum in Surprise Valley, ten miles east of Cedarville, are attracting much interest. The deposit was uncovered several months ago by ranchers and sheepmen, who have developed the locations quietly.

Since news of the strike became public many claims have been taken up by California and Nevada mining men. The ledges are fairly large and samples of the ore have returned high values.

Work has been resumed at the Onion placer property near Greenville by G. E. and W. B. Williams of Los Angeles. The property contains extensive gravel deposits and has yielded numerous nuggets, including a magnificent specimen weighing seven pounds, which was uncovered several years ago.

Thirty-Year 6½% Sinking Fund Collateral Trust Gold Bonds Series A

Dated February 2, 1925. Due February 1, 1955. Redeemable at any time on thirty days' notice at 105 and accrued interest, including February 1, 1936, reducing ½ of 1% for each year elapsed from January 31, 1936, up to maturity. Interest payable February 1st and August 1st in New York, without deduction for any normal Federal Income Tax not exceeding 2% which the Corporation or the Trustee may be required or permitted to pay at the source. $500 and $1000 coupon bonds with privilege of registration as to principal. The New York Trust Company, New York, Trustee.

The Corporation agrees to reimburse the resident holders of these Bonds, if requested within sixty days after payment, in the manner provided in the Trust Indenture, for the Connecticut 4 mill tax, Pennsylvania 4 mill tax, Maryland 4½ mill tax, District of Columbia 5 mill tax, California Personal Property tax not exceeding 4 mills per annum, and for the Massachusetts Income Tax on the interest not exceeding 6% of such interest per annum.

Mr. A. E. Fitkin, President of the Corporation, summarizes his letter to us as follows:

National Public Service Corporation, through local operating companies, furnishes electric light and power, gas or water service to communities in States along the Atlantic Seaboard, namely New Jersey, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, and Florida, and, upon completion of this financing, will also serve sections in Virginia, Georgia and Ohio. Its territory in New Jersey includes a portion of the great metropolitan district tributary and suburban to New York. Through these operating companies a total of 145,412 customers will be served, of which 115,962 will be electric, 1,425 gas, 1,425 water and 406 steam. The Corporation will also operate electric railway systems serving an aggregate population of about 660,000.

EARNINGS

*Not including Interest on $1,158,000 Notes of Keystone Public Service Corporation and subsidiaries, which are non-interest bearing up to Jan. 1, 1926.

The above balance available for interest on these bonds, including this issue, is over 3¼ times the annual interest and over 2¾ times the annual interest and sinking fund requirements of bonds to be outstanding

SECURITY

These Bonds, which constitute the only funded debt of the Corporation, are specifically secured by the deposit with the Trustee of all the common stocks of the subsidiary companies owned by National Public Service Corporation, which constitute, in every case, not less than the voting control of such companies. Additional bonds may be issued under conservative restrictions as set forth in the Trust Indenture.

INTEREST AND SINKING FUND

The Trust Indenture provides for equal semiannual payments for interest and sinking fund of $404,[illegible] to the Trustee beginning February 1, 1926, and semi-annually thereafter. These payments, it is estimated, will retire the entire issue on or before maturity.

The proceeds of these Bonds, and the proceeds from the sale of additional shares of preferred and common stock, will be used for the purchase of over 90% of the common stock of the Municipal Service Company and for other corporate purposes.

These Bonds are offered when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to approval of counsel. It is expected that Interim Receipts of the Trustee will be available for delivery on or about June 2, 1925.

DEPTH RECORD IN MIDWAY

Federal and Standard Companies Get Good Producers Below 4800 Feet; More Wells Planned

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MARICOPA, May 24.—By completing two good producers here within the last few days the Federal Drilling Company and the Standard Oil Company have finished the deepest holes ever drilled in the Midway field. The Federal's No. 1 was finished at 4826 feet, and is reported to be yielding 2500 barrels per day, the oil testing about 29 degrees gravity.

The Standard's well, known as Raas No. 1, was completed at 4890 feet, and is doing about 1000 barrels per day, field reports say. This well was placed on production during March, from a shallower sand, where it yielded 250 barrels per day.

Standard's well is located on Section 10, 11-23, a short distance from the well known as Transport-Bush well, and is about midway between two wells which E. G. Lewis started to drill and recently left standing idle. One of the Lewis holes is down 4806 feet. The Federal's well is located on Section 20, 31-24.

OUT OF PROVEN AREA

This well is about one mile north of the property of the Balboa Oil Company and the leases of the North American Consolidated Oil Company and the Pacific Oil Company on the Buena Vista Flats. The wells drilled by Balboa, North American and Pacific have all been producers of fair size, but it remained for Federal to step out of proven territory and bring in a big producer.

The property on which it was drilled consists of 640 acres leased by Federal from Matie G. Jones and S. C. Oldham. Mrs. Jones and Mr. Oldham obtained the property, which is a United States government lease, some years ago from L. L. Leutholtz of Los Angeles, who originally secured the permit.

Much litigation centered around this piece of property between the leaseholders and the government, but the trouble was cleared up several weeks ago, giving the present holders a clear title.

DISTINCTIVE POSITION

In the completion of this well, Matie G. Jones becomes the only woman oil operator in the Kern County fields in addition to being the second woman oil operator ever active in the San Joaquin Valley fields.

The share of Mrs. Jones in the property, upon the completion of the drilling campaign of the Federal, which originally called for only three wells, may assume enormous proportions if the remainder of the holes drilled are anywhere near as productive as the No. 1 well.

Alfred Siemon, Bakersfield attorney, formerly had a small interest in the lease, but sold it a few weeks ago to J. T. McGuire of the Kern Mutual Telephone Company's local office, for a consideration of $7500, it is reported.

JOURNAL HAS RECORD OF SILVER KING STRIKE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) May 24.—In the "fifty-years-ago" column of the Tucson Citizen is found an item that tells of the discovery of the Silver King mine, for years thereafter the outstanding silver bonanza of the Southwest. It is stated, "Florence, county seat of Pinal county, is depopulated on account of the strike, only four persons remaining to take care of the women and children."

DRILLS TO TEST TREND THEORY

Snowdon New Mexico Well is Geological Experiment

Hole Said to Lie Directly in Line of Production

Low Gravity Oil Found in W. C. Wells No. 1

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ARTESIA (N. M.) May 24.—Oil operators in Eastern New Mexico will watch with considerable interest the drilling of the Snowdon-McSweeney No. 1 test well on the McNutt permit on Section 4, 21-30, to which tools are being moved.

Located by V. H. McNutt, Tulsa (Okla.) geologist, who has to his credit the opening of the Russell, Kansas and Artesia (N. M.) oil pools, this hole will either prove or condemn the trend theory in this section of the Southwest, as it is in a direct line between the present Eddy county producing area and the Big Lake field in Reagan county, Texas.

This trend, going in a southeasterly direction, crosses the southeastern part of Lea county, New Mexico, through the center of Winkler county, the northeast corner of Crane county and through the center of Upton county, toward the Big Lake area. The distance in an air line is approximately 150 miles. Many geologists are of the belief that numerous oil pools will be developed in this general direction. Should a major company pipe line be laid from the Artesia field it will in all probability follow this route, field reports indicate.

Known as the Twin Lakes anticline, the McNutt structure is the only real one found so far in this territory, the present production coming from a mesa which offers little for the geologists, although a line of faulting has been worked out. The Twin Lakes anticline, as detailed by Mr. McNutt, comprises Sections 4-3-2-9-10 and part of 11 and 4 in Township 21, south, range 30 east, with the axis crossing the lower part of Section 4 and 10 and through the center of 14 in a southeasterly direction. The location of the well is in the northeast corner of the southwest quarter and is on the eastern flank.

It is believed by several geologists of the major companies that a parallel structure lies to the south of this anticline, the outline being for the most part buried and therefore difficult to define. That production lies in the southeast trend has already been proved by the oil found in the W. C. Wells No. 1 test hole in the center of Section 19, 20-30 at a depth of 1640 feet. This oil is of low gravity, testing 18 deg. and high in lubricating content. No geological work was done previous to the location of this well and many operators are of opinion that a better location could have been selected.

Oatman Strike Hailed by Many as New Bonanza

The recent reported strike in the Aztec claim of the Tom Reed Mining Company, Oatman, Ariz., is causing more than local interest, and especially so as the find was made within a few feet of the United American endline.

In the history of mining in the Tom Reed section the ore makes in big shoots at intervals of about 500 feet along the strike of the vein, which is about thirty feet in width; the rich ore occurrences being on the hanging-wall side.

On the other end of the Aztec claim, a great shoot of ore, in the same vein, was found several years ago, from which the Tom Reed company is said to have taken out $1,250,000 in gold.

The new strike was made by two leasers, Shank and Schmidt, working on the 400-foot level. Here, it is said, a winze was started on a showing of a few inches of ore, which, at ninety feet, has widened to nine feet, the ore assaying from $20 to $134 in gold to the ton. The constant increase in size of the ore body as depth is attained indicates that another bonanza has been encountered which will probably extend into adjoining property.

NEW CYANIDE MILL

Ben Loman Company Treats 100 Tons of Ore Daily

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) May 24.—The cyanide mill of the Ben Loman Company, in Quijotoa district, eighty-five miles west of Tucson, is handling 100 tons of ore a day. The plant, built by Roy & Titcomb of Nogales at a cost of $125,000, was completed a few weeks ago. Most of the value is in free gold. The property is the old McKay mine, located more than forty years ago.

Practical assistance is being given small mine owners by the new Tucson Chamber of Mines, which has just shipped to El Paso its first carload of consolidated ores. Advances of 50 per cent of value have been made the owners.

INGLEWOOD FORGING AHEAD

Four New Wells, One of 3300 Barrels Daily, Makes Field Supremacy Rival of Rosecrans

Four new wells of unusual merit from a production standpoint, completed within as many days, have lifted the Inglewood field, which is the lusty infant of the Los Angeles Basin, to the point where it is now an important rival of the Rosecrans district.

One of the recent Inglewood completions—the Cone No. 6, belonging to the Petroleum Securities Company—is yielding 3300 barrels a day. Two of the newer wells, owned by the Standard Oil Company, are each doing 2500 barrels a day. The Cone, which is about ten days old, increased its output from 2500 to 3300 barrels a day, within a week.

Inglewood now has about thirty-three wells on the production list, and their production on Saturday was estimated as being approximately 25,000 barrels, with the expectation that with several new completions during the coming week, the field's output by June 1 may be 30,000 barrels daily.

The Rosecrans field has forty-seven wells on the active list, and they are reported to be producing approximately 25,000 barrels a day. This is somewhat more than is shown in the table of average production for the week, and is based upon new wells not included in the weekly average.

The Shell Company has just completed its first well at Inglewood on its Rindge lease, getting about 2500 barrels a day. A few days ago the Standard Oil Company completed its Los Angeles Investment No. 1-8 and No. 1-9, getting about 1300 barrels a day from each, both of these wells being offsets to the Rindge No. 1.

The peculiar feature of the three completions of the Shell and Standard is that each well is making oil about 23 deg. gravity, while all the other wells in the field average only a little more than 20 deg. gravity.

This phenomenon has not been satisfactorily explained by geologists, as the depth of all three wells is approximately the same as the other large producers of the field, and they apparently are drawing their oil from the same zone.

Another completion during the week was the Associated Oil Company's Vickers No. 5, which came in at about 900 barrels per day. This company has four other wells which probably will be in before the end of the present week, all of them in the most productive part of the field.

Oil Output Gets Big Boost From Two New Fields

The Rosecrans and Inglewood oil fields added 15,000 barrels of daily production to the output of California's petroleum pools last week. Inglewood finished four wells with a combined daily output of 8400 barrels, while Rosecrans completed three wells with a combined daily output of 6600 barrels.

The Maricopa Flats added about 3500 barrels per day, as a result of two completions, and Huntington Beach brought in two wells yielding together nearly 1000 barrels. Two fields in New Mexico, which are holding the attention of many California companies, each completed a good high-gravity well. The completions for the week were reported as follows:

INGLEWOOD

ROSECRANS

Barnsdall Oil Company, Rosecrans No. 4, 1800 barrels at 4300 feet.
E. E. Combs, No. 2, 1200 barrels at about 4423 feet.

HUNTINGTON BEACH

KERN RIVER

Forrest Oil Company, No. 18, 100 barrels at 1300 feet.

MARICOPA FLATS

Standard Oil Company, Bass No. 1, 1000 barrels at 4200 feet.

SAN JUAN BASIN, NEW MEXICO

EDDY COUNTY, NEW MEXICO

MINE CLAIMS SOLD

Twelve in Walker, Ariz., Area Bring $38,000

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) March 24.—Twelve mining claims in Walker district have been sold for $38,000, by the Curran Mines, Inc., to the Sheldon Mining Company.

Antimony, now valued as a hardening agent in automobile tires, has been found in large quantity near Canyon Station by George Potter, with whom is associated John E. Russell of Prescott. Ore from a six-inch seam is said to average 63 per cent antimony and nine ounces of silver.

ANGELENO RIG GOES TO KERN AREA

New Field on West Front of River Invaded for Active Drilling Test

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 24.—Invasion of the new area along west front of the Kern River oil fields by George W. Getty of Los Angeles, with an active drilling campaign, is indicated by the shipment of a large amount of drilling equipment from the Los Angeles Basin.

Getty has spotted a location on the Fred Tegeler lease on the southeast quarter of Section 22, 28-27, and the rig builders started work there Friday. The Tegeler lease was obtained through Leslie Robinson. Getty has also leased the southwest quarter, belonging to the Robinson interests. It is said that immediate drilling will be required on this tract.

The Getty interests have started work on a government permit on Section 28, 27-27, according to reports. A large portable rig was sent up from Long Beach to do the work.

In a quiet leasing campaign the Getty interests acquired a number of choice leases along the west front, including government permits on Sections 6, 14 and 22, 28-27, and Section 32, 27-27.

The Pan American Petroleum Company is drilling its first well on the northwest quarter of Section 22, and is reported to be in oil sand.

The Standard has two offset wells started, one on Section 21, and the other on Section 15.

The Mariand is finishing its fourth well on the Cauley lease, on Section 16, 28-27, and has the rig up for its No. 32.

The Cauley No. 1 shows consistent production, and is the center of operating activities of the Pan American and Standard oil companies.

Several outfits are preparing to carry on drilling operations in the Shale Hills district, northwest of the Belridge oil fields. Tests will be made on Section 1, 27-18, by G. T. Smoot and his associates, who have taken a 160-acre lease on the Sanborn holdings. The contract for drilling has been let to G. A. Lane.

Harris and Waterman have taken over the lease of the Big Eight Oil Company, and have shut off the water at 765 feet, according to reports.

Some activity is also starting in the township just to the north, where test wells will be put down in hopes of an oil strike, according to reports.

OIL EXPORTS CONTINUE AT HEAVY RATE

Shipments for Week From Harbor More Than Million and Half Barrels

Southern California continues to export more than 1,500,000 barrels of petroleum and its refined products from Los Angeles Harbor each week in the year. Pacific domestic trade absorbs more than half the weekly shipments, as a rule, but foreign ports and the Atlantic seaboard continue to make heavy demands on California oil production.

Last week's petroleum shipments from this port amounted to twenty-five tank steamer loads, and totaled 1,596,422 barrels. Considerable of this was Navy oil for islands in the Pacific. Nearly 150,000 barrels of Los Angeles gasoline went to Atlantic foreign trade.

The shipments were as follows:

PACIFIC DOMESTIC

Derocha to Martinez with 77,937 barrels of crude for Union Oil Company.
Warwick to Martinez with 66,480 barrels of gasoline for Union Oil Company.
Richmond to Richmond with 64,111 barrels of crude oil for Standard Oil Company.
La Purisima to San Diego with 17,288 barrels of gasoline for Union Oil Company.
W. S. Miller to Richmond with 74,439 barrels of fuel oil for standard Oil Company.
Los Alamos to Seattle with 36,137 barrels of gasoline for General Petroleum Corporation.
D. G. Scofield to Richmond with 77,106 barrels crude oil for Standard Oil Company.
W. S. Miller to Richmond with 74,439 barrels crude oil for Standard Oil Company.
La Purisima to Seattle with 25,000 barrels of gasoline for Union Oil Company.
El Segundo to Point Wells with 46,596 barrels of fuel oil for Standard Oil Company.
Challenge to Orient with 73,648 barrels of crude oil for Union Oil Company.
Richmond to San Diego with 64,189 barrels of fuel oil for Standard Oil Company.
Cathwood to Martinez with 77,000 barrels of crude oil for Union Oil Company.
Frank H. Buck to Portland with 48,000 barrels of fuel oil for Associated Oil Company.

PACIFIC FOREIGN

Lahaz to Tsurumi with 83,470 barrels of fuel oil for General Petroleum Corporation.
Sapelo to Honolulu with 45,035 barrels of fuel oil for U. S. Navy.
Ramapo to Honolulu with 74,090 barrels of fuel oil for U. S. Navy.

ATLANTIC DOMESTIC

W. H. Libby to Baton Rouge with 90,000 barrels of gasoline for Standard Oil Company.
Beaconia to Batavia with 74,852 barrels of gasoline for Texas Oil Company.
La Brea to Baton Rouge with 73,715 barrels of gasoline for Standard Oil Company.

ATLANTIC FOREIGN

LINDLEY IS ASSISTANT AT CLIFTON SMELTER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLIFTON (Ariz.) May 24.—J. Gary Lindley, connected with the Calumet and Arizona Company at Douglas since 1912, latterly serving as assistant metallurgist, has resigned to become assistant superintendent of the Phelps-Dodge smelter at Clifton.

Holbrook Well Reaming Job is Completed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HOLBROOK (Ariz.) May 24.—Reaming has been finished at the Taylor-Fuller oil well, where the bit is 4100 feet deep in hard sandstone, through which considerable gas is reported to be coming. The bore now is five and three-sixteenths inches.

The Holbrook well is being deepened steadily and now is down about 3700 feet. At the Adamana well, trouble has been experienced in handling casing. When the casing has been pulled, the water will be shut off and the hole cemented.

Burma has eighteen farm co-operative societies.

THIS STOCK IS LISTED ON THE CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE

The following information is summarized by Mr. Victor Emanuel, Vice-President, from a letter to us and from auditors' and appraisers' reports and other reliable sources:

BUSINESS: National Electric Power Company owns more than 98% of the Common Stock of Cumberland County Power & Light Company and the entire Common stock (except directors' qualifying shares) of Northwestern Public Service Company, which together serve with electric light and power a population estimated at 310,000, the territories embracing a total of 123 communities. Gas is manufactured and distributed in five of the communities served, and the street railway system in and about Portland is operated under lease expiring 2011.

The territories served by the operating companies include the important industrial, shipping and manufacturing district within a radius of 40 miles of and including Portland, Maine, the largest city in the State; a rich agricultural district in the eastern half of South Dakota, and also the important cities of North Platte and Columbus, Nebraska.

The operating subsidiaries are believed to be, respectively, the largest electric light and power companies in the States of Maine and South Dakota, and have a normal installed generating capacity of 66,949 kva. of which 22,750 kva. is hydro-electric.

ASSETS: The reproduction cost new, less accrued depreciation, of the properties of these Companies applicable to this 7% Cumulative Preferred Stock, after deducting all prior obligations, based on appraisals by independent public utility engineers and appraisers, is very largely in excess of the total amount of this Preferred Stock now outstanding. The Cumulative Preferred Stock is followed by 10,000 shares of 7% Non-Cumulative Preferred Stock and 150,000 shares of Common Stock.

EARNINGS: For the twelve months ended December 31, 1924, consolidated earnings of the above subsidiaries (including earnings of leased properties) were as follows:

Gross Earnings	$5,420,925
Operating Expenses (including maintenance and depreciation computed at 12½% of gross earnings, amortization of discount of funded debt, and all taxes, including Federal Income Tax..	3,515,055
Net Earnings	$1,905,870
Balance of Net Earnings applicable to securities of subsidiary companies owned by National Electric Power Company, after deduction of interest charges on funded debt and dividends on preferred stocks of subsidiary companies, and net earnings applicable to common stocks of subsidiary companies held by the public..	848,447
Annual interest charges on National Electric Power Company 6% Secured Gold Bonds.....	225,000
Balance	$ 623,447
Annual dividend requirements on 7% Cumulative Preferred stock (this issue)	105,000

The balance of net earnings as shown above, applicable to the Preferred stock, is thus equal to 5.93 times annual dividend requirements on all outstanding 7% Cumulative Preferred Stock.

MANAGEMENT: The local management of the operating subsidiaries continues in the hands of the men who have been responsible for the successful development of these properties, while their general operation is under the supervision of Albert Emanuel Co., Inc., New York, whose successful and efficient management of important public utility companies has been demonstrated over a long period of years.

All legal details in connection with this issue have been passed upon and approved by Messrs. Seibert & Riggs, New York, and by Messrs. Verrill, Hale, Booth & Ives, Portland, Me. All properties have been reported upon by Messrs. Day & Zimmermann, Inc., Engineers, Philadelphia. The books and accounts of the Company and its subsidiaries will be audited annually by Messrs. Arthur Young & Co., New York.

RECORD BROKEN FOR ROSECRANS

Union Completes Largest Well in Field

New Producer's Daily Flow 3000 Barrels

Two Others Swell Output in Week 1800 Each

Rosecrans broke its own record for the largest single well during the past week, and added a couple of other wells to swell its daily production above any previous daily record.

The Union Oil Company's Howard Park No. 10 was the record-breaking well, making 3000 barrels' initial production. The Barnsdall Oil Company's Rosecrans No. 3, at 1800 barrels, and the E. E. Combs No. 2 at 1800 barrels, were the other producers completed last week.

Principal interest in Rosecrans at present has returned to the original producing area around the Superior Oil Company's Maxwell lease, which is giving indications of productivity equal to the Athens district to the northwest. The Superior is preparing to put down two new wells on its Maxwell lease immediately, and may drill others. Maxwell No. 5 and No. 8 are the two new drilling projects, both of which are designed to go to the zone found by the Wanka No. 2, which is doing better than 2000 barrels a day.

The Superior is reported to have picked up a promising oil sand in its Maxwell No. 2 which is down about 5700 feet. The Maxwell No. ably deeper than the Wanka No. 2 zone, and corresponds to showings found in the Union Oil Company's Gordon well at about 5900 feet, and the Union's Zins well on the north side of the structure at about 5700 feet. The Moxwell No. 2 is better located than either of the Union wells, and in spite of the depth may develop a good well. The Van Nuys No. 1 was abandoned last week at 4997 feet.

E. J. Miley is preparing to deepen his wells on the Marland Oil Company's land, and the Barnsdall Oil Company is putting down another well offsetting the Associated-Higgins lease. The Associated is also drilling another well on the Higgins lease, and it is understood the Marine Corporation and Petroleum Midway company also are preparing to start new wells. All of this activity is the result of the Associated's unexpected production in Wanka No. 2.

Deep Test Well at Summerland Holds Interest

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, May 24. Oil development in this vicinity has taken on fresh impetus with the spudding in of the first deep test well in the Summerland field and the speeding up of the drill in the Channel Oil Company's well in the city limits of La Mesa.

The Summerland venture is being financed by George F. Becker, veteran operator of the field where shallow wells in and near the ocean have been producing since 1892. Mr. Becker purchased the outfit abandoned by the La Mesa Oil Company a year ago and intends to run the hole to a depth of 5000 feet if necessary to get deep production. He has obtained deeds and leases to a vast amount of surrounding territory and will virtually control the field if deep oil is found.

The Channel Oil Company has completed running in 3043 feet of eight-inch casing and has resumed drilling after an idle period of sixty days. Heavy gas pressure was found in this hole for a distance of about 2000 feet, reports say. The project is financed by Santa Barbara citizens.

Standard Will Drill New Test Near Paulerino

That the oil companies are hot on the trail of a new oil structure in Orange county, and may shortly make an important strike there is indicated by the fact that the Standard Oil Company of California, which is down 3300 feet in a wildcat well in the Paulerino district, is building rig for a new test in that general area.

This well will be drilled on a 650-acre lease in what is known as the Santa Ana Garden district, three miles north of the Paulerino well, a half west of the Greenville road, and 1500 feet north of Huntington Beach Boulevard. Operators in Los Angeles admit that the Standard is following a promising lead and that the Gulf Oil Company, which is drilling its Gale No. 1 in that vicinity, has more than a fair chance to get oil.

DRILLING SHOWS ORE

Greenback Company to Develop Pinal Grande Group

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CASA GRANDE (Ariz.) May 24. A compressor and hoist have been purchased by Paul Hinshaw and J. B. Sumpter of the Greenback Mining Company for the Pinal Grande group of mines, on the desert, southwest of Casa Grande. The company owns sixty-four claims, with much development of copper ore made by means of drilling.

Ore shipments have been made from the Orizaba and Silver Reef properties, the latter sending siliceous ores to the Hayden smelter. A high-grade paystreak is reported cut in the Christmas Gift mine, now being worked by Charles Eastman, who states that the vein is one lost in development many years ago.

COMPLETE ASPHALTUM MINE

Newport Beach Petroleum Prospectors Tunnel Into Deep Pool; Oil Interest in Vicinity at High Pitch

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

Spectacular in almost every phase, the petroleum business of Southern California has just sprung its biggest surprise—an asphaltum mine, located at Newport Beach. This seaside city has been budding into an oil town for about two years, and finally appears to be coming into its own after having developed heavy and light petroleum and asphaltum.

In addition to being a potential petroleum district of considerable importance, Newport Beach enjoys the distinction of having what oil operators say is the only oil mine in the world.

The mine was developed by the Newport Petroleum Company after the Fulkerson interests, which first found oil there, experienced difficulty in getting the sticky asphaltum out of the holes that were drilled. Steam coils were lowered into the wells to thaw out the heavy stuff, but this plan did not work as well as the operators thought it would, and finally Tom Sharkey, an oil well driller in the employ of the Newport Petroleum Company, undertook to run a mine shaft down to the asphaltum deposit.

Two weeks ago he hit the pool after putting down a 490-foot shaft, which reached a vertical depth of 345 feet. The lower end of his shaft is only ten feet from one of the old oil wells, and a few days ago a gas blowout caused him to put workmen into the shaft for the purpose of bridging it all in with 12x12 timbers.

At the bottom of the shaft a force of miners is creating a workroom thirty by fifty feet, in which pumps will be installed to force the heavy oil to the surface, where it will be conveyed to a refinery that will take out the lubricants and turn the asphaltum over to road builders. It is reported that at the bottom of the mine shaft there is a pool of asphaltum which is from ten to forty feet deep.

A half-dozen oil leases, covering approximately 200 acres north and east of Costa Mesa, have extended the activities of some of the oil companies as far as the New Hope district. These leases, it is said, were secured by the Standard Oil Company and Barnett Rosenburg. The Standard is said to have leased eighty acres just south of the New Hope school and another eighty in the Fairview section. This property belongs to George E. Gothard, Helen M. C. Monaha and H. K. Hanson of New Hope and William Devenney of John E. Hearn of Costa Mesa.

The assertion is made by some geologists that the Costa Mesa area is one end of an anticline which leads across the valley to Huntington Beach, paralleling that field. A reported survey indicating this assertion was made recently by one of the big oil companies of Los Angeles. The formation is said to run northwest and southeast.

The survey is said to have started from the Interstate Oil Company's Norris No. 1 well on the west edge of the bluff at Costa Mesa, where light oil has been found. Reports from this well show that the water shutoff has not been completed.

The well of the Rosenburg Company, adjacent to Interstate No. 2, is still drilling, with the expectation that it may go on, production within the next two weeks. The water trouble in Interstate No. 2 was not serious. The well has been steadily pumping for more than a week.

WENDEN WILL SINK DOUBLE MINE SHAFT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SALOME (Ariz.) May 24.—The directors of the Wenden Copper Company have authorized the sinking of a 1000-foot, two-compartment shaft, from which to drift under ore bodies developed already. The company is reported out of debt.

HUNDRED BARRELS IN FORMAX WELL YIELD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 24.—The Formax Oil Company has placed its No. 18 well on Section No. 36, 32-23 on production with an initial output of 100 barrels daily from a depth of 1300 feet. It is said that 500 feet of oil sand was found.

TWO NEW EDDY PRODUCERS

Largest Yield So Far in New Mexico Field Feature of Completion Work During Week

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ARTESIA (N. M.) May 24.—Two good producers and two tests that are thought to be dry but which have not been abandoned are features of oil activity in the Eddy county field last week. Shot with 280 quarts of nitro between 1989 and 2050 feet the Maljamar Oil Company's No. 2 well came in as the largest producer in the field.

After following a stream of oil through the eight-inch casing for thirty minutes the well tapered off because of lack of gas pressure. After running in the casing and swabbing for four hours the well started flowing and made 900 barrels in the first twenty-four hours. It is expected to be a 500-barrel producer when completed.

Closely following the completion of this well, the Flynn-Welch & Yates interests brought in their No. 14, which offsets the Maljamar well 500 feet to the east, being located in the S.W. corner of the N.E. one-fourth of Section 28, 18-28. From the amount of sand picked up and the oil being made this well should be as large as its neighbor.

Wells like these pay for themselves in this field in two weeks' time. Many small independent operators, a number of whom are from California and Texas, are expected to be big winners here because the majority of the development work so far has been carried on by the small operators the major producers trying the country to the south and southeast.

The two tests which are expected to be abandoned are Simpson No. 1 of Flynn-Welch & Yates, dry at 2580 feet, and the No. 1 of the Seven Rivers Oil Company, located on Section 29, 18-28. Both of these holes appear to be west of the large production.

To the east the D. C. Cheesman No. 1 has picked up gas at 2077 feet, with a showing of oil. Goodale's California No. 1 continues to make some oil. To the south of these wells the Ohio Oil Company's No. 1 on Section 1, 18-28, is drilling close to 2400 feet.

A number of completions are looked for during the next few days, most of these being wells in the proven area. Fishing jobs and boiler trouble have caused considerable delay of late.

As a result of oil, this city is growing rapidly, many new business houses and dwellings being under construction.

AJO WILL DRILL

Claims Near New Cornelia Will be Bored for Sulphides

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AJO (Ariz.) May 24.—Diamond drilling is to be started soon on twenty-one claims of the Ajo Extension Copper Company's property, three and a half miles south of the New Cornelia workings.

Twenty-five pits on two claims are said to show ore running from 1½ to 6 per cent copper, in carbonate form, suited for leaching. By drilling it is expected to demonstrate the presence of sulphides at depth. The formation is considered similar to that of the New Cornelia property and susceptible to steam shoveling.

OKLAHOMA GAS RATES ARE ISSUE

Companies Will Appeal Corporation Commission Ruling on Valuations

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) May 24.—Whether the estimated quantity of gas beneath the surface of a tract of land or an agreed figure representing the market value of the land is the correct basis for arriving at a rate at which gas should be sold probably will be one of the questions passed upon when three United States district judges come to Oklahoma soon to sit in three cases that have been appealed from the decisions of the Oklahoma Corporation Commission.

The appealing concerns are the Mullendore Gas Company of Stillwater, the American Indian Oil & Gas Company of Poteau and the Pressure Oil & Gas Company of Chelsea. Each is asking for an increase in gas rates over rates fixed by the Corporation Commission and each involves the question of whether the rates now charged are confiscatory.

The Oklahoma Supreme Court has held that the market value of leases should govern in arriving at basic valuations on which to establish rates. The Supreme Court of West Virginia recently rendered a like decision. The American Indian Oil & Gas Company is said to have increased the value of its leases from $17,000 to $150,000, the former figure representing the market value of the surface and the latter the value of the gas beneath the surface. The commission fixed their value at $27,000.

NEW TAFT ACTIVITY

Drilling Campaign on Editors' Land Now in Prospect

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAFT, May 24.—The district about a mile west of Taft is now the scene of considerable activity. Thirty acres held by the Editors' Petroleum Company is now held under option by Los Angeles capitalists, and, it is reported, that a drilling campaign may be started there soon. The property adjoins a producing area where good wells are found at shallow depth.

A contract has been awarded for drilling the Phillips well on Section No. 4, 32-23. This will be the first hole to go down in this district for four years.

BOWIE WELL DEEPENED

Drilling Operations of Copening Syndicate Proceeding

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BOWIE (Ariz.) May 24.—Drilling in the Bowie well of the Copening syndicate is down about 1200 feet and is producing without trouble. Only about three weeks will be needed to reach 2000 feet of depth, according to the management. At 800 feet, oil and gas in small quantity are said to have been passed.

A well is to be started about July 1, two and a half miles southeast of Willcox, where oil lately was found floating on the water in the Southern Pacific water tanks.

COMPANY FORMED TO WORK GOLD DEPOSIT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUMA (Ariz.) May 24.—The St. Francis Mining Company has been incorporated by J. M. and Henry Balsz and James T., Edward T., and F. W. Hodges, pioneer Yuma residents, to work a great gold deposit owned by them in Magdalena district, Sonora. Ore to the value of $32,000,000 is declared to have been blocked out by drill holes and workings, with a showing of general value between $4 and $5 a ton. San Francisco capital has been enlisted. The ore showing is such that it is proposed to install a large concentrating mill at an early date.

CHIEF TOURS FORESTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) May 24.—Col. W. B. Greeley, chief of the United States Forest Service, is making a two weeks' investigation of forest and grazing conditions in Northern Arizona. He has held a number of hearings at widely separated points and is ending his tour here.

The second No. 1 is of brownish color; it is a mixture of lime, iron and magnesium carbonates; zinc reaction slight. Traces of labradorite in the mass. No. 2 is of hornblende, gneiss, pyroxene, iron and ilmenite. No. 3 is of jasper, in part. Limonite and titaniferous iron in streaks; zinc reaction.

Magnesium Silicate

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Q.: I am sending you a sample or rock that was taken out of a hole being drilled for oil in the Santa Monica Mountains and another rock from Texas, which, it is claimed, is an indicator for the gas-Helium. How can one know when the named gas occurs?

C. F. S.

A.: But one sample was received from you, and it is a black-ish magnesium silicate mixed with pyroxene and hornblende. Tourmaline (the common schorl variety) present.

Helium was first observed in the sun with the aid of the spectroscope. Radium is formed probably by the decomposition of uranium, and changes spontaneously into helium, helium itself being the decomposition of radium and subject to further decomposition, each change corresponding to the production of a new element.

Helium occurs in the native oils of Texas and elsewhere.

Borax Not Present

GLENDALE, May 13.—Q.: What minerals does No. 1 sample contain; any borax? The specimen was found fifty miles east of Needles, Cal. No. 2 is from near the same locality as No. 1; does it carry any gold?

B.

A.: Sample No. 1 is an altered "burnt up" and impure jasper, No. 2 is quartzitic rock; microscopic pyrite and iron oxides present. Free gold not found in the specimen.

Mother: Mary, aren't you getting too big to play with boys?
Mary: No, mother. The bigger I get the better I like 'em.—[Augusta Globe.

SHEFFIELD IS SILENT AS TO FRICTION

Ambassador to Mexico, in Sailing for New York, Reaffirms Faith in Calles

BY JACK STARR-HUNT

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VERA CRUZ, May 24. — Ambassador Sheffield arrived here today to sail for New York and declined to comment on rumors that there are differences of opinion between himself and the Mexican Foreign Office. The Ambassador, accompanied by Mrs. Sheffield and H. Dorsey Newson, second secretary of the Embassy, embarked on the steamer Monterey.

Mr. Sheffield reaffirmed his faith in President Calles and reiterated previous statements that the relations of Mexico and the United States are entirely friendly and cordial.

When Ambassador Sheffield accepted his post in Mexico City, according to information which appears reliable, he was given virtual carte blanche and extraordinary powers in handling the Mexican situation. In view of the fact that there exist natural differences of opinion between the Ambassador and President Calles on certain problems of economics and principles of government, and American interests have suffered seriously from the agrarian and labor policies it is understood the opportunity of this trip in behalf of his health is welcomed by the Ambassador, and that he intends to lay the whole situation before President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg. He will be a guest at the White House for three days.

No doubt exists as to his faith in President Calles, but the Federal government's inability in many cases to enforce action on State governments has resulted, it is said, in failure of some American interests to obtain justice, and this appears to have tried the Ambassador's patience.

Natividad Mine Area Soon Will Yield Ore Again

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OAXACA (Mex.) May 24.—The Natividad mines, situated in the Ixtlan district, which were taken over last January by the Penoles Mining Co., soon will be in shape for actual mining.

The Girault tunnel, out of commission for several years, due to several cave-ins, has been cleaned out, giving access to the principal levels which are now being shaped for effective or extraction.

The canal of the hydroelectric power plant was completely out of service. It has been reconstructed as have been the transmission lines and power plant.

The hoist in the Girault shaft has been repaired and pumps installed for unwatering the ninetieth level, where large ore bodies exist. All machinery in and out of the mines has been repaired or replaced by new. Within a few weeks everything will be in readiness for general operations.

Two Girls, Three Men Are Seized in Taxi Hold-ups

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 24.—Suspected of more than a score of taxicab robberies, twelve of which they have confessed, three men and two girls were arrested early today as they were speeding away from the scene of their latest robbery in a taxicab.

The quintet was noted by a police flivver squad when the taxi, traveling at forty-five miles an hour, passed them with lights out. The police gave chase and arrested the occupants of the car. They are: Katherine Zaramba, 19 years of age; Mary Andrews, 17, a ward of the Juvenile Court, known in the underworld as "Bandhouse Mary;" Fritz Ziegler, a taxi chauffeur; Frank Yanke, 23, and Michael Kantowski.

Arthur Dueger, a chauffeur for a taxicab company, was the victim of the last hold-up. After taking $110, and seizing his cab, the two girls, with Yanke and Kantowski, were on their way to join Ziegler when they were arrested.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

Por el Profesor R. Guerrero

DEL DEPARTAMENTO ESPANOL DE "THE TIMES"

Número 330

En la segunda línea del tercer párrafo de la Plática 329, dice, "para que los examinasen ni LO eran", en vez de "para que los examinasen si LO eran".

El señor Bello termina como sigue sus observaciones sobre el uso del sustantivo neutro "lo":

Y si un adverbio puede resolverse en un complemento que equivalga a un adjetivo, podrá reproducirse de la misma manera (con "lo"): "Amadís fue el norte, el lucero, el sol de los valientes . . . Siendo pues esto así, como LO es, el caballero andante que más le imitare, estará más cerca de alcanzar la perfección de la caballería" (Cervantes): "lo es" quiere decir "es así", "es de este modo", "es tal"; predicado de "esto", sujeto tácito del verbo "es".

No se debe reproducir como predicado un nombre que sólo se halla envuelto en otra palabra: "Desistióse por entonces del ataque de Jesús-María; pero LO fueron otros puntos de importancia" (el duque de Rivas): "lo" quiere decir "atacados", envuelto, escondido, por decirlo así, en "ataque". Por la misma razón me parecería algo violenta esta frase: "No se pudieron desembarcar las mercaderías, pero LO fue la gente", dando a "lo" el valor de "desembarcada", envuelto en "desembarcar". En los escritores de ahora dos siglos, lejos de evitar estas reproducciones viciosas, se buscaban y se hacía gala de ellas, representando con el "lo" adjetivos que era preciso desentrañar de otras palabras en que estaban envueltos.

Creo, agrega el señor Bello, que ni aun el participio sustantivado puede reproducirse como predicado, y que no sería correcto, "Cuando se hubo desembarcado la gente LO fueron las mercaderías".

En el segundo párrafo del artículo de Zárraga (Plática 324), encontramos esta frase: "Triunfan así los jóvenes, y todo lo llenan de juventud" (Thus the young triumph, and fill everything with youth). Sírvanse mis lectores teniendo presente lo dicho en la Plática 329 y la primera parte de la 330, determinar las funciones gramaticales que desempeña en la citada frase el neutro "lo", y si puede éste reemplazarse en ella por "le", o suprimirse. Si tuvieron duda sobre este punto, encarézcolos lo consulten con su maestro de español.

El tercer párrafo del artículo de Zárraga comienza por esta interrogación: "¿Y de qué mejor modo rendirle ese culto SINO ofendándole la más escrupulosa y esmerada educación?" He subrayado la conjunción "sino", porque el articulista la ha empleado incorrectamente en esta frase. Debe reemplazarse por la conjunción comparativa "que", pues ésta es la que invariablemente sigue al comparativo "mejor": "Tu libro es mejor QUE el mío"; "Mejor es el estilo de Terencio QUE el de Plauto". Para persuadirnos que la cláusula de Zárraga pide la conjunción "que", y no la conjunción "sino", basta poner de manifiesto la negación implícita que se encierra en esa clase de interrogaciones. La que nos ocupa equivale a esta frase negativa: "Para rendirle ese culto no hay modo mejor QUE ofendarle, etc.", donde "sino" estaría fuera de lugar.

Si Zárraga hubiera suprimido el comparativo "mejor", podría haber empleado "sino" con toda corrección: "¿Y de qué modo rendirle ese culto SINO ofrendándole, etc.?" Para justificar el empleo de "sino" en la frase así modificada, recordaré en la Plática siguiente los usos de esa conjunción.

La conjunción adversativa "sino", nos dice el diccionario de la Academia, sirve para contraponer a un concepto negativo otro afirmativo: "No lo hizo Juan SINO Pedro"; "No es azul SINO verde".

Lo más ordinario, dice Bello, es que a "sino" le preceda "no" u otra palabra negativa: "No voy al paseo SINO al teatro"; "No le tientan las riquezas, SINO las distinciones y honores"; "No corre SINO vuela". Vemos en estos ejemplos elementos análogos ligados por "sino": ya sujetos ("riquezas", "distinciones y honores"), ya complementos ("al paseo", "al teatro"), ya verbos ("corre", "vuela"). Mas a veces se calla el primero de los elementos ligados, porque lo sugiere fácilmente el sentido: "No hacía SINO mirarle y remirarle" (Cervantes): "nada sino". Así, "no quiero sino" es "no quiero nada, no quiero otra cosa sino". De la misma manera, "No se oía SINO el rumor de las hojas": "nada u otra cosa sino". "No se vio el sol SINO entre nubes": "de modo alguno, sino". Mas aquí se debe recordar que si se ligan con esta conjunción dos sujetos, y se calla el primero, concierta el verbo necesariamente con el segundo: "No se OIA sino EL RUMOR de las hojas"; "No se OIAN sino LAMENTOS".

En las oraciones interrogativas de negación implícita es naturalísimo el uso de "sino": "¿Qué puede esperar SINO la muerte?"; "¿Quién hubo de ser SINO su propio hijo?"; "¿Dónde había de hallar seguridad SINO entre los suyos?". Este uso no se diferencia del anterior, porque en el sentido de negación implícita, "qué" significa "nada"; "quién", "nadie"; "dónde", "en ninguna parte", etc. Y también puede ocurrir en él la elipsis del primer elemento ligado: "¿Hízole por ventura SINO beneficios?", que es como si quitada la interrogación se dijese, "No le hizo sino beneficios"; "otra cosa sino".

"Sino", agrega Bello, toma a veces la significación de "menos" o "excepto": "Todos aprovechan SINO yo"; "Respondiéronle que todas escuchaban SINO su señora, que quedaba durmiendo" (Cervantes): "Tras todos éstos venía un hombre de muy buen parecer, SINO QUE al mirar metía el un ojo en el otro" (Cervantes). El señor de la Peña cita estos otros dos ejemplos: "Todos hablaron SINO tus Pedro"; "Apartáronse todos, SINO fueron el mayordomo, maestresala y secretario" ("Quijote").

Cumple decir que en la conversación ordinaria moderna reemplazaríamos el "sino" o el "sino que, sino fueron" de los ejemplos del párrafo anterior, por "menos" o "excepto": "Todos aprovechan MENOS yo"; "Respondiéronle que todas escuchaban EXCEPTO su señora, que estaba durmiendo"; "Apartáronse todos, MENOS (SALVO) el mayordomo, maestresala y secretario", etc.

"Sino que", dice Bello, toma también a veces el sentido de "pero": "Paso, señor" (dice una dama a un caballero que alababa su canto): "a quien habrá oído las voces célebres que hay en esta gran ciudad, habrále parecido la mía muy mal; SINO QUE es de pechos nobles favorecer humildades y darles mayor honor que tienen méritos" (Castillo Solórzano). Aquí podría sustituirse "pero"; a "sino que".

Agrega el citado ilustre gramático que no se debe confundir, como lo ha hecho Garcés, la conjunción "sino" con la frase "si no", que se compone del adverbio relativo y condicional "si" y del adverbio negativo "no", y en que cada uno de esos elementos conserva su significado propio y figura como palabra distinta: "Díjole que se rindiese; SI NO, que le cortaría la cabeza" (Cervantes); "Ha sido ventura el hallaros; SI NO para dar remedio a vuestros males, a lo menos para daries consejo" (el mismo). Es facilísimo distinguir el "sino" del "si no", ya por el acento agudo con que en éste debe pronunciarse el "no", ya porque entre los dos elementos de que éste consta, se puede intercalar otra palabra o frase ("si acaso no", "si ya no"); todo al contrario de lo que sucede en el uso moderno de la conjunción "sino": "Estas quimeras, estas invenciones—Tuyas, te han de salir al rostro un día,—SI más NO te mesuras y compones" (Cervantes); "El se guardará bien de eso, SI ya NO quiere hacer el más desastrado fin que padre hizo en el mundo". (el mismo).

CUPID BUSY IN STAFF OF UNIVERSITY

Americans in Chinese College Pair Off; Two Engagements Announced

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PEKING (China) May 24. — A violent epidemic of love sickness has afflicted the faculty, mostly Americans, of Yenching University, Peking. The engagement has been announced of Miss Louise Egbert of Yenching Women's College, to Randolph Sailer of the men's college of Yenching University. Miss Egbert is an instructor in the department of religion and ethics, while Mr. Sailer is in the department of psychology. Miss Egbert is a graduate of Smith College and the Union Theological Seminary, while the groom-to-be holds degrees from Princeton and Columbia universities.

The engagement also is announced of Miss Dorothy Rowe to Ben March, Jr., and they are to be married next month. Miss Rowe is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. F. Rowe of Nanking, who have been missionaries in China since 1898. Mr. March's home is in Glen Ellyn, Ill., and he is a graduate of the University of Chicago. Miss Rowe is a writer of short stories, verse and fiction, while Mr. March is in the department of English of Yenching University.

Other engagements are rumored, but have not yet been formally announced. Trenchant losses are expected from the ranks both of the Bigger and Better Bachelors—as the unmarried men call themselves out in the East—and from the slowly shrinking Society of Spinsters, forming a welcome relief for small talk, instead of having to fall back on tuchuns, civil wars and soviet "comrades."

PRINCESS MAFALDA MAY WED

Report of Engagement to German Catholic Prince Circulated in Rome

BY GEORGE SELDES

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, by the Chicago Tribune]

ROME, May 24.—Princess Mafalda, charming second daughter of the King of Italy, once reported engaged to the Prince of Wales, now is reported to be engaged to Prince Hesse of German Catholic royalty. The chief obstacle to Princess Mafalda's marriage to the British heir is believed to be their religious differences, the Italian court requiring a permit for Princess Mafalda to become protestant. Recently a union between Princess Mafalda and the Belgian Crown Prince was believed certain, but that has fallen through.

The Prince of Hesse is a guest at Veilla Savoir, where the royal family is stopping for a fortnight. Accompanied by a lady in waiting and sometimes the Italian Crown Prince, the couple spent two pleasant weeks getting acquainted. The Prince also was a guest at the German Embassy.

The royal household when asked to confirm the engagement, declared that by the court rules it is for the King to announce it through the president of the Cabinet.

VEGEX
The Delicious Yeast Food
RICHEST KNOWN FOOD IN VITAMIN B
Indispensable to Normal Nutrition at all Ages
Physical well being is in a large measure dependent upon normal nutrition. Science proves that Vitamin B is indispensable to normal nutrition at all ages.
Dietitians and food experts show us that altogether too many modern foods have been robbed of Vitamin B and valuable food salts in the milling, processing and refining of raw foods.
VEGEX supplies Vitamin B, iron, iodine and other food salts in rich measure. Thinking people everywhere are adding VEGEX to the daily diet, realizing that what benefits normal nutrition, benefits the system as a whole.

SIX LOSE LIVES ON SABBATH DAY

Three Perish in Accidents Due to Autos

Man Drowned at Lake and Another at Beach

Fall in Canyon Hike Fatal to Girl of Party

Six persons seeking pleasure found death instead yesterday.

Three were killed in accidents involving automobiles; two were drowned, and one, a girl hiker, dropped 100 feet into a canyon when a ledge gave way beneath her.

A grade-crossing accident was the cause of one of the automobile fatalities; two other deaths came when an electric transformer fell on the heads of a father and his baby, riding in a car.

The girl hiker was Dorothy Hayes, 16 years of age, daughter of Henry C. Hayes, assistant chief constable of Los Angeles Township. She lived at 5659 Hub street. With her sister, Florence, 18, another girl and three boys, she went into Fish Canyon for an all-day picnic. On the trail up the canyon, Dorothy and Stanley Morgan, Jr., of 3245 Whittier Boulevard, decided to try to reach a ledge above them. The ledge gave way beneath the girl.

She grabbed Morgan's foot and he caught hold of a tree, but the girl's hold gave way and she fell. The fall crushed her left side and broke her leg.

CARRIED IN BLANKET

Companions carried her in a blanket to a cabin. There she regained consciousness but died in ten minutes, before the arrival of Dr. O. O. Force from Monrovia.

The body was taken to the Renaker undertaking rooms at Monrovia. The parents were away for the day and did not learn of her death till their return last night.

Milton Friedman, 17 years of age, of this city, who was attending a jewelers' picnic at Hughes Lake, was one of those reported drowned. Friedman lived at 1918 West Jefferson street. He was a jeweler's apprentice. Members of the family asked to have the body sent to the W. C. Draper undertaking rooms here.

William Blessington, 20, also of this city, is believed to have been drowned off Crystal Beach, Santa Monica, though his body was not recovered. Blessington, Ida May Barker, of 147 West Fifty-ninth street, and her brother went to the beach for an early swim. The girl and her brother were some

NOBLE RED MEN POWWOW WITH DUE SOLEMNITY

LIFE TERM SAVED HIM

Speeder Up Second Time—But Oh First Time Bar Was Altar

"Haven't you been in here before?"

Justice Baird in his weekly routine of passing out jolts to speeders paused as a young man stepped up in answer to the call of Clerk Billy Askin for H. W. Furlon.

"Y-y-y-yes, sir, just a couple of days ago," the young man, obviously worried, admitted the accusation.

"And here you are again, and this time I see you're charged with doing forty-five miles an hour on a county road. Well, you know what we do to these second offenders. I'll just see that you don't come in again."

"B-b-but, judge—"

"Never mind. You're guilty, aren't you?"

"Yes, sir, but—"

"Well, we'll make this about ten days in the County Jail."

"But, judge," this time he made himself heard, "the other time I was in here was when you married me, and me and my wife were starting on our honeymoon and were trying to get away from some folks who wanted to play tricks on us."

When the uproar subsided and the magistrate had got his face sufficiently straight to talk, he amended the first verdict.

"I gave you a life sentence the other time. I don't see how I can add any more. Sentence suspended. Now go on about your honeymoon."

Just Married—But No Smiles

The solemn-faced bride and bridegroom are shown in the lower picture and the celebrating chiefs are portrayed above doing their war dance or something.

THE noble red man retained his characteristic dignity throughout "Sid Grauman's Indian Pow-wow," as thousands of roadway placards announced it, way out in Cahuenga Pass yesterday afternoon. An audience of 2000 or 3000 persons was draped over the hillside to witness the tribal dances "never before enacted in the daytime in the history of America" and a "bona fide marriage of two Indians," which was performed by Judge Frederickson assisted by "the living replica of Abraham Lincoln." These are quotations from the magnavox announcer, Chief Ham Beall of the Hotcopi tribe.

Mr. Grauman, who is himself not an Indian, thus honored the twenty Arapahoes and Shoshones who have come down from Wind River, Wyo., to sojourn in Hollywood. The Wyoming Indians had as guests representatives of 100 tribes, and these, numbering twenty, not counting the squaws, were introduced in their new Indian suits. Everyone proved to be a chief. Mr. Grauman, who is known affectionately by his redskin friends as Chief Watch the Box Office, proved to have longer hair than any Indian present, except a Hopi dancer, who came from Arizona only recently.

PAIR MARRIED

Chief Goes Ahead, an Arapahoe was married to Josie Washikie of the same tribe. Judge Frederickson had some difficulty in getting the bride and bridegroom to repeat the words of the civil ceremony. He reminded them of the white man's dictum that "marriage is the most beautiful of human relations." This is the second time in history, the announcer said, that two Indians have been married according to the white man's rites, all the Indian missions to the contrary.

The Indians present performed a "stately wedding march" by wandering around the space the police had cleared, to the tune composed by Herr Wagner, and after the marriage they did a "festive dance" which consisted in moving around in a circle by moving the feet as little as possible and the rest of the body not at all.

To carry out the quaint ceremony, wedding gifts from local business concerns were presented the happy couple, who were as solemn as could be. Among the suitable gifts, the announcer explained, were two vacuum bottles from the Owl Drug Company, a phonograph from the Rudolph Wurlitzer Company and a radio set from the Educational Toy Company. One of the many chiefs present gave the newlyweds a pair of beaded baby moccasins, but he failed to state the name of the manufacturer. Even this gift did not break the bride's and bridegroom's funereal calm.

TUNES ON DRUM

The tribal dances were done to the tune pounded on an orchestra base drum by two braves. Every time they pounded the drum, hundreds of sparrows gathered overhead and circled about while the Indians danced. This touch was entirely unplanned, it was admitted, and it added greatly to the wildness of the scene.

"Sid Grauman's Indian Powwow" was marred by only one thing. The

Effort to Bar Shipping of Frozen Fruit May Mean Money to Growers

A meeting which may mean a dollar a box more for California orange shippers takes place today at Pomona, when G. H. Hecke, State Director of Agriculture, will confer with the Horticultural Commissioners of Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties on methods for preventing the shipment or sale of frosted Valencia oranges. Representatives of the State Bureau of Fruit and Vegetable Standardization and the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, will be present.

Rigid and uniform enforcement of State and Federal laws in preventing the movement of dried and worthless Navel oranges was strongly supported by growers and shippers and was completely successful, Mr. Hecke said yesterday, and this co-operation will be sought in the case of the Valencia crop, now coming on the market. It is estimated about 30 per cent of the crop was damaged to some extent by the frost, according to W. F. Allewelt, chief of the Bureau of Fruit and Vegetable Standardization, but about 5,000,000 boxes will be shipped.

IDAHO, UTAH FOLK TO RALLY

Former residents of both Idaho and Utah will join in a rally tomorrow evening in the Moose Hall at 437 South Hill street. A program from the Utah young people will precede the dancing. There will be a number of the visiting Shriners present and a large delegation should meet them.

DRIVERS' STRIKE LIKELY

Cleaners and Dyers to Cut Profits of Routemen; Latter May Quit Today

Action taken yesterday by members of the Plant Owners' Association of Cleaners and Dyers toward the elimination of middleman commissions and extravagances in the industry, together with adoption of a program of sweeping reforms, is expected to bring an open breach between warring factions, according to those conversant with the situation.

Union drivers, who exact a commission of 40 per cent on all work collected and delivered at the plants, are vigorously opposed to the lopping off of the large profits they have been making. It is known that they have been in session every day since the plan was talked of by the plant owners and an immediate strike may be called.

It is the claim of plant owners that the commission form of driver is the greatest evil of the industry in that it forces the public to stand an expense that is beyond reason. Statistics obtained from income-tax reports show, it is asserted, that these drivers receive as high as $7500 a year and few fall as low as $3000.

Beginning today the plant owners will offer the drivers a cut to 25 per cent on work delivered with a guarantee of $50 a week to all so-called independent delivery men doing an average weekly business of $200.

STRIKE EXPECTED

This proffer will, it is thought, be rejected by the drivers. Their only alternative will be to quit, which leads to the conclusion that a strike will be on by tonight.

Provision has been made by the plant owners to meet such an emergency. Routes will be covered as far as possible by salaried drivers and other means will be

IT WILL never be possible to control traffic conditions until the police courts begin the impounding and confiscation of cars.

As it is now, there are so many silly blah-blah little regulations that even the police do not pretend to know half of them.

All that the traffic cops can do is to memorize a few of them; and then rush out and grab a few armfuls of offenders by way of showing zeal.

In England, where they make a better job of lawmaking, and a very much better job of law enforcing, there are virtually no traffic regulations. Your conscience is your guide. But if you have an accident or show recklessness in driving, your license is taken away; and so you cease to be a menace.

It isn't the speeders who make the most trouble; it is the bone-headed boys who try to cut in ahead of cars; people who dive in where there isn't room to pass. The only possible defense against traffic casualties is the elimination of the indigicious.

RESCUED MASTERPIECE

The story of the manuscript of Cavalleria Rusticana has been revived; how Pietro Mascagni threw it disgustedly in the wastebasket and his wife rescued it.

Yes she did; in the eye!

I am skeptical about all these wastebaskets of genius.

If any such incident ever did occur to anyone—which I doubt—I'll bet that Mascagni summoned his wife and said: "Now, Mary Ann, I am going to heave this in the wastebasket, and you grab it out. Now, get ready, and watch your step."

DEVOTED WIVES

I have never noticed that wives were so concerned about manuscripts anyhow. Usually the adoring wife says: "Yes, dear, I would just love to hear it; but wait until I come back from the Friday Morning Club."

And then, she doesn't come back.

Wise wife!

A NATIONAL PERIL

A most astonishing dispatch from Washington says that a "flare-up of indignation" has followed the President's activity in enforcing prohibition.

Until a few years ago no one ever conceived of it as a human possibility that lawbreakers could operate like the rum fleet in open defiance of the Federal government. This "flare-up of indignation" should be forcibly quenched at any cost.

Not even the Civil War offered such insidious dangers to the life of this government as bootlegging. The more so in that the public at large treats it as a joke.

VARIOUS WAILS

Kid McCoy is now one of us; he is running a column in a prison paper in San Quentin penitentiary.

If the jazz girl is to be tried over again for murder, it is to be hoped that the San Francisco court will try to have a legal proceeding, and not a cheap melodrama.

The more trained minds study warfare, the less they seem to know about it. A highly trained army fighting against uncivilized warriors of equal numbers always gets licked. Witness the French and Spanish in North Africa. Until the recent French victory, the Riffs toyed with them.

AGED TRUSTY FINDS LIFE IS GOOD

Man Who Served Twenty-seven Years in Prison is Offered Position as Result of Story Published in "Times;" Believes Fate Has Smiled on Him at Last

Bill Austin has taken a new lease on life.

Yesterday for the first time in more than two decades Bill realized that kindness still existed in a scurrying, materialistic world. At least his mild blue eyes, set in a face furrowed with prison hardship, signaled appreciation when his voice couldn't.

Bill is the Folsom trusty recently paroled, who is being held at the Lincoln Heights Police Station on a vagrancy charge.

Several days ago when arrested Bill protested a jury trial and pleaded for a quick return to Folsom—his home for the last twenty-seven years. This was because he had found his sixty-five years and gray head out of place in a world that had moved all too fast since he first went behind the sinister walls up north.

But yesterday, because of Bill's story published in The Times, several people came forward with jobs—work which would enable him to start anew the life, which he dropped in 1897, the year he was sent over the road for first-degree murder and a crime, incidentally, Bill says, which more than exacted in expiation its due.

"It's too much and I never expected such treatment." Bill said yesterday as his eyes filled with tears. "I thought there was no room left for an ex-convict, that is, one as old as I am. I didn't want to go back to Folsom—for I dreamed of getting out of there for twenty-seven years—but there seemed to be nothing that I could do. Folsom was home. I knew everyone there. Work is what I want, work which will let me enjoy the few remaining years of my life the liberty shut off when I was 37.

"When I was arrested the other day, I knew again it was the hand of Fate—all my life I have worked against Fate—and never won until today. If I had crossed the street that night in front of the 'City of Guttenburg' on Frisco's Barbary Coast instead of stepping inside to hear the music I wouldn't have landed in prison. That was Fate. Yet, I have never harbored hate against my fellow-man. I just had it coming, that's all.

"All I have wanted since I have been out was a job which would give me something and enough to lay a little by so when I can't work any more I won't have to depend on charity."

One of the offers for Bill came from the Ward Heater Company, 1243 South Hope street, to The Times by its president, S. Sproat. In his letter Mr. Sproat says that Bill's delusion as a down-and-outer is all imaginary.

"There is no reason why he should not make good in some legitimate occupation," Mr. Sproat says in his letter, "and we will be willing to take the chance with him. And if he is the man we are sure he is, we can use him somewhere in our factory at a reasonable salary to start with, and if he proves his worth he will receive an advance from time to time as he advances himself in his line of work."

A big oil concern has also offered Bill a job as timekeeper. All depends, however, on whether Bill is freed from the charge against him when his trial comes up June 6.

At any rate, Bill admits that his luck is breaking better and he has thrown off his melancholy and desire to return to Folsom.

Miss Booth to Dedicate Home for Rescue Work

When she arrives here this week for a three-day visit, Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army, will be greeted by the local advisory board and others. Miss Booth will dedicate the new Salvation Army Rescue Home on North Griffin avenue.

Miss Booth, who comes from headquarters in New York, will be accompanied by Commissioner Henry W. Mapp of the Salvation Army's international headquarters in London. Commissioner Adam Gifford, chief in the western territory, also will attend the celebration.

Lieut.-Col. C. R. Boyd, divisional commander for Southern California, is in charge of the program for the entertainment of Miss Booth, who will be the guest of honor Friday at the Biltmore at a luncheon. Sunday afternoon she will lecture at Philharmonic Auditorium on "The World's Greatest Romance."

Shriner Expires Suddenly While Talking of Meet

William H. Brockway, 67 years of age, a shoe dealer, of 3073 West Pico street, died suddenly yesterday of heart disease at his home. Brockway was a Shriner and was describing enthusiastically the preparations for the forthcoming Shrine convention when he collapsed. Officer Lewis of Wilshire Station reported death due to natural causes. The body was sent to the Robinson undertaking rooms. Brockway came here from Indianapolis. He was also a member of the Elks.

Senators Hale, Shortridge on Oil Inspection

Senator Hale of Maine, chairman of the Senate Naval Committee, was in Kern county yesterday inspecting Naval Oil Reserves No. 1 and No. 2. He will return to Los Angeles today.

With Senator Shortridge, Senator Hale has visited the harbors at San Pedro, Long Beach and San Diego, and stated that the great growth of commerce in Southern California was a revelation to him. This is the Senator's first trip to the Pacific Coast, and it was taken at the instance of Senator Shortridge, who wished his colleague to become acquainted with maritime conditions here, as they effect the commercial and military activities of the country.

The two Senators will leave for San Francisco within a few days. While in Los Angeles they reside at the Biltmore.

FAITHFUL HOST IS CELEBRATED

Times' Studio Pays Honor to Martin Music Company

String Quartet Presented as Evening's Artists

Talent Will be Seen Tonight at Orange Show

BY CLAIRE MELLONINO

One of the surest methods of procuring happiness for one's self is to rejoice in the successes and little triumphs of others. Radio broadcasting has given this truth a new impetus. Any of us who are privileged to work for KHJ and take part in the activities of the patrons find that in the wholesouled giving of our energy to make their programs a success, renewed vitality and joy are our reward.

The program last night was in the nature of a celebration for one of our most faithful hosts, the Martin Music Company. You have listened for many months to the skill of its president, John D. Martin, as he presides over his Gulbransen Registering Piano. Up to last evening, however, we have had an upright in the studio. Now in a corner of our station stands a Gulbransen Grand Registering Piano and the program yesterday was in the nature of a radio christening party.

STRING QUARTET

J. Howard Johnson is the representative of the Martin Music Company at KHJ and presented as artists last evening the Stoloff String Quartet composed of Morris Stoloff, first violin; George Bendor, second violin; Anthony Briglio, viola, and Nicholas Ochi-Albi, 'cello; Ruth Pitts, soprano, and John Martin at the Gulbransen Registering Piano.

All of our radio family are taking a great pride in the growth of the Stoloff String Quartet. It is born of KHJ and is an exclusive feature of our station. Last evening the ensemble showed the results of tremendous rehearsing which is slowly but surely forging it into one voice. Great judgment is shown in the repertoire of the quartet. Mr. Stoloff always offers some completely new modern pieces but takes care at the same time not to neglect the more familiar numbers which many of our family hunger for.

Through the desire on our part to keep pace with the musical needs of Los Angeles the Stoloff Quartet and myself gave as the big number of the evening the first movement of the Dohnanyi Quintet, Opus 1, for the first time on the Coast. This is perhaps the most important contribution to the quintet form this year and we longed for the shut-ins particularly to enjoy it.

EXHIBITS MASTERY

In both the role of accompanist and soloist, John Martin again exhibited his complete mastery of the Gulbransen Registering piano. Assisting Merris Stoloff through three numbers including the "Valse Bluette" by Drigo, Mr. Martin skillfully guided the thread of the piano through the design patterned by the strings making the result a closely woven tapestry of brilliant hues.

Ruth Pitts without whose delightful soprano voice no Martin Music Company program would be complete or successful, again demonstrated her intimate knowledge of the art of broadcasting. The type of art song and ballad for which she has won a large following was brought to microphone with new color, new thoughts and an ease of deliverance that always underlies Miss Pitts's interpretations.

During the course of the program the scene was shifted to the First Methodist Episcopal Church, from the auditorium of which came forth the voice of Eugene McElmeel, the California High School boy, delivering the oration which was awarded second prize in the National Oratorical Contest held recently in Washington, D. C.

SERMON TALK

This lad's dissertation was followed by a stirring educational talk on "The Man Who Dares," by Dr. Elmer E. Helmes, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church. It left a splendid thought with which to begin the week.

Of further interest to Radioland was the announcement made last night that the Martin Music Company would give, free of any charges, the roll "Ave Maria," by Bach-Gounod to every owner of a Gulbransen registering piano who visits their store at 734 South Hill street within the next ten days.

All roads will lead to Anaheim tonight for the reason that many KHJ favorites will appear in person at the California Valencia Orange Show. A studio is being constructed at the show similar to The Times station, and everyone who attends the show will not only see some of their favorite artists, but will also learn how the work of broadcasting is carried on. An excellent program has been arranged by Walter Biddick and those who journey to Anaheim tonight will be doubly rewarded. Uncle John and a large group of his children headed by Queen Titania and the Sandman will be on hand to greet their many friends.

DRAIN ASSESSMENTS BEGIN

Collection of $1,318,757 from Property Owners for Completed Half of Project Opens Today

Collecting of $1,318,757 in assessments from 30,000 property owners for the completed one-half of the South Main-street storm drain will begin this morning at a special branch office which has been established with the approval of the Board of Public Works at 3427 South Main street, near West Jefferson street.

Eight deputies from the city assessment bureau will be on hand to facilitate the work and property owners who pay assessments there are thus relieved of the necessity of visiting the City Hall. Thirty days are allowed in which to pay the assessments which for the average sized residential lot range from $50 to $90. In case assessments are not paid, bonds against each assessment are issued and property owners have ten years in which to pay off these bonds.

The storm drain is being built by Peter Gadd, contractor, who in five months has completed one-half of the work. His total bid for the entire job was $2,705,995, and the cost of the work completed to date is $1,318,757, which includes city inspection and clerical charges.

The storm drain will permanently end the damage caused by the overflowing of the streets in the southwestern part of the city during the rainy season, as the storm waters will pass into the drain from the streets in the district bounded by One Hundred Seventh street, Central avenue, Jefferson street and Vermont and Western avenues. President McGuire of the Board of Public Works in announcing the completion of one-half of the storm drain said:

"The construction of this drain is one of the most important pieces of work that has been accomplished in the city during the past ten years. We are overjoyed with the job. The mouth end of the drain, which is now completed, is ahead of schedule several months and we expect the contractors will continue their excellent work and have the entire drain finished before the fall rains reach serious proportions.

"The southwest of Los Angeles will be free from floods this year for the first time in history. Conditions have been deplorable throughout the territory, so bad in some sections that children were unable to get to school during the winter. The construction of the drain will make a new city out of the southwest, so vital will be its bearing upon the welfare and prosperity of the people."

AT DRIVERS' MERCY

"The public has little realization of the extent to which the commission drivers dominate our industry. Due to an unbusinesslike system that has grown up here they have the only contact with the public. The plant owners, who are responsible for, and who do the actual work, do not know who their customers are or where they live.

"This places the plant owners at the mercy of the drivers, for should a plant, or a number of plants, incur the disfavor of the drivers these men can take the work elsewhere overnight, leaving the owner with an idle and worthless establishment in which he has $100,000 or more invested.

"Our association is striving for higher ideals and standards. It demands efficient work, honest service and full protection to the public from its members. We ask the public, therefore, to support us in our campaign to bring about reforms and economies that will benefit the customers of cleaning and dyeing plants while at the same time it will help to stabilize an industry that is essential to the community."

taken to bring the situation under control.

"We have no desire to work a hardship upon the independent drivers, but they are demanding such excessive profits from the industry that the public is resentful of the high prices it is necessary to charge to keep the plants running," said Thomas Endicott, director-general of the association, last night.

"What we are striving to do is to effect economies that will stabilize this great industry upon which thousands of men and women are dependent for a livelihood, and in which our members have invested upwards of $25,000,000.

"We want the drivers to have a living wage, and our offer is a fair one. They have little, if any, investment in the business and their work merely consists of the collection and delivery of garments. They are hardly more than messengers and have no responsibility placed upon them for loss or injury to materials.

MOTHER OF BILTMORE ORCHESTRA HEAD DIES

Mrs. Margaret Fitzpatrick, mother of Edward J. Fitzpatrick, leader of the Biltmore Concert Orchestra, died Saturday night following a short illness, at her home, 611 North St. Andrews Place. Mrs. Fitzpatrick was 55 years of age and had been a resident of Los Angeles for several years. She leaves, beside her son, her husband, Dennis Fitzpatrick, and a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Atkins. The body is at the undertaking parlors of the White Company, 664 West Washington avenue. The funeral will be conducted in San Francisco.

WAR BOOTY SOUGHT

Workman Would Use Trophies to Ornament Exposition Park

President Boyle Workman of the City Council has started action with the Park Commission to secure for Los Angeles from the Adjutant-General at Sacramento a share of the World War trophies given this State by the Federal government.

It is hoped by the Councilman that a large number of the trophies will be secured and placed permanently at Exposition Park, with two small modern cannon to be placed at the World War soldier monument at Pershing Square.

H. C. BEACH SUCCUMBS SUDDENLY

Death of Attorney Occurs Soon After He is Stricken on Rancho Golf Course

H. C. Beach, a member of the law firm of Janeway, Beach & Pratt, 718 Title Insurance Building, passed away at his home, 3052 West Fifteenth street, Saturday afternoon. Death was due to acute indigestion.

He was stricken while playing golf at the Rancho Golf Club Saturday morning, and was immediately removed to his home, where he died late in the afternoon.

Mr. Beach was born at Vandalia, Ill., September 17, 1885, his father being one of the most widely know physicians in Southern Illinois. He was educated in the public schools of his home town, and received his college and legal degrees from the University of Illinois. He was a member of the bars of the States of Illinois, Washington, Montana and California, and admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court.

He came to Los Angeles about eleven years ago. For several years he was associated with the legal firm of Hunsaker & Britt. Later he became special counsel for the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation. In 1919, he became a member of the law firm of Janeway, Beach & Pratt, and up to the time of his death, was an active member of that firm.

His legal career in Los Angeles embraced participation in some of the largest and most important litigation of the local courts.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mae Bird Beach, and by his mother, Mrs. William M. Allison, of Snyder, Okla., and by a sister, Mrs. George Paullis of Detroit, Mich.

Funeral services will be held from the undertaking parlors of E. Clair Overholtzer Company, 1336 South Grand avenue, at 4 p.m., tomorrow.

CONTROLLER DUTIES TOLD BY MUSHET

Candidate's Friends Say He is Specially Fitted for This Office

Councilman W. C. Mushet, candidate for the office of City Controller at the election June 2, is planing for this week a series of the most important speeches of his campaign. He and the members of his speakers' committee will talk every day before many civic and other organizations.

In their indorsements, prominent men and women of the city emphasise Mr. Mushet's qualifications for the new office created under the city charter, which becomes effective July 1, because of his long experience as a certified public accountant and his record as chairman of the finance committee of the City Council.

Discussing the duties of the Controller, Mr. Mushet said yesterday he shall be the auditor and general accountant of the city and shall exercise the general supervision over the accounts of all officers, boards and employees charged in any manner with the receipt, collection or disbursement of money of the city.

He pointed out also that the Controller shall have the power to prescribe the method of installing, keeping and rendering of all accounts of the officers, boards and employees of the city, provided, however, that the system of accounting shall first be authorized by the City Council.

BACKERS OF KELLERMAN CLUB CALLED

Officers Expected to be Summoned Thursday to Explain Members' Charges

Annette Kellerman, diving venus, and others who are back of the Annette Kellerman Country Club and its two associated corporations, are expected to be called before the county grand jury on Thursday, when the District Attorney's office intends to resume its investigation of the affair of the woodland health retreat.

Already a large number of persons who bought memberships in the club at from $250 to $450 each have been interviewed by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ryan. The investigation will be handled before the inquisitorial body by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Hill and Ryan.

Among those who are expected to be called as witnesses are Miss Kellerman, James R. Sullivan, her husband; J. L. LeBerthon, Mrs. Josephine LeBerthon, his wife, and T. M. LeBerthon, their son, all of whom are officers of the different organizations. Mae Maegila, secretary of the companies, will also be called. It is expected that at least thirty-five witnesses will be heard by the grand jurors. It was reported to the District Attorney's office that at least 500 bought memberships in the club. Mrs. O. L. Payne, who is said to have sold about 100 memberships, will be subpoenaed.

ILLNESS FATAL TO DOMINGUEZ

stay in the islands to open a private practice, he built up a remunerative business, which he maintained for the next four years.

During that period, Mr. Dominguez was attorney for Emilio Aguinaldo, famous insurgent chief of the natives, and his work in that capacity brought national recognition.

BRILLIANT ORATOR

He started practice in Los Angeles upon his return. Following a trip to Mexico City, where he represented the State of Colorado with M. Tarpez and Col. George Pippy at the Mexican Centennial, he went into practice with the late Earl Rogers and the two of them soon became known as two of the most brilliant and eloquent jury pleaders that Los Angeles ever had known.

Immediate members of the family who survive him are his mother, Mrs. G. O. Dominguez, an only daughter, Helen G. Hall, two brothers, City Clerk Robert Dominguez and Battalion Fire Chief Arthur W. Dominguez, and two sisters, Mrs. Victoria Nunnalley and Mrs. Thonita Daley, the latter of Arizona.

SIX LOSE LIVES ON SABBATH DAY

distance out when they suddenly missed Blessington, who had been accompanying them.

No one saw the youth go down, but he is believed either to have been seized with cramps or carried out to sea by the tide. Blessington lived with his sister, Mrs. W. C. Cunningham, 2503 Ocean View avenue. His foster mother, Mrs. Belle Edgar, is said to be critically ill at a Los Angeles hospital.

David Rose, 23, was motoring with his wife and son, Benjamin Rose, 3. At Winter and Forrest streets, a dangling electric wire, according to police report, struck their car giving Rose a severe shock. He lost control of the car, which plunged into an electric pole.

The jar shook from its fastenings a transformer weighing 750 pounds, which fell, striking both Rose and the baby. Rose died at once from a crushed skull; the baby's skull was fractured also, and it died a short time afterward. Mrs. Rose was uninjured. The bodies were sent to the Garrett undertaking rooms. The Roses lived at 1372 East Twenty-second street.

The Rendalia grade crossing near Bellflower claimed another victim yesterday when Ben Smith of Whittier was killed by a Pacific Electric train bound for Santa Ana. Smith was driving a small coupe registered to Mrs. S. Joselyn, 8713 American avenue, Long Beach. According to report of Motorman E. McAmail, who was operating the train, the wigwag at the crossing was working and the whistle was blown, but Smith appeared to be trying to beat the train at the crossing.

JOHN L.'s DAY
Taking it for granted that his biographers are right, people are no crazier now than they were in John L. Sullivan's day.

UNRULY MEMBERS
If some women talk a lot it is because they change their mind so often that it keeps the tongue on the run to tell about it.

GOING DOWN
The way of the transgressor may be hard, but it is not always a lonely one. There is plenty of company and it is apt to be a trifle noisy, at that.

EVEN THEN
Several spiral teeth eight feet long and 50,000 years old have recently been discovered. The prehistoric dentist probably even then said: "Open wide, it won't hurt much."

NO DISSOLUTION
A British earl has won a prize in a needlework competition. And yet there are many people affect to believe that English aristocracy is dying.

LIKE TO KNOW
Now that Jack Dempsey has had his nose straightened out to the satisfaction of his wife, it is an interesting question to learn how said nose will endure a strain of hay fever.

MARSHALL LAW
John Marshall of West Virginia has been made an Assistant Attorney-General. He has a glorious name to live up to in the administration of justice. No man conferred greater service upon his country than John Marshall of Virginia.

A PAST ABOMINATION
Women have suffered greatly, in various ways, through the ages, but probably their greatest affliction was the enforced use of the long hatpin which endangered life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Think of that abomination and quit finding fault with the modern style of hat.

THE FLIVVER'S MILLENNIUM
Now that a Yankee genius has succeeded in running his automobile with alcohol made by himself from apples and potatoes and since Germany is sending us methanol, a wood alcohol, for the same purpose and at half the price for which the same article can be produced in this country, the gasoline barons may yet have to look to their tanks. The lowly spud-patch may prove their undoing, even here in the greatest known oil field, for as a spud-producer California has no rival.

AMONG THE FARMERS
The American Institute of Co-operation, which is concerned with the marketing and handling of all crops from the raisins and oranges of California to the cotton of Mississippi, will meet in convention in Philadelphia beginning July 20 and continuing until August 15. For the first week the convention will consider the economic principles and legal aspects of co-operation. During the second it will consider the phases of membership and organization. During the third week the problems of management and operation will be discussed and for the final week the convention will consider sales policies and marketing problems. It will be a representative affair and not in the hands of politicians.

UP IN THE AIR
It is the contention of Dr. Hugo Eckener of the Zeppelin Corporation, who piloted the big airship Los Angeles on her initial trip from Germany, that aerial passengers of the future will pay fares according to their weight. This would seem to be a thoroughly sensible idea. Weight is what counts in the navigation of the skies. Make the fat man pay toll according to his flesh. He has always had the best of it. He has filled the Pullmans with his immensity, but has paid no more fare than some little shrimp who can hardly dent the scales. Now, if he is going to soar in the heavens, he should pay for the burden he creates. There is a lot of justice in the thought. Make a passenger rate from Los Angeles to New York of $2 a pound or arrange for the transportation of humans by parcel post.

PRESIDENTIAL PLEASURES
President Coolidge has told the secret service men on social duty at the White House that he really enjoys shaking hands with a lot of people. He has pumped the fins of 2000 fellow-citizens on a single afternoon and has taken on flesh in the doing. It has been said that Roosevelt rather enjoyed these contacts, but most Presidents have considered them as something of a nightmare. To find a rather quiet and reserved New Englander who can take recreation in grasping a thousand hands is quite a surprise. It would seem as if there must be a catch in it somewhere. Yet the railroads and the sightseeing conveyances are advertising for Americans to visit Washington and shake hands with the President. It seems to be a very simple thing to meet the big Chief.

FOR SHRINE WEEK
While the Shriners are holding their Imperial Conclave here next week Los Angeles will be in the public eye as the first city of the United States, acting as host and entertainer not only to potentates, nobles and their caravans, treking here from far-flung oases, but to thousands of friends and followers of this famous and influential order.

The city will be an assembling center of immense crowds of visitors, attracted by the pageantry, the music, the feasting and jollity attendant upon the big convention. Many of these visitors will be seeing Southern California for the first time. Those who have visited Los Angeles before will naturally compare the entertainment provided with that which they received on former occasions or in other cities. Some will be critical. A few will be chronic fault finders.

In a word, Los Angeles will be on its mettle throughout that eventful week. Handling so many thousands will tax its accommodations to the utmost. When money pours into a community, as it does under these circumstances, the temptation is strong to take all that the traffic will bear, to run the charge machine on high and to consider only the present and immediate profit.

Let it be said that in Los Angeles that isn't done. It is a poor host that gouges his guests. The going rates for accommodations, for meals, for hotel service, for sight-seeing and for all the attentions our numerous guests will require should be held at the normal level by harmonious co-ordination. This is one occasion where the law of supply and demand may be temporarily relaxed in deference to the higher law of hospitality.

Further, this is a time when every loyal Angeleno will wish to see his city look its very best. Los Angeles is a hostess expecting company, a committee designing an appropriate setting for a big reception. Our first task is to clean up all tawdry and unsightly signs and banners out of keeping with the good taste our civic pride dictates. We want our guests to feel that we have too much respect for them to allow our streets to resemble untidy rooms, crudely and inappropriately furnished. Cheap and flaring advertising should make way for special decorations that will be a credit to ourselves and a pleasure to the eyes of our visitors. In addition, every citizen should appoint himself a committee of one to adorn his own store, office or residence with emblems designed to do honor to the Shrine.

In this way we can show critics in other cities, and there will be many of them and not all kindly ones, that in entertaining a convention Los Angeles knows what is right to be done and does what she knows to be right. Nor must we forget that the Shriners come to our city not only to be entertained, but equally to entertain us. And we must reciprocate by showing our appreciation for the splendid efforts they have made to do their part for the success of the great convention.

For the Shriners will bring to this city entertainments in the form of music and pageantry and pictorial narrative that have taken months of efforts and millions of dollars to perfect. Only under the auspices of the order are these unique expositions presented to the public. Los Angeles is especially favored in being the arena where these entertainments may be witnessed as part of the Shriners' program. They will be staged at Exposition Park at an admission fee so low as to be out of all proportion to the large sums spent on their production. For his own edification, as well as a mark of courtesy to the Shrine, every man and woman in Southern California who comes to Los Angeles during the convention week should buy season tickets to the Coliseum for Shrine week.

By concerted action Los Angeles can make this week in June one to be remembered gratefully by all who came to enjoy the spectacle and one to be looked back on with pride by every resident of the Southwest. Let us, through our acts on this occasion, give one more refutation to the calumnies that have been spread about us in other States by envious and ill-natured critics.

NOTHING BUT MONEY
A deputy assessor of a county in Oregon has found a native American who, though worth over $150,000, cannot read a line nor even sign his own name, save with a cross. One of his clerks signs checks for him and writes all his business letters. For years he has had to take on trust the contents of every deed, mortgage or other document he handled, for of his own knowledge he knew nothing of them.

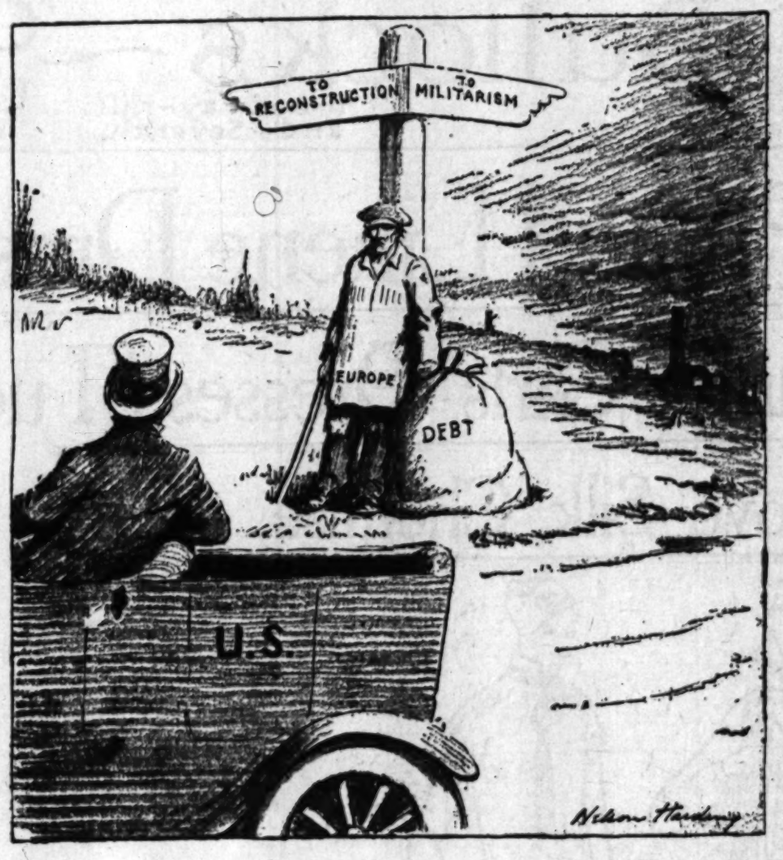
"I ain't never tried to learn readin' or writin'," he explains. "I thought it was all foolishness. I've made plenty of money without it an' I'm as happy as the next man."

It is one of the standing jests of fortune that shrewd, uneducated men like this are able to acquire great wealth, while college graduates remain in dire poverty. Regarded purely from a material standpoint, here is an exemplification of the Emersonian theory of compensation, though not a luminous one. There is such a thing as the wisdom of the ignorant. The native shrewdness of the man who could make $150,000 without the aid of reading or writing is a form of wisdom which the cultured spendthrift might be glad to possess. And, after all, it is the inability to save money or the proneness to spend it unwisely that makes men poor, though they may be able to read Sophocles in the original and to give offhand any important date in world history. There are college professors who can teach their students almost anything save the art of money-making.

But who besides the very ignorant and material-minded will envy the man who, though he has acquired a large fortune, never has read a book or a newspaper? What is often said of such a man—that he has nothing but money—fits the case very well. We may talk of compensation in all things, and it is a pretty theory, but in the example under consideration the compensation is of the material sort only. It is nothing but money. For what does such a person possess that is the real equivalent of the knowledge which one good volume of history or biography or poetry might have given him? What is he able to impart which a person of culture looking for information of real value would for a moment consider. He would be very likely to regard him as an insufferable bore, unless perchance he were looking for material for a realistic novel and wanted a rough-hewn character of the new-rich type upon which to display his satire.

As such a "self-made man" flashes by in his costly car he will excite more pity than envy. If he thinks that money really has compensated him in a high, worthy sense for his lack of book learning he is woefully mistaken, and, though he may be ever so shrewd and may repose confidently in his self-assured greatness, he has yet to learn the top from the bottom of things.

"I'll Give You a Lift if You're Going My Way"



[Brooklyn Eagle.]

THE GUM INDUSTRY
Our capitalists evidently have unbounded faith in the ability of the great American jaw to keep working indefinitely, for they now have over $30,000,000 invested in the manufacture of chewing gum. Not only that, but they have hope of some day supplying the means by which the whole world may exercise its mandibles. Already the gum-chewing habit has extended to Europe, South America, Africa and parts of Asia and even has begun to displace the immemorial custom of betel-nut chewing in India and the Straits Settlement.

These important facts are contained in a bulletin of the United States Department of Commerce, which points out that the American public expends for chewing gum considerably more than an average of $1,000,000 a week. The original industry was begun in 1860 with an investment of $55. An American inventor in that year was making an unsuccessful experiment to vulcanize the sap of the sapota tree as a rubber substitute. While doing this he discovered the similarity of chicle to spruce and cherry gums, the chief chewing gums hitherto known. In 1914 there was a matter of $10,000,000 invested in the industry, which more than doubled by 1919 and trebled by 1925.

When H. G. Wells, the British novelist and historian, was in this country eight years ago he expressed scorn for "the childish American habit," which he considered "so undignified." But his distinguished countryman, Arnold Bennett, when over here a few years later, confessed to liking our "finely flavored gum," which he chewed with the baseball fans in the grand stand. Sir Percy Beauchamp, in that delightful farce-comedy, "This This Is London," contemptuously alludes to "these gum-chewing Americans," but many a carton of our delicately prepared chicle is sold and chewed in dear old Lunnon in these days, and even the Prince of Wales has been good fellow enough to say that he saw no evil in gum as chewed in the U.S.A.

But as to the general American attitude toward the habit, it is a composite of tolerance, indifference and repugnance. Cultured Boston looks with disdain upon it, while a westerner doesn't care who chews or who refrains from chewing, as long as the person just behind him at the movies doesn't make too vociferous a demonstration of his mastication. Which reminds one of the Chicago lady who evidently took the habit quite seriously, and yet withal had nerves. When her small daughter was having too good a time with her chicle this eminently proper mother said: "Now, Dorothy, chew your gum like a little lady."

CHILI SAUCE
President Coolidge no doubt thought he had the Tacna-Arica matter entirely settled. The general public entertained hope that he had succeeded. But it seems there is yet considerable Peruvian bark.

The boundary dispute between Chile and Peru is age-long. Before Bryan began to run for the Presidency those two countries were yanking the boundary all out of shape. If the affair were to be settled possibly life would lose its zest on the west coast south of the equator. Chile's navy does not have to go to Hawaii to practice. It just steams up toward Iquiqui. This sets Peru twisting the tail of the boundary.

Foreign entanglements, South American squabbles and Chinese puzzles keep the machinery of the Secretary of State from rusting. It almost appears upon occasion that foreign powers do not need ministers plenipotentiary so much as they need ministers of the gospel.

The boundary between Chile and Peru is a perennial dispute, like that of Alsace and Lorraine in Europe. If it were not so, what would the diplomats have to justify their existence?

America does not run to diplomats—she just has farmers and merchants. However, they come in handy when any affair reaches the point of a liberty loan. It is disconcerting when the President takes time to adjust foreign difficulties to find it has been all in vain.

PATHETIC SELF-PROTECTION
Two men well over 60 years of age commit suicide in this city to protect themselves against despondency and physical pain. Another, 38 years of age, a veteran of the great war, in which he served in a crack regiment of the Seaforth Highlanders, delivers himself into the hands of the police to save himself from an instinct to commit wholesale murder. The latter's case is a relic of the war, probably one of shell shock. The two former cases are the result of this fast-moving age in which life is taken at its minimum value. And all three are plain cases of self-protection against psychopathic diseases rather than mental aberration.

The two incidents of the older men demonstrate how they sought self-protection to a cure which was worse than the disease, taking self-extinction for a better alternative than continuation of life in a diseased form. Without consulting their fellow-men they secure relief in self-destruction where they might have found a remedy in forgetfulness, induced by artificial means, which would have tided them over their period of misery, magnified by continuous brooding over their troubles. For such cases the psychopathic hospitals are the modern haven of refuge. Lack of information regarding such institutions was probably at the bottom of their hasty resolutions.

The younger man hastens to the police court to protect himself against violence committed on others, a potentiality which asserted itself as his psychic disturbance assumed stronger symptoms and developed, a stage which made him doubt his own strength to combat homicidal impulse. He presented himself at the desk of the police sergeant; but had he known of the existence of a psychopathic hospital he would have reported there for treatment without seeking a remedy at the hands of the police, which is the last resort a homicidal maniac would seek. Few men in his condition would have had the courage to think of such a method of self-protection.

In an age when the old remedy suggested by religion has lost its appeal to many, modern relief is substituted to meet incidents which used to be classed under spiritual jurisdiction, and a wider publicity seems in order. Spiritual directors are replaced by the modern tendency of self-reliance. Without recourse, when this psychological virtue fails, the substitute is not equivalent to the former element which it replaced, unless the man in the street knows where to go in the event that his self-reliance breaks under the thousand and one strains on his mental capacity, which is thereby laid low. There is a church at every corner, but psychopathic hospitals are scarce and far between. Not one person in a hundred knows where to find one, even if he is aware of their existence. Promulgation of that knowledge should be made adequate to the growing demand for its use. This is amply demonstrated by the three cases above related and which were reported in one issue of The Times.

GEN. MILES AND "LA

BY E. A. BRININSTOOL

Undoubtedly the "closest call" ever experienced Nelson A. Miles in any of his Indian campaigns was on the 7, 1877, in approaching and demanding the surrender of camp of Lame Deer, who, with some sixty lodges of Minneconjou Sioux, was camped on a tributary of the Tongue River, to the whites as the "Big Muddy" (not the Missouri) or Horse Creek" by the Indians.

The greater portion of the hostiles under Two Moons, White Bull, Hump, Horse Road, Crazy Horse, Little Big Man and others had surrendered, but Lame Deer's band declared they would never surrender, but would roam where they pleased, despite the orders of the Great Father at Washington. Lame Deer himself had been admonished that, unless he surrendered, troops would take the field against him and bring him in. The chief scorned this warning, declaring that he had a bunch of keen-eyed scouts who would see that no white man, civilian or soldier, could come in close proximity to his camp or capture his band.

On the 2nd of May, 1877, Gen. Miles, with four troops of the Second Cavalry, two companies of the Fifth Infantry and four companies of the Twenty-second Infantry, together with a number of Indian scouts from the ranks of the lately-surrendered hostiles, started out to bring Lame Deer in.

The hostiles who had surrendered were greatly incensed because Lame Deer's band refused to come in with the others, knowing that his depredations would be laid up against those of the tribe who were disposed to remain at peace. Therefore, it was an easy matter for Gen. Miles to induce three of the leading hostile chiefs to accompany his command as scouts and trailers to locate the position of Lame Deer's village.

Starting up Tongue River, Miles's command marched sixty-three miles and located the trail of Lame Deer's band, where he had moved west toward the Rosebud about the middle of April.

Well knowing that some of Lame Deer's scouts would be watching for the troops to come out after them, Miles apparently paid no attention to this trail, but marched on, as if going into camp for the night on Tongue River.

But, with the coming of darkness, the command left its wagon train under an escort and marched directly west as straight across the country as it was possible to go, a distance of some thirty miles, to a high divide between the Rosebud and Big Horn rivers, known as a spur of the Wolf (or Cheetish) Mountains.

The command was here concealed, and at daylight orders were given for the troops to remain under cover while scouts were sent out to reconnoiter the country. The trail of Lame Deer's band was quickly located, apparently but a few days old. Following this, and using the utmost skill and caution, the Indian village was located about fifteen miles distant.

When this information was brought to the attention of Gen. Miles nothing could be detected by the troops or officers which would indicate the presence of the hostiles. The Indian scouts, however, declared they could observe smoke clouds hanging over the village. After scanning the horizon closely through his field glasses, Gen. Miles came to the conclusion that the scouts were correct.

But the next question was to approach the camp without being detected. To move against it in daylight was out of the question. The hostiles would "spot" the troops long before they could get within fighting range and decamp in haste. The command, therefore, remained where it was until after dark, then advanced slowly, going up and down the ravines, all the time remaining under cover of the hills so as to preclude discovery.

In this manner, the troops were brought to a point within about eight miles of the village, where they remained until about 1 o'clock in the morning quietly resting. Then the advance was resumed to the valley of the Rosebud, and about 4 o'clock, just as dawn was breaking, the command was in close proximity to Lame Deer's village.

Lieuts. Casey and Jerome, with the mounted infantry and scouts, were ordered to charge directly up the valley and stampede the pony herd, while the cavalry were to follow at full gallop and attack the camp.

Casey and Jerome carried out their orders to the letter, about 450 mules and ponies being captured and driven some five miles up the valley, where they were rounded up, and by a long circuit were brought around in the rear of the command while it was attacking the village.

At the first firing the hostiles "waited not upon the order of their going," but fled, taking refuge in the high bluffs and hills in that vicinity. Some sharp skirmishing took place during this fight, in which four troopers were killed, one officer and six soldiers wounded and fourteen Indians slain.

Before making this attack Gen. Miles instructed the Sioux and Cheyenne scouts with his command to call out in a loud tone to the Lame Deer Indians that if they would throw down their weapons and surrender their lives would be spared. In the excitement of the charge a small detachment of the hostiles became separated from the others. Gen. Miles was anxious to capture as many of the Indians alive as possible, hoping thereby to secure the surrender of the remainder. With some of his staff he galloped up to this small group of warriors, who at once dropped their rifles to the ground. Chief Lame Deer was with this small band. Gen. Miles called out "How, cola" (friend) to Lame Deer and extended his hand to the chief, which the latter grasped, with every indication of friendship and willingness to surrender.

But at that moment "somebody blundered." Gen. Miles's orderly was just shaking hands with Iron Star, a subchief of Lame Deer, when a white scout with the command came rushing forward, threw his rifle to his shoulder and pointed it at Lame Deer—a most indiscreet move. SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the delightfully planned affairs of the past week was the tea and luncheon with which Theodore Leroy Grabe entertained Saturday afternoon at her home, 445 South Oxford avenue. Those included were Miss [illegible] Miss Sara Lee Andrews, Miss Gladys Wetherby, Mrs. Paul Clendenning Ferrell, Mrs. Ruth McCoy, Mrs. Frank Mrs. George, Ralph Marshall, Mrs. Archibald Macleish and Miss Woolwine. This is the [illegible] of bridge luncheons with which Mrs. Grabe is entertaining this season.

Garden Dance

Mrs. Albert Sherman Hoyt is planning one of the most attractive affairs of the early summer at her charming home, Hillcrest, in Pasadena, when June 6 she is giving a garden dance in honor of Miss Marion Wigmore and her fiance, Frank Simpson, and Miss Dorothy Gray and her fiance, Thaddeus Libby Up De Graff, whose weddings will be events of the near future.

Fifty invitations have been issued, the guests including members of the two bridal parties, a few close friends of the honorees and members of their families. There will be dancing in the flower gardens and a buffet supper will be served at midnight. Mrs. Hoyt will be assisted in receiving by Miss Gray, Miss Wigmore, Mr. Simpson, Mr. Up De Graff and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Everett Griswold (Blossom Hoyt.)

For Bride-elect

Mrs. Harry H. Culver entertained Wednesday evening at a delightfully planned dinner party and bridge at her home in Culver City, in honor of Miss Ruth M. Shillito, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Shillito, whose wedding with Joseph Leslie Gilbert of Waynesboro, Pa., will be one of the events of June 4.

The decorations and favors were in shades of pink and white, and the candle-lighted dinner table was centered by a silver basket filled with pink blossoms, tied with tulle streamers from which small gold hearts fluttered.

The guests included Miss Gladys Cakebell, Miss Myra Williams, Miss Mary Slater, Miss Thelma Ochel-tree, Miss Marue Duce, Miss Evelyn Williams, Miss Frances Mikesell, Miss Helene Barnett, Miss Hinda Means, Mrs. Harvey Berne, Mrs. Earle S. Eastham, Mrs. Herbert Nathan, the hostess and guest of honor.

Visiting Here

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kloeris of St. Louis, Mo., are making an extended visit through Southern California, and while in Los Angeles are guests at the Hotel Rosslyn. Mr. and Mrs. Kloeris are great friends of Mr. and Mrs. Reinard P. Mollmen of 1162 West One Hundred and Seventh street, who are planning many pleasures in their honor.

Returning Home

Mrs. Warren T. Flynn will return to her home in Coffeyville, Kan., Wednesday, after having passed a month visiting with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Beckman, of 1345 West One Hundred and Thirty-second street, and other relatives and friends in the Southland.

Honolulu Tour

Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Fasig of 2121 North Broadway left Saturday morning aboard the City of Los Angeles for Honolulu, where they will visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Lieut. and Mrs. A. L. Karns, and their four attractive kiddies, Dorothy, Jean, Mildred and Sally Karns. Lieut. Karns is stationed with the Navy at Pearl Harbor, and Dr. and Mrs. Fasig are planning a month or six weeks' visit. Mrs. Karns was formerly Miss Charity Eugenia Fasig and was graduated from the Girls' Collegiate, her wedding with the young naval officer taking place in 1916.

Southern Supper

Among the charmingly appointed affairs of last week was the southern supper with which Miss Sara Louise Rodes, daughter of Mrs. Tyree Rodes, of the Priscilla Apartments in Bonnie Brae street, entertained Tuesday evening bridge following. Those included were: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Trowbridge, Dr. and Mrs. Norton Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Christian, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Burroughs, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Willey, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Llewellyn, Mr. and Mrs. James Cheek, Mrs. Frank Fite of Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. George McComb Fast, Miss Madelein Purdon, Miss Margaret Duncan, Miss Frances Hanson, Ronald Macdonald, Tom Sexton, Lewis Leigh, Francis Opelt, Dow Witherspoon and Wyndham Medcraft.

Home Again

Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Chamberlain of 645 West Fifteenth street, are at home again after seven months' trip to New Zealand and the Islands of the Pacific. Mrs. Frank Hope of 4717 Elmwood avenue entertained Thursday evening in honor of their return.

Home Wedding

One of the pretty affairs of Saturday afternoon was the wedding of Miss Margaret Klauber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ernest Klauber, and Charles E. Fredericks, Jr., the ceremony taking place at 4 o'clock at the family residence in New Hampshire avenue. Father Blackwell officiating. The rooms were beautifully decorated with a profusion of gladioli, delphinium and fragrant Scotch Broom branches. Mr. Klauber gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride wore a becoming ensemble suit of henna-colored silk, with trimmings of cocoa fox fur, a henna hat to match, and she carried white orchids and lilies of the valley. Miss Bertie Strawser was the only attendant, in a grey ensemble suit and hat to match, and she carried an armful of pink roses and maidenhair ferns. James Smith, Jr., served Mr. Fredericks as best man. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served and later Mr. and Mrs. Fredericks left in their automobile for a ten days' honeymoon trip in the north, after which they will be at home to their many friends at 538 Carondelet street.

Honor Bride-Elect

Miss Evelyn Warren Payne, niece of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Clark of Hollywood, whose marriage to Braven Dyer will be one of the events of June, was the honor guest at two charmingly arranged showers recently. Miss Payne is a student at Pomona College and the hostesses were Miss Eleanor Embree of Pomona and Miss Mary Ogden McKenna of Ontario, the former giving a miscellaneous shower and the latter a pillow shower.

At Arrowhead Hot Springs

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin L. Frank of the Ambassador have been sojourning for several days at Arrowhead Hot Springs, entertaining as their guests Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jerome of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cummings and their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cummings have also been sojourning at Arrowhead for a number of days.

Among others of note who have been guests at the well-known watering resort during the last few days, are included: Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Off and son; Mrs. J. W. McKinley, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Wills, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Noll, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Mayberg.

TO AWARD MEDALS TO YOUNG HEROES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) May 24. The San Antonio Child Welfare and Humane Society has announced plans to award medals for heroism to George Gilmore, 12 years of age, and Billy Lucy, 12, who rescued a boy companion from drowning.

The two lads dragged Jimmie Childs, 10, from the depths of Arbor Beach, and by resuscitation treatment restored him to consciousness. Then saw his body under the water and dived for it, bringing it to the surface.

EDUCATION BY MAIL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OTTAWA, May 24. — To bring education to children in remote frontier settlements of the Province of Saskatchewan, the Outpost Correspondence School has been organized by the Provincial Department of Education. The course covers work from grades 1 to 8, inclusive. Some of the children thus taught live more than twenty-five miles from an organized school.

The Woman and Her Job

By Mercedes Leigh

(Questions concerning the problems of women will be answered in this column if addressed to Mrs. Watrous at The Times.)

"IT NEVER PAYS TO ARGUFY"

Yesterday was a hurried one. So many things to do; so little time for their accomplishment. A half dozen places to be visited in one sma' hour.

"And, please, stop and get my uniform. I must have it for tomorrow . . . and go there first, before they have time to do it up in a postage-stamp package." This was called after me as I hurried clickingly toward the trolley. Wouldn't it be nice if they could invent a shoe-heel without nails?

I stopped for the uniform. Dismayed to find it already folded into a package of small dimensions, I was so foolish as to put my regret into words.

"Oh, I'd hoped to get here before you wrapped it. Now it will have to be pressed. If you'll give me an indelible pencil I'll write you a check."

"It can't possibly be wrinkled," the young woman informed me acidly.

"If you will give me a pencil, please . . ."

"I'll just prove to you that you're wrong. I've done up thousands of these uniforms, and I never had a complaint of any kind about them being wrinkled."

"It's $6, isn't it? If you'll just give me a pencil I'll write you a check."

"I want you to look at this and see for yourself," the saleswoman insisted, wasting my precious minutes by untying the uniform and spreading it out.

"I've no time to discuss the matter. I only know there will be folds in that dress when it is tied in a thin paper wrapper. I'm not going directly home. But if you'll give me the pencil I'll write your check . . ." She still had several things that she wanted to say on the subject.

"If you'd be reasonable and look at this uniform you'd see that there isn't a wrinkle in it," she said, picking up the dress and laying it down on my opened check book. I prayed for patience.

There ought to be an open season for women of that type. Since they kill the customers it's only fair to return the compliment.

I had noticed a smart blue linen dress as I entered. Another day I would return . . . I needed just such a dress.

Since my silence was at last interpreted as acquiescence, this efficient saleswoman at last handed me an indelible pencil and I wrote the check.

But while she refolded the garment, tied it up in the same wrapper as before, she continued to assure me this was the first time any one had ever complained. It will be the last time . . . for me.

Seizing my package I hurried away recalling my smiling colored laundress down in Texas:

"Yo're right, lady. I never argufies wid nobody. Ef you doan laik de way dat dress is stach'ed, I'm neveh do it dat way no mo'e. I tells you, it neveh pays to argufy."

I doubt if she ever had heard an efficiency expert declare: "The customer is always right." Neither had the saleswoman!

Dear Thelma: Don't look on school teaching as readin', ritin' and 'rithmetic. It's so very much more than that these days. There is the delightful field for applied arts, which embraces everything from millinery to interior decoration. I'm going to write you personally as soon as I find time.

Dear F. E. B.: The efficiency in management article about which you write did not apply to the organization mentioned. I trust this will set at rest any discussion it may have caused.

LAMB HASH

Heat four tablespoonfuls of butter in a saute pan, add one chopped onion and two seeded chopped green peppers; simmer slowly until the onion and peppers are soft, add three or four cupfuls of cooked lamb cut in small dice, one and a half cupfuls of chopped, cold boiled potatoes, one cupful of beef or other meat stock, four pimientos cut in small dice and a seasoning of salt and pepper. Cover the pan, set in the oven and simmer slowly for three-quarters of an hour. Turn out on a hot platter, sprinkle with chopped parsley and garnish with points of toast.

GENOESE PASTRY

Set a bowl in warm water, not hot; add two eggs and two-thirds of a cupful of sifted confectioners' XXXX sugar; beat hard for two minutes, add an egg, beat well for one minute, add another egg and beat until the mixture is warm; remove from the warm water and beat until the mixture is cold; work in slightly one scant cupful of sifted pastry flour, add four tablespoonfuls of hot melted butter and half a teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Bake in two thin layers in two buttered and floured layer cake tins in a quick oven, about twelve minutes. Turn on a wire cake rack, cool, place layer on a serving dish, spread with apricot jam, cover with the other layer and spread over the top and sides and a good chocolate icing.

PEANUT BISQUE

Remove the brown husks from two cupfuls of peanuts, run through the fine knife of the meat chopper, place in a two-quart saucepan, add one quart of milk or chicken stock and simmer slowly until the peanuts are tender; rub all through a sieve into a clean saucepan, add two tablespoonfuls of beef juice or enough pink color to tint and a seasoning of salt and paprika. Reheat and serve with toasted peanut crackers.

BOILED TONGUE, SPANISH

Cover a cleaned beef tongue with hot water, bring to a boil and boil one hour; drain, trim the roots and remove the skin by plunging into cold water; place in a saucepan, cover with boiling water, add one bay leaf, two branches of parsley, one onion stuck with two whole cloves, one carrot and a blade of mace; cover, and simmer until tender, about two hours. Drain, place on a platter, slice crosswise and pour over Spanish sauce.

SPANISH SAUCE

Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add one finely sliced onion and two seeded and chopped green peppers; stir and fry until the onion is lightly browned; add six peeled and chopped tomatoes, one tablespoonful of Spanish seasoning and half a teaspoonful of salt. Simmer slowly forty-five minutes.

Diet and Health

Is Saccharin Harmful? Is Honey Non-Fattening?

Diabetic and overweight patients are as a rule very fond of sweets, and the excess indulgence in them is one of the causes of their afflictions. In the treatment of these conditions, sweets have to be cut down, or out entirely, depending upon the degree of the disease. The longing for the sweets, however, is so intense that saccharin, a coal-tar product, 200 to 300 times sweeter than sugar, but having no food value, is sometimes used.

Will any harm result from its use?

The referee board of the Department of Agriculture conducted an investigation on the effect on the health by the use of saccharin and it was found that its continued use for a long time, in quantities over four grains a day, would cause digestive disturbances. The board holds any commercial food sweetened with saccharin as adulterated, because the saccharin is used as a substitute for sugar, which has food value.

Kellogg states that Prof. Heitler, the well-known authority on heart disease, conducted some researches which show that saccharin does depress the heart. So if it is used, the quantity should be strictly limited.

Dr. Allen, a diabetic specialist, states that in small quantities, say up to two grains or so a day, he has not found it harmful to his patients.

It is very much wiser for both diabetic and obese patients to learn to like their beverages unsweetened and to lessen their desire for sweets in all ways. This can be done if they abstain from them long enough. The desire for sweets is a habit which becomes more fixed with every indulgence.

If saccharin is used, it is advisable to use very little. One-quarter of a grain will make a cup of any beverage quite sweet. I advise you, if you do use it, not to use more than a grain a day, and to stop its use perhaps entirely for a few days every month. If there is any heart weakness, it is advisable not to use it at all, unless, of course, you are under the supervision of a competent physician.

Granulated sugar is made mostly from sugar cane and from beets. It is a highly refined product and utterly devoid of mineral elements and vitamins. It is solely an energy food and is good as an energy food in moderate amounts.

Excess candy and dessert eaters may be on the borderline of diabetes. While the urine may not show sugar, the blood will show a larger percentage than normally. The blood has a normal range of .06 per cent to .12 per cent of sugar. In the prediabetic and the diabetic it runs much higher. There are other disorders besides diabetes and obesity in which sugar should be avoided; all forms of gastric disease, gastric and duodenal ulcer, hyperacidity and gallbladder disease—are among these.

At the close of the Revolutionary War, the annual per capita consumption of sugar was seven and one-half pounds, and now it is around 100. We use more sugar than any other nation in the world, and our diabetes cases are increasing markedly.

Malt sugar is a sugar that is made from germinated and malted grains. It has lime, iron and vitamins. It is the sugar that is used extensively in infant feeding and is usually found to agree with the babies much better than the cane. It is also taken by those who cannot take cane sugar without suffering from gas and fermentation.

Honey is a natural sweet which also contains vitamins and mineral elements. A greater consumption of honey with a corresponding lessening of the cane sugar, is desirable.

Honey has food value. I recently read of an interview given by an actress who was reducing, and she stated she was taking honey instead of sugar because it had no food value and therefore was not fattening! She is mistaken, a rounding tablespoonful of honey is 100 calories, and 100 calories of any food, if it is in excess of your needs, theoretically and practically, deposits one-fortieth of a pound of fat, if you are inclined to put on fat.

Judge May Say Today if Jury Gets Oil Ledger

United States Judge James is expected to render a decision today on the motion filed by the Invader Oil Corporation of Muskogee, Okla., and the Owen Wood Oil Corporation of Ft. Worth, Tex., that the ledger of the latter corporation is not material evidence and should not be submitted to the Federal grand jury for examination.

Bert Wood, trustee of 7000 pounds of records of the two oil companies and nine of their subsidiaries, has refused to permit the grand jury to examine the ledger, though all other records have been open to inspection.

It is asserted by Federal officials that the Invader group, doing approximately $125,000,000 worth of business yearly, has mulcted investors in Southern California and elsewhere of nearly $20,000,000. The oil companies were ordered to produce their books in Los Angeles after two days of hearing to quash the government's demand for the books on the grounds that the request was "to broad and sweeping."

Duofold Pen and Lacquer-red Duofold Pencil to Match

Satin-lined Gift Case De Luxe Included

MEN have long wondered why writing made their hands tired; and Geo. S. Parker has answered the question by removing the cause. First came Parker's Over-size Duofold Pen with its easy, full-handed grip, and fatigue disappeared.

So demand arose for the same full grip in a Pencil too. Parker responded with the Over-size Duofold Pencil—the team-mate of Duofold Pen. These two writing classics end the old crampy tired feeling that comes from writing with a pen and pencil too small around for a man-size hand.

At Gift-time send friends and loved ones this Duofold Duette—Pen with 25-year guaranteed point—Pencil with Non-Clog Propeller that turns lead OUT and IN.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

SPEED IS URGED IN WATER TEST

Early Imperial Irrigation Action Requested

Colorado River Moisture Question at Issue

Old Law on Priority Use to be Invoked

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, May 24.—Imperial Irrigation District officials are urging an early filing of actions in the Federal Courts to establish asserted prior rights of the Imperial Valley to Colorado River water, since announcement has been made of a scarcity of moisture in the river water shed through Colorado, Nevada and Arizona. Attorneys for the irrigation district have been working on the proposed cases for some time and it is expected they will be ready for filing in the next few weeks.

"The use of the Colorado River water by various new irrigation projects is to be attacked by the Imperial Irrigation District shortly," asserted Chairman Earl C. Thund, when he was shown the recent report of James H. Gordon, government meteorologist at the weather observation station at Yuma, who stated that unless summer rains relieved the situation, the flow of the Colorado will be exceedingly slight by September.

Irrigation district officials and attorneys express the belief that actual damage to crops last fall resulting from lack of water in the Colorado River because of heavy appropriations by new districts further up stream has given the district a strong cause of action against the new districts to establish the prior rights of the Imperial Valley to the water.

It will be necessary to file actions in the Federal Courts in each of the States where the question of the valley's prior rights is raised and it is considered probable that at least five and possibly six suits will be required. It is the purpose of the irrigation district to carry the suits through to the Supreme Court if necessary in order to get the valley's water rights finally established.

The actions will be based on the old common-law rule that prior use of water gives the user a title to its use that is stronger than those who appropriate at later dates.

RICKABY MEMORIAL SERVICES MONDAY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CLAREMONT, May 24.—The memorial service for Franz Rickaby, assistant professor of English at Pomona College, who died of heart disease the 18th inst., will be held in Bridges Hall of Music at 11:15 Monday morning.

Prof. Rickaby was popular on the campus due to his many pleasant contacts with students through his work in the field of dramatics, and with the surrounding community through his delightful lecture-recitals on American balladry.

Survived by a widow and small son, Mr. Rickaby leaves also a number of important contributions to the world of letters and a clearly defined career which has shown consistent promise.

Graduating in 1916, a B.A. from Knox College, Mr. Rickaby took his M.A. at Harvard in 1917, later assuming an assistant professorship at University of North Dakota where for six years he administered courses in drama and composition. He came to Pomona College in 1923 as a member of the English faculty and while here his courses in these subjects have proven both popular and successful.

LIONS TO GATHER IN SAN DIEGO TUESDAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, May 24. — The sixth annual convention of the Fourth District of Lions' Clubs, comprising California, Nevada and Hawaii, will open here Tuesday morning in the Civic Auditorium, continuing for three days.

Lions and Lionesses from more than seventy cities are expected to attend the sessions. An elaborate program of entertainment has been arranged for the women, including golf tourneys, teas and a banquet.

The convention will come to a close with a dinner at which covers will be laid for nearly 2000 persons.

LEWIS TO LOSE PAPER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, May 24.—With instructions from Referee W. P. Butcher, Jr., to appraise the plant of the Atascadero News before starting work on other assets of E. G. Lewis, bankrupt promoter, the three special appraisers will start work early this week.

Butcher has given Lewis' orders to surrender the newspaper plant to Trustee A. L. Rutherford as soon as it is inventoried, and he asserts that it will be the first item of the assets to be sold to the highest bidder.

The action is taken as an indication that the continued publication of the paper by Lewis is unsatisfactory to the referee and creditors. Complaints are known to have been made and Butcher told Lewis in public to "step down and out." According to Attorney Oscar Willett, the paper has been used to communicate with the creditors, saving the bankruptcy official much money. Butcher, however, is firm in his demand that the Atascadero paper still under the management of Lewis, cease to be the organ for broadcasting appeals to creditors.

The appraisers named by Butcher are J. W. Smith and J. S. Bullis of Santa Barbara, and Ernest Voltner, Salinas.

SNAKE FIGHT PLANNED AT WOODLAKE

Combat of Reptiles to be Special Feature of Day of Sports, May 31

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WOODLAKE, May 24.—Believed to be the first time such an event has been arranged for benefit of the public, the battle between two of the most venomous snakes to be found in the region, as a special feature of the day of sports being planned for the 31st inst., by people of Badger district, near here, is expected to attract unusual attention.

A king snake and a rattlesnake, recognized bitter foes of the animal kingdom, will be pitted against each other. The king snake always wins in the end, according to the best authorities, but the fight is said to sometimes last two days. This will be the first time in many years such a fight has been arranged by man here and it is thought it will be the first time it has been planned for a public event.

Rodeo sports, horse racing, boxing and wrestling are also on the program.

Thirty Men Pay Large Sum Each in Forming Club

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, May 24.—Officers and eleven directors were chosen at a meeting of the thirty pledged life members of the proposed Lankershim athletic organization that is planning a recreation center on the Bonner Fruit Company's eight-acre tract just west of the Southern Pacific depot. Each of the thirty members has agreed to pay $1000 for a life membership in the organization. The $30,000 will be used to purchase the site. The directors are George Williamson, F. W. Hicks, C. N. Carns, J. W. Deupree, Howard Seeley, V. J. Albers, George Taylor, William Klumpp, F. W. Weddington, John Ilic and R. W. Blanchard. Weddington was elected president, Hicks, vice-president; Taylor, secretary, and Albers, treasurer.

It is planned to have 300 ordinary members at $200 each. Plans for the clubhouse call for an expenditure of about $25,000. The prospectus of the new club states that an effort will be made to organize and conduct it on the plan that has made the Hollywood Athletic Club a success socially and financially.

As the site is near the business center of the Lankershim townsite and adjoins the proposed municipal park on the east, it is regarded as ideal for the purpose outlined. The many shade trees on the athletic grounds lend themselves to the artistic development of the creation center idea.

Advertising of Tulare County Being Planned

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, May 24.—Cities of Tulare county are being urged to unite in a general welcome to the thousands of people, who will tour California, before and after the Shriners' convention in Los Angeles next month and at the same time call their attention to the wonderlands of the High Sierras, which lie in the eastern section of the county. It is believed this will be done through attractive road banners and signs which will be erected at appropriate points between Delano, the Kern-Tulare county border, and Kingsburg to the north and along the eastside highway.

CALIPATRIA COURT INCOME REPORTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALIPATRIA, May 24. — Nearly $5000 has been collected in City Recorder Myers's court since the opening of the fiscal year. The exact amount shon in a report by the Recorder to the City Trustees is $4738.50. It is believed the total for the fiscal year will exceed $5000. Recorder Myers is also in charge of the collection of city taxes. His report shows that $20,543.25 was collected during the last tax year, and the amount on hand in the various funds is $19,871.44.

WHOLESALE ARRESTS LOOM

Ontario Declares War on Train Crews Which Persist In Using Locomotive Whistles

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ONTARIO, May 24.—Wholesale arrests of Union Pacific and Southern Pacific locomotive crews unless promiscuous violation of Ontario's antiwhistling law is stopped was foreseen as a result of the action of the City Council in directing City Clerk Wynn to notify representatives of the two roads that compliance with the city ordinance is expected.

When a number of trainmen of both lines were arrested here some time ago for violation of the ordinance which makes it a misdemeanor to sound a locomotive whistle for signals within Ontario's corporate limits, officials of both roads gave assurance to City Attorney T. H. Jolliffe and members of the City Council that if the cases against their employees were not pushed they would guarantee a strict compliance with the law in the future.

The Southern Pacific some years ago installed here an automatic signaling device, which mages signal whistling unnecessary and Union Pacific officials promised to follow suit with assurance that their enginemen would be directed to soft pedal the whistling until the installation was completed.

For several weeks after the conference between railroad and city officials there was a marked improvement, but in recent weeks locomotive crews of both lines have apparently become so careless that the whistling nuisance here has become acute. Hotel, apartment and rooming-house proprietors declare that their business is seriously hurt and invalids and residents generally have appealed to the City Council for relief from the annoyance of the shrieking whistles particularly during the night hours.

Rains to Cause Replanting of Acres of Beans

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

RESEDA, May 24.—Checking up on the possible damage done by the rains in San Fernando Valley within the last two or three days, it is learned through farmers and ranchers that much of the baby lima bean acreage will have to be replanted.

According to J. H. Walters, manager of the Van Nuys and Owensmouth Bean Growers' Association, with headquarters at Reseda, probably 1500 acres will have to be sowed again. Most of this acreage is north of Zelzah where there was a heavy precipitation.

Only a few acres had been planted in the Van Nuys territory and not many of them will have to be replanted, Mr. Walters states. He estimates that probably 3000 acres of baby lima beans had been planted in the valley before the rains.

The association has on hand sufficient seed for members to use in replanting. Barring the expense and extra labor in the replanting of the damaged acreage, Walters sees prospects for a good bean crop in the valley this year. When all planting is completed there will be approximately 12,000 acres under cultivation.

RAILROAD FIGHTING FOR RIGHT OF WAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 24.—Asking an injunction to prevent Kern county from occupying their right of way and a debarring of the county and city of Bakersfield from land which they claim as their own, representatives of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company have filed county complaints against Kern county and the city of Bakersfield to quit title to right-of-way strips. In the prayer for judgment the railroad company also asks for a restoration of legal possession to the title involved. So much property is involved in the litigation that it would require at least three columns of newspaper space to detail it as eighteen pages of legal foolscap is required to designate the property in the formal complaints now on file with the County Clerk. The railroad company asserts that the land in litigation was granted for rights of way by an act of Congress of 1866.

BOY SAVED AFTER IMITATING OSTRICH

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

PASADENA, May 24.—Extracting a coin from the passage leading to the right lung, Dr. George McCoy of the California Hospital, Los Angeles, probably saved the life of 5-year-old Leon Wylie Horn, son of Oscar L. Young, 1956 North Los Robles avenue. The lad swallowed a nickel when he placed it in his mouth during a friendly altercation with his brother. This is not the first time the boy has displayed ostrich-like tendencies, according to his father. When a baby, he swallowed a ring and a year or two later a penny. He said today that hereafter his son will be allowed nothing but large-sized cannon balls for toys.

FIRE MARSHAL OUT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH GATE, May 24. — The City Trustees of South Gate have declared the office of City Fire Marshal vacant. The position has been held for the past year or more by E. H. McCormick.

VAN NUYS IS PLANNING FOR MUNICIPAL BAND

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, May 24.—The first of the concerts to be given by the Van Nuys band, under the direction of H. L. Fiscus, band instructor at the Van Nuys High School, will take place Tuesday night, on the band stand plaza opposite the Van Nuys branch of the City Hall. New seats have been erected for the accommodation of the large crowds that will attend the concerts during the summer season. J. W. Praiswater has been made business manager of the band organization. It is understood that a move is to be made here to turn the present band into a municipal organization to be supported by the means of the borough system of taxation. The plan will be handled by one of the local civic clubs.

REDLANDS CLASS IN REALTY TO GRADUATE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, May 24.—The Redlands real estate class, the largest in the south to be graduated from the extension course of the University of Southern California, excepting only the Los Angeles class, will be graduated at the Contemporary Clubhouse here on Monday night. Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, president of the university, will deliver an address and also the diplomas to the graduates. A. E. Brock, Assemblyman, and Harrison Lewis, president of the California Real Estate Association, will also speak. The course in real estate practice was taken by about fifty men and women of Redlands.

REDLANDS WILL AID MUSIC ASSOCIATION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, May 24.—Following a discussion that became quite acrimonious at times, regarding the right of the City Trustees to make gifts of the taxpayers' money for the purpose of carrying on concerts in the "bowl" in Library Park, the Trustees voted $2100 to be used in purchasing the piano for the Community Music Association which provides the concerts, in building a house for it at the park to cost $300 and in providing $200 a month for four months for carrying on the work.

FRIENDS SAY HEAVY SEAS KILL YOUTH

Los Angeles Youth Drops From Sight of Friends at Crystal Beach

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, May 24.—William Blessington, 20 years of age, of Los Angeles, who came here early this morning for a swim, is believed to have been drowned in the surf off Crystal Beach, according to reports made to police by his friends.

Blessington, with Ida May Barker and her brother, of 147 West Fifty-ninth street, Los Angeles, were swimming some distance out from the shore line, the latter told police, when they suddenly missed their young friend. They believed he had gone to the bathhouse, but investigation revealed that his clothes were still there. No one is reported to have seen Blessington struggling in the water, and he is believed to have been carried out to sea by a heavy undertow.

Blessington came to Los Angeles two years ago from San Francisco and had been making his home with his sister, Mrs. W. C. Cunningham, of 2503 Ocean View avenue. He was employed at the Cinema Mercantile Company of Hollywood. Besides his sister, he is survived by his father, who is on his way to Los Angeles, and foster mother, Mrs. Belle Edgar, who is critically ill in a Los Angeles sanatorium.

Distribution of Cotton Seed is Proposed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 24.—Five members of the Kern County Farm Bureau to serve as a committee to foster the development of a pure cotton seed distributing organization were elected by directors of the bureau at their regular monthly meeting. The committee is made up of the following men who will appoint two more at their own option: H. S. Jewett, E. F. Kelsey, E. B. Armstrong, J. A. Pauley and E. G. Buerkle.

An unusual feature of the meeting was the demonstration of poultry culling conducted by two high school boys for the benefit of the farm bureau directors. The boys who gave the demonstration are Kenneth Dennen and Arthur Willbanks.

In explaining the best army worm infestation in the Kern Lake district, L. W. Taylor, farm adviser, told the directors that 200 acres of cotton out of 3000 in the district had been destroyed by the worms. Expert advice solicited by the county has resulted in a wholly effective control method, he said, and the seriousness of the situation had been greatly mitigated.

W. B. Camp, in charge of the United States experimental farm at Shafter, resigned from the cotton committee chairmanship. He will be replaced by E. F. Kelsey of Rio Bravo.

BARSTOW CHANGES HIS PLEA TO GUILTY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, May 24.—Suddenly halting preparations for what was expected to be a bitterly fought trial of charges of knowingly making and keeping false accounts as a public officer, George N. Barstow, for many years chief deputy county recorder under his father, R. N. Barstow, changed his plea to guilty, on one of three counts of an indictment. The other three charges were dismissed by Judge Denver S. Church when no opposition was raised by the District Attorney's office. Barstow's indictment hinged upon alleged misappropriation of about $600 of county funds. The defense requested probation and the court granted a review by the probation officer and set June 6 as the time for imposing sentence.

FIGURES SHOW RAPID GROWTH

Crescenta Water Company is Seeking Reorganization

Must Provide New Plans to Serve Enlarged Area

Various Suggestions Made to Make System Adequate

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

TUJUNGA, May 24. — The directors of the Crescenta Mutual Water Company has sent a circular letter to stockholders suggesting a reorganization of the company, as present funds are inadequate to keep up with the rapid development of the territory that the company is required to serve.

The circular states that the ultimate thing to do is to effect a reorganization that will compel all land in the district to carry its share of the development and distribution of water, either by organizing a county water district, by incorporation as a city, by annexing to some existing city or by sale to private ownership.

The directors state there is an adequate supply of water for consumers for this summer and the next succeeding summer, but that after that the water supply cannot be guaranteed to keep pace with the continued growth of the community under present financial arrangement.

Among facts shown in the circular is the increase of water consumers within the last five years. In 1920 the water company served only 158 connections. In April, 1925, there were 960 connections with the possibility of still larger increases in the year to come.

The territory covered in the present field of the company is about 1300 acres, and if this is fully covered with water stock would represent about 4800 shares. Only half of that amount has been issued, the purchasers virtually financing the water company for the benefit of the entire territory, it is pointed out. The amount of capital invested in the company has grown from $16,500 to more than $113,000, with additional funds now urgently needed for further development.

The method of reorganization as suggested by directors, does not include an irrigation district as adopted by La Canada. La Canada started to organize an irrigation district about two years ago and is yet to reach the point of calling an election to vote bonds for further water development. The county water district recommended is comparatively a new plan and is planned along the lines of the county fire districts.

In closing the statements in the circular, a new schedule of water rates to become effective June 5 is announced.

Radio Day at Orange Show New Feature

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ANAHEIM, May 24.—Radio day with the appearance on the entertainment stage of many of the artists whose voices have long been familiar to KHJ radio fans will be one of the features of today's program at the fifth annual California Valencia orange show now in progress at Anaheim.

Added atmosphere has been given the radio-day program through the installation of an elaborate system of public address amplifiers connected with a standard studio microphone over which all numbers will be announced by Freeman Lang, long familiar to KHJ radio devotees, with the result that visitors to the Anaheim orange show will both see and hear their favorites and will hear them through the medium with which they have become familiar.

Yesterday at the orange show was tourist day and so far exceeded the expectations of Director-General Herman Stern in the volume of attendance it brought that he announced last night that every previous record of the five years had been smashed and new records hung up for future striving. Tomorrow will be civic club day, devoted to the civic organizations from all parts of the Southland.

WOMEN FAVORED IN BOOTLEGGERS' COURT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, May 24.—At least half of the people accused or convicted of bootlegging in Kings county of late have been women with one or more children. When convicted, they get off with lighter fines because of being mothers. One woman from Fresno was caught with ten gallons of brandy and her small son in an automobile in this city. She pleaded guilty and got off with a $750 fine, which her husband paid. Yesterday a ranch near Lemoore was raided and another woman who has several small children was arrested for possession of liquor and a still found on the premises. Late last night in this city a man and wife were netted by prohibition officers working out of the District Attorney's office for selling liquor. The family have been receiving county aid as indigents. The woman was permitted to go on her own recognizance owing to her having four small children.

GOVERNOR INVITED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, May 24.—Special invitation has been extended to Gov. Richardson from the Visalia Chamber of Commerce to be honor guest of the city of Visalia on the 28th inst. That day marks formal opening of the Sequoia and General Grand National parks and the lodges and concessions therein in preparation for the summer season. Should the Governor accept this invitation he will be taken for a visit to the parks and given a chance to see the scenic glories of the wonderland of the Sierras.

CALIPATRIA BOND ISSUE DISCUSSED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALIPATRIA, May 24.—Residents of Calipatria are discussing the question of again voting on a proposed bond issue for the improvement and extension of the water system here. Several months ago a bond issue of $50,000 was turned down at a special election and the need for a better water system than the one now in use has revived interest in another bond issue.

The vote against the proposed issue was considered a sufficient barometer to the feelings of the Calipatria residents that the city trustees have shown little interest in any plan to resubmit a proposition of the kind to voters. It is the general feeling among the Trustees that if another water bond proposition is to come up this year it must be done at the urgent request of the taxpayers themselves and not originate with the Trustees.

In explanation of the main reason for defeating the bond issue last November, it was asserted that the manner in which the money was to be expended was not definitely set forth.

Officials and members of the Calipatria Chamber of Commerce plan to bring the water bond question up before a meeting this month with a view to ascertaining the sentiment for or against the plan.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN GABRIEL, May 24. — The little San Gabriel Community church, which has been a storm center of factional strife, culminating Saturday in the filing of a suit by five trustees against the pastor, Rev. E. E. Thompson, Mrs. Thompson and Wilbur Troudy demanding that they make an accounting of funds which were alleged to have been collected for a new building, presented a peaceful appearance today.

The regular morning service was conducted with no outward signs of discord, and although a temporary injunction was issued yesterday to restrain Thompson and the other two defendants from interfering in any way with the church affairs, the order was not served and no attempt was made to prevent the minister from taking charge of the meeting. He made no reference at any time during the service to the legal proceedings which threaten to bar him from the pulpit.

Counter-charges will be filed Monday against the five trustees who instituted the suit in the Superior Court, according to Thompson.

NEW PASADENA HOTEL PLANS COMPLETED

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 24.—Completion of details for the construction of a 257-room hotel adjoining the Bard Theater on East Colorado street have been announced by L. Crones, president of the L. Crones Corporation. The new hotel will be called the "California," and will be six stories in height. It is proposed to build a garage with a capacity of 300 cars in the rear and basement of the building. Elevator service from the garage directly to the hotel floors will be installed. An arcade for exclusive shops will occupy the ground floor. The Crones Corporation paid $1500 per front foot for the property, which has a frontage of 116 feet on Colorado street.

DRUIDS WILL DANCE IN BURBANK STREET

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, May 24.—Hundreds of members of Druid Groves in California will hold their State convention here on June 15 to 18, the scene of sessions to be in the new Druid temple on Magnolia avenue. W. S. Furman is chairman of the large convention committee which will have the entertainment of delegates in charge. Third street between Olive and Orange Grove avenues, has been set apart as an open-air ballroom for the dance that is to be given on the opening night of the convention, permission of the use of the street having been granted by Burbank officials. All streets of Burbank are to be decorated and many decorated signs are being improvised to greet the host of visitors.

Not particularly bad and not particularly good is the modern refurbishing of Harriet Beecher Stowe's stock plot, "My Wife and I," which is providing the entertainment this week at the Forum Theater.

Of course to those who haven't cut their cinema teeth on plots of this nature, it may provide a certain element of novelty and entertainment. Millard Webb, the director, did all he could to make the garnishings as attractive as possible, even to the point at times of overplaying some of his "gags."

A number of good incidents are introduced and from them a thread of plot is developed only to go trailing off into thin air. This might have been in the cutting but it gives to the picture an unfinished appearance. For instance, considerable footage both in action and titles is given to the development of the headache epidemic of the father and to planting the fact that he is near a nervous breakdown and then there's not another allusion to the matter.

The story has been told many times under other titles; the one in which the father supplants his son in the affections of a gold-digger, chiefly because, of course, he has a larger drawing account at the bank. Sonny sulks while daddy plays even right on the night of his twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Mother discovers her husband's infidelity by reading a note on the floor, which she of four people is the only one to notice although it is in plain sight in the middle of the room.

The fireworks begin to go off when the jealous son goes gunning for his unknown rival and the mother chases him to the other woman's apartment. However, a mirror smashed is the only casualty as the father and mother replight their love right then and there on the gold-digger's best rug.

The most natural assumption is that the Warners are running out of more novel means of showing Irene Rich as the deserted, long-suffering wife. Undeniably Miss Rich is appealing and extremely sympathetic in such roles, but many would like to see her natural vivacity given full play now and then.

Huntly Gordon plays the philandering husband in his usual, adequate fashion, while Johnny Harron is a most convincing young son of the idle rich, etc. Constance Bennett mugged a bit too much in some scenes, but is nevertheless a very personable young lady. Others in the cast were John Roche, Tom Ricketts and Claire de Lorez.

Max Fisher with his inimitable orchestra is still rivaling all the features on the bill.

WEBER AND FIELDS IN "FRIENDLY ENEMIES"

With what masterly skill that marvelous stage play, "Friendly Enemies," has been killed! I hardly know a screen murder to equal it. You may go down and view the ruin at the Criterion.

George Melford directed, but there are moments in the film so fine that I think the ruining must have been done in the cutting of the picture. Those shears must have just nipped the life out of the two "Friendly Enemies" and let the life-blood flow.

Cruelest of all, it is in the great scenes, where you are on tip-toe to get the thrill you received when you saw the Shipman-Hoffman naughty nonchalance to the role.

And why, pray, isn't Gertrude Astor a star? What strength and poignancy of emotion she brought to the role of the married woman in love with the philanderer. Here is at least one screen actress who knows the value of tenseness and a straight expression of face in situations of suspense.

A Mack Sennett comedy amuses, and the musical numbers please in a very nice program.

Some Directors Work While the Camera Sleeps

"The last man out of the cutting room"—although he is a director, Jess Robbins of the Hal Roach studios bears this title among his friends. Robbins just completed the making of the second comedy starring Clyde Cook for Hal Roach, a two reeler of confused matrimonial ventures entitled "Mama's New Papa."

Robbins would rather take a half dozen scenes in hand, running the strips over the lighted glass in a cutting room table and figuring their proper cutting down to the last frame, than hunt ducks—and duck hunting is his favorite outdoor "dissipation." Film editors usually like the kind of a director who "putters" around with his raw film, because he doesn't throw all the burden of near-psychic understanding of his purposes upon the cutter's shoulders. At the end of each production Robbins may be seen for several evenings leaving the editorial department at Roach's later than any.

VIRGINIA LEE BREAKS ' INTO THE "HEADLINES"

Virginia Lee Corbin has begun work in a featured role in "Headlines," a newspaper story, which has just gone into production in New York City under the direction of E. H. Griffith. The picture is being made by St. Regis for Associated Producers and Distributors.

This is Virginia's second trip to the eastern city within the last few months, having recently played the ingenue lead in "Lillies of the Streets," an F.B.O. production. She will return to Hollywood at the close of her present picture engagement.

VAMP WELCOMED BACK BY HER FORMER FANS

Since announcement was made that Virginia Pearson has returned to the screen in a featured role in "What Price Beauty," the actress has again begun receiving an imposing stack of fan mail each day.

Miss Pearson has never ceased to receive letters from her public, even though it has been about four years since she was actively engaged in screen roles. Before her retirement, she was one of the screen's most popular vampires, rivaling Theda Bara at one time for first honors.

SCREEN ROLE BRINGS DIANA NEW CONTRACT

Editing and titling of "Everyman's Wife," the new Fox special, which introduces Diana Miller in a "Mrs. Adolph Menjou" role, has been completed. That Miss Miller will share largely in whatever praise may be directed at this picture is the belief of studio officials who have previewed it. It was largely due to her exceptional work in the production that the long-term contract option on her services were taken up recently by Fox.

VAMP MAKES DEBUT IN TWO STUDIOS AT ONCE

Lilyan Tashman, having played in pictures made in every big studio except two, is now making her debut in both of those simultaneously.

In "Seven Days," the Christie feature in which she is playing a featured role, Miss Tashman has scenes that are being made at both Christie and Hollywood studios, in neither of which she has worked previously.

Ober From Screen to Stage

Robert Ober finished his current screen role, the gypsy knife thrower in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Mystic," just the day before he commenced rehearsals for Maud Fulton's new stage play, "The Big Top," which opens soon at the Majestic. Ober will direct "The Big Hop," and play the leading masculine role.

EDWARD LAEMMLE TO FILM OLD STAGE PLAY

"The Still Alarm," from the famous stage melodrama of the same name will go into production for the screen at Universal City June 8, under the direction of Edward Laemmle, according to announcement by Carl Laemmle.

Laemmle has directed such successes as "The Man In Blue," "A Woman's Faith," "Spook Ranch," and many other pictures.

The engineering department at Universal is now busy constructing a whole section of a city which will be razed by the most spectacular fire ever shot for a motion picture.

The story is from the famous stage play by Joseph Arthur and A. C. Wheeler. It was adapted by Harvey O'Higgins.

TITLE THREE COMEDIES

There couldn't possibly be a more descriptive title for the story of an "under dog" of military life, always "unnecessary" and in the way, than "The Fifth Horseman."

That is why the title was chosen for the first Hal Roach comedy starring Clyde Cook under his new contract with Roach. It's that kind of a story. Thomas Buckingham directed, F. Richard Jones supervised, and H. M. Walker titled it.

"Cuckoo Love" is the title chosen for Glenn Tryon's last comedy, directed by Fred Guiol, which has the same leading woman as Cook's comedy—Blanche Mehaffey.

"Boys Will Be Joys," is the title for "Our Gang's" latest desperate adventure, directed by Robert McGowan.

New 'Our Gang' Comedy Started at Hal Roach's

Robert McGowan is preparing another comedy for "Our Gang" following completion of the story of a home-made circus and amusement park in which they have been "playing" for the camera. The last one has been titled "Boys Will be Joys!"—but it is doubted that all parents would have used the last word of the title in circumstances similar to those in the story.

Too Popular in Personal Appearances

Requests for personal appearances for Katherine Grant, blond leading woman and "vamp" type of the Hal Roach Sextet of screen girls, increase persistently in number in spite of the fact that very few Hal Roach stars make personal appearances. It is a rule of the Roach studios that actors and actresses are not compelled to work days and go out to theaters or charity events at night, having some rights to "private life."

But in the face of this, the fact that Miss Grant is one of the best dancers in pictures and has a lovely stage personality keeps the requests coming in. Film people who can do something besides make a brief talk when presented on the stage are the favorite ones for personal appearances.

Odd Letters in Daily Fan Mail Sent to Actors

Surprising at it may seem, after motion pictures have been in existence so long, people write almost preposterous things to screen stars. A few of them of recent date are:

Walter Hiers gets dozens of inquiries from skinny people seeking a way to get fat.

George Melford is constantly being asked to loan would-be actors a thousand or more dollars to start them in motion pictures.

Walter McGrail, screen villain, has been threatened by fanatics who believe his off-screen life is like that he pursues in photoplays.

Hardly a day passes that Huntly Gordon isn't asked whether or not he is related to the maker of the gin that bears his name.

Near Accident is Averted on Film Location

What might have been a tragedy in which many lives would have been lost was averted by Francis Ford, director of the Universal serial, "Perils of the Primitive," while on location at Laguna Beach.

Ford was shooting a scene on an ancient sailing craft and was out more than twelve miles at sea when he discovered two jagged holes in the vessel. The hold of the ship was rapidly filling with water.

The director hailed passing ships, and sent the company back to shore, while the crew brought in the antiquated vessel with great difficulty.

LASKY PLAYERS BUY REPTILE INSURANCE

Reptile insurance has been taken out by Walter McGrail and other members of the Paramount cast locationing in Arizona during the filming of "A Son of His Fathers."

Reptile insurance may sound strange to most folks, but to the Lasky histrions it is something decidedly real, writes McGrail from the ranchhouse of Harold Bell Wright. The abundance of gila monsters, rattlesnakes, scorpions and tarantulas in the vicinity of the author's hacienda created consternation among the players and considerable worry, despite the unconcern of the natives.

So, when one of the long-bearded natives, with insurance policy in hand, broached the subject of protection, the cast "fell" for the insurance. McGrail writes that he was the first to invest in such a policy. Since then, he adds, he has learned that the lone source of income by the native insurance agent is from screen players who periodically invade the Arizona desert plains and who invariably view with trepidation the reptiles of the locality.

STORY MIGHT PASS

BUT OVERACTING MARS LOEW FILM; PROLOGUE GOOD

By Edwin Schallert

It will take a lot of questing and scouting, I am afraid, to discover the high spots of interest in "I Want My Man," which is showing at Loew's State Theater. And it will probably be a satisfaction to the theatergoer that this feature attraction does not comprise all the fare that is offered at that very popular locale of entertainment. The prologues of Fanchon and Marco can always be depended on for a diverting half hour, and their latest, "Pagoda," is one of their most pictorial in effects of staging, while the singing, dancing and jazz are all better than passable or quite as good as that anyway.

"I Want My Man" emanates from the eastern studios of First National, and if it is a sample of what they are going to put out there, they might a lot better have stayed in the West where they were. It has all the faults in bad taste and bad sense that might be imagined in directing, settings, lighting and everything else. The scenes are more cluttered up with paper flowers, furniture, skylight glares, and everything like that, than any time since the movie dark ages.

Somewhere lurking in this production is a story that might have been considered fairly acceptable if it had not been made utterly foolish by the overacting of the principals and the forced and illogical results in many of the scenes.

The plot is about a man blinded during the war, who marries his nurse, presumably out of sympathy. When his sight is about to be restored, and she imagines that his real affection is for another, she leaves him with the intent of freeing him from his obligation to her. Incidentally, though, she makes up her mind that she will not relinquish him completely. So she obtains a position in the household of his family under another name where the man, never having seen her, of course, has no definite suspicion of her identity.

Deftly treated, this story might have been made attractive. Conventional, perhaps, but nevertheless fairly plausible.

In its present form, the idea is muffed—and the audience's enjoyment seemed in quite a few instances to be derived to some degree from the amusement afforded by some of the more "intense" scenes.

Milton Sills and Doris Kenyon appear to suffer from bad direction through a considerable part of the picture, but they cannot be entirely exonerated for the over-or-done-to-the-point-of-being-silly expressions which they sometimes register. May Allison seems to me to be very badly cast in the role of the mercenary lady who wants to wed the hero. She manages, personally, to be quite real.

Paul Nicholson, Kate Bruce, Theresa Maxwell Conover, Louis Stern are among the others, and it is very regrettable that so able a player as Charles Lane, who appeared as the father in "Romola," should be wasted on an insignificant part.

I found rather to my liking the Lige Conley comedy, "Hello Hollywood," which exploits a burlesque of the game of picture-making. In the Fanchon and Marco show the applause went at various times to Stella Hymson, Roy Smoot, Paul Howard, Jack Eddy and the general ensemble as well.

Lew Stone Cast in Joseph Greer and His Daughter

Announcement from First National Productions brings word that Lewis Stone has been cast in the leading role of "Joseph Greer and His Daughter," which George Archainbaud will direct. Stone has just finished the leading role in First National's "The Lady Who Lied," under Edwin Carewe's direction.

June Mathis has completed the script of this Henry Kitchell Webster story and filming will commence June 1, next, at United studios.

This promises to be one of the outstanding stories that First National will give the screen in the fall season.

HASTE MAKES WASTE DECLARES DIRECTOR

Efforts to rush motion-picture production and achieve good results have failed utterly after a fair test, says George Melford, veteran director. He is at present making "Without Mercy" for Metropolitan Productions, Inc.

"For the past year directors and producing companies have been experimenting with concentrated production schedules," Melford states. "At every place where it was possible to save time, time has been saved. But th's is business of artists. An artist cannot be hurried. A clerk or a ditch digger or a truck driver may be forced to hurry along with no appreciable difference in his work, but not an actor or a writer or a director, whose work is largely a matter of being in the right moods."

"GAG" MOUSTACHE GAGS COMEDIAN

In an attempt to swallow a swallow, Chester Conklin, comedian in Reginald Denny's "Where Was I?" now under production at Universal City dislocated his "gag" moustache and was nearly gagged in a near accident on the lot last week.

After several hours of heated emoting under the glaring arcs, the comedian felt himself in need of a drink. Hurrying to the faucet, he filled a glass and started to drink heartily.

His moustache became loose and he inhaled it along with a big gulp of water. William Seiter became a terrified director and seized an end of the disappearing moustache. Conklin looked at him gratefully.

"What would we have done if we had lost this?" murmured Seiter as he waved the rescued moustache in his hand.

WORLD FRATERNALISM ERA IS HERALDED BY PASTOR

Human Race is at Dawn of New Day Miss Foster Tells Audience in Radio Sermon

Declaring that the human race now stands at the dawn of the world's new day in which individuals and nations are to learn of that freedom which comes through the gateway of fraternity and of that pure joy which is born of service, Miss Annette Foster, pastor of the First Emerson Church, preached an inspiring sermon yesterday to the KHJ audience from The Times broadcasting station. Speaking on "We Who Are About to Live," Miss Foster said in part:

"Out of the humility and sincerity of a great soul there was enunciated, two generations ago, an immortal text for the future of all nations. It was to the effect that not by tears, nor the scattering of flowers, nor by the rearing of shafts of marble and brass does a nation honor its dead, but only as it takes increased devotion to the cause of righteousness, resolving that those who died shall not have died in vain, but that their unfinished work shall be carried forward into the realization of a new heaven and a new earth.

"Surely the soul of patriotism is in the realization that it is the destiny of the generations that they be devoted to the unfinished tasks of those who have gone before. Ours is a vicarious world, in which one sows and another reaps, and the succeeding ages rise upon the stepping stones laid by the pioneers.

"On this Memorial Sunday let us turn our thoughts from death to life, and while we sanctify anew the memory of those who gave the 'last full measure of devotion' and who now, we believe, are making beautiful some other realm of our Father's universe, let us sanctify ourselves to the labors of His vineyard here, that no sacrifice upon any battlefield shall have been in vain for the purposes of Him who has called us unto service.

"The Memorial Day that does not give large indorsement to life does not keep faith with the doctrine of our Great Teacher, who, having come to earth to minister, put His great emphasis upon life and, when His work was finished, laid stress upon the truth of the inseparableness of life and its continuity.

"Men, on every side today, are dropping from their consciousness the separation between the life that now is and that which is to come, and are dropping the notion that escape from life is possible. There has never been a greater need that men should stand in their places and 'live abundantly.' In vain we seek to read assurance in the signs of the times, but our chief assurance lies in our faith that 'our times are in His hands.' We seek for a dominating ideal to steady and cleanse the current of events and open the way to the evangelization of the multitude—for, ultimately, the dominating ideal must be held in the heart of the multitude.

"A little we can make out of the remedial forces with which we may co-operate. One of our seers remarks that the great discovery of the modern age is the people. Man was discovered 100 years ago; now the people have been discovered. In other words, the religious idea, as caught by man, is coming at last to disclose to him that the problem of his existence is greater completeness for all men. In the political world there is coming the removal of ancient privilege. Kings are leaving their thrones, or being uncrowned, and there is a general rise in the importance of the people. There is coming to prevail a sort of recognition that out of this mass the world is to evolve. Houses of lords are being rebuked and threatened with the breaking down of their exclusiveness if they continue to use their privilege to block needful legislation. Artists are exalting the glory of the commonplace. All these things indicate that the direction of spiritual energies is toward the recognition of the needs of the people. No more crusades for the possession of the Savior's tomb, but crusades against irresponsible powers, against oppression and ignorance and disease.

"Existence is to become more balanced and religion, in its true sense, is to be the dominant note of the coming century. The reformation is upon us, but it is not yet established. Nothing is established, and our only hope seems to be in the fact that conditions are unsettled and that when they are settled they will be settled right. Upon the altars of today there is being kindled, through awakened love, the fire of self-sacrifice and thoughtfulness of others. Yet 'mercy' is the supreme slogan of the leaders of men today, as they come more fully under the influence of Jesus the Christ."

ATTACKS STAND OF TENNESSEE SOLONS

"Legislatures that attempt to stifle discussion of scientific theories and facts only injure the cause of Christianity which they profess to defend," declared Dr. H. C. Culbertson, pastor of the Mesa Congregational Church, in his sermon yesterday on "Genesis and Modern Science." Dr. Culbertson spoke in part as follows:

"You cannot make a thing true by asserting it nor prevent its being true by denying it. Real religious faith does not fear full investigation of the world and life, knowing that all truth discovered can only make greater our knowledge of the ways and wisdom of God. In ancient days men thought the earth was flat, and that it was the center of the universe about which the sun revolved. When Galileo taught that the earth moved around the sun, his new idea shocked the church of his day far more than the idea of evolution ever shocked the conservatives of our time. Sincere religious people feared his teachings would destroy God and the Bible, and they made him kneel in terror of his life and take it all back.

"What happened? His teachings prevailed because they were true, and instead of destroying God and the Bible, we have today a greater and nobler conception of the Most High, while the Bible, newly interpreted, is dearer than ever before. Conservatives have become so accustomed to reading into the first chapter of Genesis the interpretation put upon it by the brilliant imagination of John Milton in his 'Paradise Lost' that they think the whole Bible must stand or fall by that particular interpretation. In the name of the Christ who said that truth shall make us free, let us open our eyes to understand that the evolutionary hypothesis does not hurt real faith in God, but only shows us that the Almighty works by a slow process of development in His creation. The Bible becomes a more precious and wonderful book when we recognize that it is the record of a developing revelation of the nature of God and God's ways to man. The first chapter of Genesis is a splendid poem dealing with various phases of the creative process, just as an epic poem would deal with various days, phases or aspects of the World War, and if it had been published yesterday for the first time no one would ever have dreamed of thinking it antagonistic to the theories of modern science. Its sublime spiritual message will go singing down the ages long after Mr. Bryan and his supporters are forgotten, or remembered only as we remember Torquemada and the Spanish Inquisition."

CHURCHES ACCUSED OF BEING SELFISH

"The churches are trying to rule the world by political forces," is the accusation voiced yesterday against organized Christianity by Rev. William C. Isett, pastor of Amanda Chapel, in his sermon on "What the Churches are Trying to Do."

According to Mr. Isett, Christianity is very poorly organized "and many churches are trying to establish themselves instead of the Kingdom of God." Mr. Isett spoke in part as follows:

"The question I am raising this morning is whether the churches have a clearly defined goal, and whether they are effectively reaching that goal. What is their field of work, and are they efficient? I am not setting myself up as a critic. I am using the word church in the sense of a body of people worshipping God and striving to establish the principles of His government in the world."

"The first essential, then, is recognition of the essential unity of those who are giving God a place in their lives, and the recognition of difference in degrees of devotion. This unity has been almost annulled by a too-sharp demarkation between those who follow God and those who are wholly selfish and wicked. There are those who will give no place to God in their lives and there are those who strive to give God full control of their lives. These are the two extremes. We deal largely with the people in between.

"Denominations have grown up because people did not make allowance for this borderland group, but held themselves to be the church and all others to be of the world. Denominations are right in establishing a degree of devotion. People have a right to select the group with whom they will worship and to establish the kind of worship they wish and the doctrine they will emphasize. They are wrong when they claim to be the exclusive church. It is for the recognition of this essential unity of all worshipers and believers in God that I am contending. There is only one church. There are many degrees of devotion and theological understanding.

"Many churches are trying to establish themselves rather than the Kingdom of God. They have not clearly defined their field of work. A dry-goods merchant is far ahead of them in wisdom. He does not claim to be the only one handling dry goods, but only that he is meeting a need in a certain field.

"The churches are trying to rule the world by political forces. Only within the last ten years have godly people made any scientific effort to deal with matters by spiritual power. This has largely been confined to the realm of physical healing. There is a vast force which a united church could use in every field of human endeavor. 'Overcome evil with good' is the principle God has laid down. The meetings of the leaders of the churches are not considering what good thing they can put in the place of evil, but how they can force, by political and military means, the evil to vacate. Concerted action of substitution of good for evil on the part of godly people would revolutionize our city in twelve months. All people have, more or less, a desire to be decent. The task of the church is to spread the good news of the gospel of love to the whole world. It has never seriously undertaken that task."

SHOWS HOW HUMANS DIFFER FROM BRUTES

Rev. F. E. Hagin preached at the Figueroa Boulevard Christian Church yesterday on "These Sayings of Mine." He said in part:

"The essential characteristic of mankind by which he is distinguished from the brute creation is his mind. The output of his mind is his thoughts, and thoughts become stereotyped and communicable through the medium of words written or spoken. Jesus said on one occasion, 'By thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned,' and again, 'Out of the abundance of the heart, the mouth speaketh.'

"In other words, the measure of a man is the measure of his words. Jesus, on several occasions, placed as high an estimate upon His words as upon Himself. He said, 'He that rejecteth Me and receiveth not my sayings, hath one that judgeth him: the word that I spake, the same shall judge him in the last day.'

"His words, therefore, are precious and of great importance. As we treat them, we treat Him. Simon, the Pharisee, received Jesus as a guest, but accepted His words, Zacchaeus, likewise, received Jesus as a guest, but accepted His words, and therefore, salvation came to him and his household. Two young men, who had been sailing in the Moray Firth, landed one day at Inverness to take a walk through the highlands of Scotland. They lost their way, and darkness overtook them. Standing at the door of a little cottage about midnight, after knocking, they pleaded with the inhospitable people for shelter. Their words were of no avail with the heartless ones, who turned them away. They later found shelter, and great was the chagrin of the unfeeling when they learned that the two were Prince George and the Duke of Clarence. Jesus said to the Apostles who were proclaiming His words that it would be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment than for that city that failed to welcome them and accept the words of life which they proclaimed."

CALLS FAITH KEY TO ALL PROGRESS

Dr. Bruce Brown of the South Park Christian Church preached yesterday on "The Faith that Overcomes." He said in part:

"Everyone who really thinks must believe. It is impossible to conceive of an intellectual infidel, a man who has no belief. Cerebration would cease if confined to established facts. Man's mind by its nature is impelled to the exploration of the unknown. Why should faith be condemned in the religious world when it is the dynamic power and incentive to progress in every other? A scientist who had no faith beyond the few facts in his possession would be as dry and worthless as a fossil. The great scientific discoveries that have revolutionized history existed once only in imagination. All pioneers of progress have believed more than they knew.

"The object of faith in religion determines character just as certainly as the port decides the course of a ship. It is not so much what men know as what they believe that guides them in darkness and storms through uncharted seas. The great decisions of life are always made far out in the realms of the unknown. If knowledge alone decided our actions we would be like an army refusing to fight until the battle was won.

"Men of faith walk out in the darkness far beyond their fellows, breast the floods hoping to reach the farther shore, take up the standard that falls from the doubter's hand, 'carry on' with skepticism sounds the retreat, scale bare and snowy peaks in search of a pass and their crimson footprints mark the trail of progress that becomes the beaten path for doubters. The saviors of the world have been men of faith. The obstructors of every noble effort have been the doubters."

CHURCHES FREEZING MINISTER DECLARES

"Christian Enthusiasm" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Dr. Theodore Kemp, pastor of the Hollywood Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Dr. Kemp said in part:

"The Gospel of Christ is a divine energy. Religion is not an idea, but an energy. Enthusiasm is the fire under the boiler of life. It is the dynamo in the power-house of the soul. You can manufacture in cold weather, but you can only create under high temperature. Man has fashioned many tools, but it takes a vision and a dream to set the tools on fire. Every idea that has made history began as a passion. Impassioned men make the history of the world. Great paintings are but passions on canvas. Cathedrals are passions uplifted. Enthusiasm surmounts every obstacle, breaks through every barrier, sails every sea, scales every summit, snatches victory from defeat, smiles in the face of disaster and sings triumphantly above the wrecks of worlds.

"We need hot hearts, but cool heads. Hot heads and cold hearts are disastrous. A hot heart and a cool head may move the world. Church quarrels and divisions are caused by hot heads and not by warm hearts. Orthodoxy and heresy are the names of theological camps holding different opinions.

"The most deadly heresy of earth is that of a loveless heart. The world needs sunlight to grow its flowers and to ripen its harvests. The Church of God needs the summery climate of the heart and the passion of the Lord if it would convert the world. God never intended churches to be cold-storage plants for the virtues, but to be power plants for service.

"On a cold morning a cake of ice is not half as sociable as a lighted fire place. Some churches are refrigerating plants, and it takes a very lively preacher to get up a sweat in a church refrigerator. Many wonder why the church does not go forward faster. The reason is the five has died down under the boiler. Many a church is like many an automobile. It has a beautiful chassis and fine lines, but is only hitting on one cylinder. Many Christian people are afraid of enthusiasm, but in the present state of affairs we had better take the risk of blowing up than freezing up."

HUMBLE FISHERMAN OWNS STRADIVARIUS

Heirloom in Frenchman's Family Almost Two Centuries

Charles Grass
And priceless violin.

AMERICAN collectors who are scouring Europe for old Stradivarius violins, of uncanny sweetness of tone, will be interested in the family heirloom possessed by Charles Grass, a French fisherman living at 1466 Third street, San Pedro. Mr. Grass has a "veritable" Stradivarius, built in 1724.

His wife's grandmother, Jeanne Pegeot, came into possession of the instrument in 1820, and, even then, according to Mr. Grass, it had been in the Pegeot family for almost a century.

Mr. Grass, stocky and of true Breton type, first landed in San Pedro in 1908, when he deserted the French barque Marechal Devoest at this port after a voyage around Cape Horn. He liked the spot so well that he sent for his wife and she brought the violin with the family possessions from the little seaside home at Paimboeuf, Brittany.

The old "Strad" is still in splendid condition, and although the strings of the instrument and the bow are more than a score of years old, it gives out music almost human in tone when in the hands of a musician.

Inside the tone chamber is etched the following inscription: "Antonius Stradivarius, Cremonensis; Faciebat, 1724"; which, according to authorities, assures its genuineness.

ECONOMIC PARLEY FAVORED

Chamber's Invitations to Southwest Conference Here on June 15 Receiving Widespread Acceptance

That the Southwest Economic Conference called by President R. W. Pridham of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce for June 15, is meeting with widespread approval throughout the entire Pacific Southwest, is indicated by the great number of responses coming in to invitations extended by the chamber to governors, State officials, industrial leaders and chamber of commerce representatives in Southern California, Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada and Utah, according to A. G. Arnoll, secretary and general manager of the chamber.

The conference will discuss economic problems confronting the Pacific-Southwest and will work out a comprehensive program for the development of this entire territory through an interexchange of commodities, capital and population.

The conference will be held in the banquet hall of the new Chamber of Commerce Building at Twelfth and Broadway and delegates will present to the general conference, problems peculiar to the community, which they represent. From this aggregation of ideas and problems a general program will be worked out for the development of the Pacific-Southwest territory as an economic unit.

In return for the movement to Los Angeles Harbor of products of the forests, farms and mines of the various States, Southern California will assist these States in securing the right kind of agriculturists to develop their farm lands, and capital to develop their other resources.

Immediately following his appearance before the directorate, President Pridham appointed a committee consisting of William Lacy, Shannon Crandall and M. Elsasser, to work out details for the coming conference.

FIGHT OVER AUTO LINES DUE TODAY

Eight Companies Asking Permits Are Opposed by Operating Concerns

A hearing which promises to develop into a heated battle between transportation companies operating in Southern California at present and eight concerns who are seeking to establish motor-truck service to various points in the State will be called before Examiner Handford of the State Railroad Commission this morning.

The commission has sent out notices to eighty-seven protesting companies of the hearing date. These include the railroads, express companies and motor-truck concerns.

One transportation company seeking a new franchise to operate asks for a blanket permit to operate between all points in the State. The other seven concerns are seeking franchises to operate in virtually all of the thirteen southern counties.

The companies making application to the commission are Shields Truck Company, Inc., Union Motor Transportation Company, Ashbury Truck Company, J. A. Clark Draying Company, Stacey's Transportation Stage Company, Wilmington Transportation and Stage Company, Lee B. Hawkins and C. L. Armstrong.

TWINS UP TODAY FOR SENTENCE

Dasey Brothers Face Long Term in Attack on Girl; Appeal to be Argued

Convicted on two counts each of criminally attacking Miss Josephine Price, employee of a downtown confectionery, James and John Dasey, twins, are scheduled to come before Judge Craig in Superior Court this morning, for hearing on their motion for a new trial and judgment and sentence.

The men were found guilty in thirty minutes last Thursday by a jury composed of ten women and two men. Immediately after the verdict was read, Irvin C. Taplin, of counsel for the twins, filed an oral motion for a new trial. If the new trial is denied, the brothers are subject to be sentenced to from two to 100 years in the State Penitentiary, the penalty fixed by law being one to fifty years on each count.

Miss Price asserted the men dragged her into a coupe the night of January 25, last, while she was returning home from her employment, took her to a lonely spot near Silver Lake and there attacked her.

The case was prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Attys. McKay and Howell Richardson.

Legion Council Favors Library Bond Proposal

Plans for the extension of public library service in Los Angeles through the erection of new branch libraries are favored by the Los Angeles City Interpost Council of the American Legion. Announcing the council's indorsement of Proposition 3 on the June 3 ballot, which provides for issuance of $500,000 in branch library bonds, Charles L. Bogue, chairman of the council, wrote to Everett R. Perry, librarian:

"Members of the American Legion fought during the World War that all peoples of the earth might have more knowledge and a better understanding of the problems of civilization. Your system of branch libraries is a factor in the diffusion of knowledge and the enlightenment of man. We are, therefore, heartily in favor of the necessary bonds to carry on this good work."

Benjamin F. Bledsoe, former judge of the United States District Court, has announced himself as being "enthusiastically in favor of the proposal to incur a bonded indebtedness in the sum of $500,000 for the purpose of erecting additional branch libraries."

The proposed library bond issue has been indorsed also by the Friday Morning Club, Arthur B. Benton, president of the Sons of the Revolution; James R. Martin, and the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce.

Meadows Will Plead Today in Forgery Charge

Rush Meadows, criminal "attorney;" David Learner, Fred Kellar and Charles Sweeney are scheduled to plead this morning before Federal Judge James to charges of forging and dealing in $16,000 worth of Liberty bonds asserted to have been stolen three years ago from a Richland (Neb.) bank. Date of plea was continued last Monday for a week to permit Russel Graham, Meadows's attorney, to peruse the Federal grand jury indictment.

Meadows, Kellar and Sweeney also are charged with violating the Harrison Narcotic Act in illegal purchase of forty ounces of French cocaine.

Bond of $35,000 on the bond and narcotic accusations has been furnished by Meadows and he is at liberty. The other three men are in the Los Angeles County Jail. H. S. Shapiro is counsel for Learner.

WARNS AGAINST SUIT FOR TAXES

Goodcell Cautions Claimants for Community Rebate

Says Commissioner Will Simplify Procedure

Filing of Waiver Necessary to Extend Statute

Warning to Southern California taxpayers to disregard circulars promulgated by advisory tax firms, giving the impression that suit must be filed to recover refunds on assessments should the United States Supreme Court hold that income from community property is divisible in California for income-tax purposes, was issued this morning by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell.

"Taxpayers should not pay exorbitant fees for filing of refund claims," Collector Goodcell asserted emphatically. "If this ruling is passed by the court I am satisfied the Commissioner of Internal Revenue will adopt a procedure that would simplify the refunding of taxes and obviate any great expense, if any, on the part of the taxpayer."

If the decision of the court is favorable, approximately $60,000,000 will be refunded to Southern California taxpayers, in the opinion of Collector Goodcell.

"There is every reason to believe that the court decision will be reached before the expiration of the statute of limitations," Collector Goodcell said. The statute under the existing law for the calendar years 1922, 1923 and 1924 does not expire until 1927, 1928 and 1929, respectively.

If the court finding is favorable to Southern California taxpayers, full publicity as to the procedure in obtaining refunds will be given, Collector Goodcell promised. The only step necessary at this time, the collector explained, is for the taxpayer to file a waiver on or before June 15, next, for the calendar year 1919. The filing of this waiver extends the statute of limitations until April 1, 1925, until when a claim for refund may be entered. The statute of limitations for the calendar years 1920 and 1921 does not expire until March 15, 1926.

REV. F. DYER PREACHES IN NEW CHURCH

Sermon and Contribution by Congregation Mark Dedication Weeks' Start

Three and a half years after founding and organizing the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church, Rev. Frank Dyer preached his first sermon yesterday in the handsome new $500,000 edifice at Plymouth avenue and Wilshire Boulevard.

The members of the congregation opened the two weeks' dedication services by contributing $95,000 to the building fund. The first of three units of the new church was opened yesterday, and during the next two weeks a campaign to raise $275,000 to complete the Italian Gothic type building will be launched.

The services yesterday were opened in the morning at 8 o'clock when 400 members of the congregation attended first communion in the new building.

Fifteen hundred people crowded into the church to hear Dr. Dyer preach at the 11 o'clock morning service on "Let the Beauty of the Lord, Our God, be Upon Us."

"In the church which we have built," said Dr. Dyer, "we have earnestly sought to express beauty as a symbol of the beauty of the Lord. We believe that it is a pity, if not a crime, to make the manifestations of religion ugly. We have gone back through the ages in search of beauty of architecture and have combined them harmoniously with recent expressions of man's aspiring spirit. They who think the day is past when men glory in their work are mistaken. This minister feels a new challenge in his own work rising from this inspiring example of the men who have wrought upon this great structure."

A delightful oratorio service was presented in the afternoon by Arthur Middleton, bass of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York. At the evening service Dr. Charles F. Aked, preaching colleague, spoke on "The Religion of Beauty and the Beauty of Religion" before another packed house.

The actual dedicatory service will be conducted June 7, next, when Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of President Coolidge's church in Washington, D. C., will deliver the sermon of dedication.

"The Church of Divine Love" is the name given by Rev. Dyer to this church, which was founded on Pilgrims' Day, December 21, 1921, and is closely connected with the churches at Plymouth, Mass., and of Plymouth, Eng.

Kerr Will Face Poisoned Candy Charge Tuesday

Trial of Dr. Franklin S. Kerr, Garden Grove physician, accused of sending poisoned candy to his divorced wife, Dr. Luella Kerr, will be called tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the court of United States Judge James after a continuance from April 18, last.

Kerr was violently ill when the trial was last opened and physicians and nurses reported this condition to be genuine; that he had been subject to nervous indigestion and spells of extreme nausea for the several years they had known him.

Evidence against the defendant hinges on a typewriter found in a bank vault. Experts declared the machine was the same on which the address on the box of poison candy had been written. The typewriter is said by Federal officials to be owned by Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Williams, relatives of Dr. Kerr, and that he had ample opportunity for access to it.

An elaborate book, showing the work of the department during the past three years, has been compiled by the senior class, Mr. Johnson said. These books are now being distributed among all the important schools and colleges of the country. This is the first time such a book has been issued by the department.

The graduation will bring to a close the first year of co-operative effort between the university and the Allied Architects' Association. This body, comprising seventy of the leading architects of Southern California, assumed charge of the instruction in this department upon the departure of Prof. Weatherhead on Sabbatical leave last year. Old Sea Dog, Twenty-Three Times A[illegible] Gives Bond Against Future Cr[illegible]

Captain William H. Johnson, bluff sea-dog, [illegible] around the world twenty-three times, and this [illegible] that there might be some merit to Mrs. Lulu B. [illegible] fear that her spouse would start wandering [illegible] back.

So Capt. Johnson was ordered to put up bond to guarantee payment of alimony to his wife, pending trial of his suit for divorce, after a hearing before Judge Gates.

Capt. Johnson abandoned the sea several years ago, got a job as navigation instructor in the San Pedro schools, married himself a wife and settled down for a peaceful life ashore. But the peace did not materialize, according to his divorce suit.

Mrs. Johnson, he declared, nagged him and tried to make him lose his teaching job, by telling stories about him.

But Mrs. Johnson, in an answer, said that although her husband had abandoned the sea, he had not forsaken his sailor habit of gallantry.

"His conduct with other women has been unseemly, and his gallantry and flattery toward other women have been uncalled for, she complained.

"And I think he's fixing up right now to sell out everything he owns, lock, stock and barrel, and leave the country," she told Judge Gates yesterday. "He's been around the world twenty-three times, and I wouldn't put it a bit past him to start around again and maybe never come back."

So the court ordered Johnson to make bond to guarantee the payment of Mrs. Johnson's $35 a month alimony and counsel fees. Despite his protests that he had not the remotest idea of leaving the State.

Advertisers to be Addressed by Maj. Tuller

A Memorial Day program has been arranged by the Advertising Club for its meeting Tuesday noon at the Biltmore. Maj. Walter K. Tuller will be the chief speaker. His subject will be "What Will Happen to Business in the Next National Emergency?"

Eugene F. McElmeel, Los Angeles high-school student who won second place in the National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution, will be a guest of the club at the meeting, and will deliver his prize-winning oration.

A musical program of patriotic and popular airs will be given by the One Hundred Sixtieth Infantry Band.

DIVORCE IS IMPERSONAL AFFAIR

Woman Says Mate Tabooed All Sex

Mrs. Pearl Fergtig

THERE was nothing personal about Walter R. Fergtig's desertion of Pearl Fergtig, at least, as she described the incident to Judge Summerfield at the hearing of her suit for divorce.

"No, no, he didn't say he had anything against me," she said, in response to Judge Summerfield's inquiry as to what she had done to be deserted. "He just announced that he did not propose to support any woman, any time, anywhere and that went for me and the rest of the world. Then he packed up and left."

Judge Summerfield awarded her a decree.

Association of Radio Fans May be Reorganized

Efforts to revive and re-establish the defunct Southern California Radio Association probably will be made at the First Annual Amateur's Radio Show and Contest to be given from next Monday until June 7 in the National Automotive Building at Figueroa and Santa Barbara streets, A. L. Blodgett, past-president of the organization, said yesterday.

Mr. Blodgett will be acting in his reorganization work on request of hundreds of radio fans, he stated, who have written him asking that the organization be brought into being. If given assurance of 500 members, he declared, registers will be established at the Exposition Building and the association will be given another lease on life.

With a membership of but 150 when at its zenith some months ago, the association had a struggling existence for some time and finally flickered and went out. Its purpose, said Blodgett, largely will be to serve radio enthusiasts in all lines to their interest, similar to the service given autoists by the Automobile Club.

Sam Bender, managing director of the exposition, has tendered Mr. Blodgett gratis booth space for carrying on the reorganization work, in the event the past-president decides on such a campaign.

REALTY MAN UP TODAY ON DRUG PLAINT

Wife Charges C. N. Clinch Attempted to End His Life Three Times

Colin N. Clinch, 1439 Formosa avenue, Hollywood realty man, who is being held in the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital on a narcotic complaint sworn to by his wife, will be arraigned for preliminary hearing today at 11 a.m. before Judge Gates of the Lunacy Court. Clinch will be tried Thursday.

Clinch was arrested Saturday by Officers Grubin and Thomason of the Hollywood police on complaint of his wife that he had attempted to commit suicide several times. Clinch, it is said, first tried to end his life by swallowing poison, later by hanging and then by stabbing himself. Domestic trouble is said to have prompted his acts.

Hospital officials said yesterday it was possible for Clinch to be released if his wife dropped the charge. Mrs. Clinch, however, could not be reached to comment upon disposition of the case.

FUND ASKED FOR PARK

High-School Principal Will Seek Appropriation for Walks

Principal William H. Housh of the Los Angeles High School is scheduled to appear before the City Council's Finance Committee this afternoon to ask for an appropriation of $4000 for grading and providing graveled walks in the memorial park adjoining the school which was purchased and presented to the city by the student body which raised $21,000 for this purpose. Principal Housh is anxious that the appropriation be made now so that the land can be improved in time for the graduating exercises to be held on June 24, which will include the planting of a tree by this year's class. The plans call for a similar tree planting in the park by each graduating class.

WAY PREPARED TO PROTECT BOX

If Penitentiary is Penalty Care to be Taken

Fear Felt That White Slaver May Try Suicide

He and Rhodes to Hear Fate in Court Today

Should John W. Box, convicted white slaver, be sentenced to Leavenworth prison today by U. S. Judge James, he will be guarded with the most extreme care that jailers and deputy marshals can exercise to prevent him from harming himself.

Alexander R. Rhodes, "courtesy" husband of Jeanne R. Taylor, dead victim of Freeport, Long Island, New York, who pleaded guilty to violation of the Mann White Slave Act shortly after the woman's death in the Glendale Hospital from infection induced by a red paper rose used to rouge her lips while in the Los Angeles County Jail, and who was a government witness against Box, also will be sentenced Monday.

Reports emanating from the County Jail that Box had said he would "commit suicide before going to Leavenworth," have been taken seriously by Dep. U. S. Marshal Martin Finn, who is expected to transfer Box to the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan. The prisoner, in case of sentence, will be deprived of every possible hiding-place for weapons or poison when the train journey east starts.

Box is a stalwart blond man nearly 30 years of age and extremely powerful. He has been accompanied to and from the jail and courtroom by Marshal Finn, the largest deputy in Los Angeles.

"Box will not be handcuffed to any other prisoner, as is the usual case, if he goes to Leavenworth," Marshal Finn said yesterday. "He will be handcuffed and leg irons will be strapped on him as an extra precaution."

Rhodes and Box are to be sentenced this morning on charges of bringing Jeanne Taylor Rhodes to Los Angeles late last year from Erie, Pa. Box, the evidence showed, deserted his wife and persuaded Rhodes to marry Miss Taylor to help him escape charges under the White Slave Act.

DRY SQUAD FIRED ON IN LOCAL RAID

Officers Run Gantlet of Dogs and Fusillade of Shot to Make Arrest

Meeting with armed resistance when they were mistaken for hijackers, a squad of police officers, led by Capt. James Davis, in command of the vice division, won a victory for law enforcement in a spectacular raid on an asserted bootleggers' plant at 3662 Ruthelen street. Adding to the peril of the raiders were two vicious police dogs which were turned loose on the officers as they scaled a high wall which surrounded the besieged place. The officers had to fight off the animals, one of whom was subdued single-handed by Capt. Davis.

The owner of the dogs later related to the captain that he relied on the prowess of the brutes to guard the liquor cache stored on the premises against theft by hijackers.

Aided by five picked men, Capt. Davis faced a fusillade of pistol shots fired from a window in which George Butsens, a guard, had ambushed himself. Officer Tom Wharton narrowly missed being struck, he reported to his superior. Butsens surrendered when he learned the identity of the invaders and explained he thought they were hi-jackers. Butsens was lodged in City Jail on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. A. J. Lindenmeyer was booked on a Wright-Act charge when he admitted ownership of twenty-five cases of rum and whisky seized in the raid.

Special Tea for Women of Press to Open Atelier

The formal opening of Erte's American atelier is to take place on Wednesday afternoon, when a special tea will be given to feminine members of the press.

The new headquarters of the famous fashion designer is at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, where he is creating special modes to be worn in the screen productions of that company.

Erte

Several of his latest creations will be on display at the Wednesday afternoon opening and live models, comprising some of the studios' well-known players, will be among the guests so that an examination of the fashion wizard's work may be made at close range.

The studio suite, which has been especially built for him and decorated according to his own plans, is in black and white. He finds those are the most inspirational of all tones and also that they furnish the most suitable background for his creations.

Mrs. Harry Rapf, Mrs. William Thalberg and Miss Selvia Thalberg will preside at the tea table.

INTERLOPER BLAMED FOR WIFE'S LOSS

Shingle Maker Says Affair Ruined His Home, Business in Plea for Divorce

Harry A. Shull, manufacturer of shingles, lost his wife's love to an interloper named Edward C. Lubbe, and eventually lost his shingle manufacturing business, too, over the affair, he complained in a suit for divorce from Georgia F. Shull, filed with the County Clerk.

Shull declared he lavished money on his wife, financing journeys by land and sea, only to find out later that she had been meeting Lubbe on her excursions. Lubbe was named co-respondent.

As a part of the complaint were included copies of letters Shull said Lubbe addressed to his wife, in which he called her "Baby Girl" and expressed the most ardent affection for her. Once, Shull said, he persuaded Lubbe to give up his attentions to Mrs. Shull, but their mutual attraction proved too strong, and they were soon associating together again.

Meetings between the pair at San Diego and Riverside, and at various taverns, road houses and cafes, were charged by Shull. On her return from a trip to Honolulu, he said, she kept a rendezvous with Lubbe, instead of returning to her home.

Worry over these matters, Shull declared, distracted his attention from the business of making shingles to the extent that creditors eventually placed a receiver in charge of the plant. The Shulls were married in 1912 and have two children.

PASSERBY IS SHOT BY WATCHMAN

Victim Wounded Twice in Fusilade When Mistaken for Marauder

Mistaking Wilton W. Thorpe, 23 years of age, of 1801 Highland avenue, for a burglar, Franklin Epler, a night watchman, fired three shots at him early yesterday, wounding him in the shoulder and arm. Epler, who is 42, and is employed by the Pacific Coast Police, a private police agency, was arrested by Detective Lieutenants Vail, Craig and Thompson, and booked at the City Jail on suspicion of assault with intent to murder.

Epler was crossing a vacant lot in the rear of 7105 Franklin avenue, where the office of the Pacific Coast Police is located, when he caught sight of Thorpe. He called on him to halt and throw up his hands and when the man failed to comply fired at him, striking him three times. Russell Hinkle, 277 Morgan avenue, heard the firing and arrived in time to prevent further hostilities.

Thorpe, who was taken to Monte Sano Hospital, is expected to recover. He told the detectives that he thought Epler was a hold-up man, and was trying to escape from him.

GIRL BRIDE CONFESSES TO BIGAMY

Tells Officer Marriage Necessary, After Warrant Causes Detention

A honeymoon was terminated last night when Juvenile Officer Wallen arrested Mrs. Bernice Allen, 18 years of age, on a warrant charging bigamy. Mrs. Allen and Henry Miskie, 443 Rugby street, were married in Santa Ana the 19th inst., the complaint stated, when Mrs. Allen was still the legal wife of Fred Allen of San Francisco, whom she left about a year ago.

Mrs. Allen is said to have confessed to Mrs. Wallen that she married Miskie, in spite of her previous marriage, because it seemed to be the only way out of a difficult situation. Mrs. Allen is said to be in a delicate condition. She is being held in Juvenile Hall.

Harbor Tonnage Shows Huge Gain for Past Month

During the month of April a total of 1,754,681 tons of freight were handled over the municipal wharves at Los Angeles Harbor, according to a report just issued by the Board of Harbor Commissioners. The value of this freight was $57,000,000 or $7,800,000 more than the value of the tonnage handled during April, 1924. During April, 1925, a total of 490 vessels arrived at and departed from the municipal wharves of which 291 were coastwise, 100 intercoastal, ninety-four foreign and five were in the Hawaiian service.

Supporters of John Topham, candidate in the Fifth Councilmanic District, where a vigorous contest is being waged between Topham and Cupid Sparks, are pointing in their appeals to the voters to Topham's record as Police Commissioner in securing for members of the police department two days off each month, which has since been increased to one day off each week.

During his two terms in the Council he secured Normal Hill for the city, which is now the site of the new $2,000,000 Central Public Library; secured the requiring of approval by the Council of subdivision maps so that streets could be connected and made of adequate width; carried through the necessary preliminary legislation for the Second-street tunnel; recommended a comprehensive plan for a union passenger station and the elimination of grade crossings; lowered taxes by securing payments on water bonds from the public service department instead of from general taxes, and was active in the development for the public of Exposition Park. Topham is married, has three sons and one daughter, is a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Knights Templar, Shrine, City Club, Advertising Club and past president of the local branch of the National Association of Engineers.

A. L. Colby, who was a candidate on the 5th inst. in the Twelfth Councilmanic District, has indorsed the candidacy of Attorney E. J. McCully, who was nominated, as has also J. L. Edwards, also a candidate at the primaries in that district. In a letter to Attorney McCully, Mr. Colby said, "I admired you for the real force of character you displayed in standing up and defending measures that you believed in. It showed that you had the real courage of your convictions and that is what we need in the City Council. You can count on me for my fullest support."

Proposition No. 6 on the ballot at the June 2 election, which is an initiative ordinance to permit passenger motor busses to travel on Hill street from Second street between First and Sixth streets, has been strongly indorsed by the Central Business District Association, of which J. F. Sartori is president, and on the board of directors of which are J. G. Bullock, J. Dabney Day, Frank P. Flint, Herman W. Frank, Marco H. Hellman, William Lacy, J. B. Van Nuys, Harry Philp, and many other leading business men of the city.

Motor busses, which are now carrying many thousands of passengers daily, are barred by the provisions of the longstanding "jitney" ordinance from the district bounded by First, Hill, Eighth and Los Angeles streets, and if Proposition No. 6 carries, Hill street from First street to Sixth street will be open to bus transportation. In urging a "yes" vote on this proposition, Mr. Philp of the association said:

"With the development of First street, and with the continued growth in the northwest section of our city, this change in the ordinance will allow busses to reach the business section through the Second-street tunnel, travel south on Hill street, circle Pershing Square, an return over the same route.

"Busses from the south and west sections of the city may travel north on Olive street, circle Pershing Square (bringing these busses within one block of Broadway, our main retail business thoroughfare, and within one block of the Pacific Electric station on Hill street) and return south on Olive street over the same route.

"This change in the ordinance will be a great benefit to the public as well as the business interests of the city."

Proposition No. 7 on the ballot at the June 2 election is a "straw vote" on the question of the advisability of Los Angeles and other Southern California cities being empowered through a State enabling act to form a district to secure domestic water from the Colorado River. The following argument in favor of a "Yes" vote on this proposition was inclosed in the sample ballot mailed to each registered voter:

"Los Angeles is rapidly approaching the danger line of its present water supply.

"The Owens River Aqueduct system, under normal conditions and when fully developed, is capable of supplying the needs of 2,000,000 people. Under the abnormal conditions now existing throughout the West, this supply becomes much less certain and reliable. Already our population has passed the 1,000,000 mark and is increasing at the rate of about 100,000 a year.

"The Colorado River is the only remaining water source capable of meeting the increasing needs of Los Angeles and other Southern California communities.

"The Los Angeles Municipal Water Bureau has recently completed a survey of a route for an aqueduct to bring water to this city from the Colorado. Preliminary work and detailed surveys on this aqueduct should be pushed forward without delay. By this course the good faith of Los Angeles in seeking domestic water from the Colorado River will be made clear to Congress, and action by the government in connection with the Boulder Canyon Dam will be expedited.

"If Los Angeles fails to secure Colorado River water, it must stop growing—it must halt home building activities—it must definitely limit commercial and industrial expansion.

"Other Southern California cities also need additional domestic water supplies. But these sister cities are not large enough to finance, separately, their own aqueducts from the Colorado River.

"Enactment by the State Legislature of a Metropolitan Water District Act would enable communities, which desire to do so, to join with Los Angeles in securing domestic water from the Colorado River. By paying a proportionate share of the cost of the water project, these communities will secure the water they require.

"Only by the formation of such a water district can these smaller cities hope to secure the water they so urgently need.

"If you believe that our sister cities should be given the opportunity to share in the benefits of Colorado River water, you will vote 'Yes' on Proposition 7."

Ball Players' Escape Cancels Game Schedule

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

McALESTER (Okla.) May 24.—As a feature of the honor system at the Oklahoma State penitentiary, a baseball team made up of convicts, many of them serving long terms, has been allowed to tour the State, playing semiprofessional teams in various cities.

This year's season has been brought to a sudden end and all future dates canceled because Lester Fisher and Johnny Becker took French leave after a game with a team at Holdenville.

Fisher was formerly a member of the Minneapolis American Association team and was traded to Tulsa of the Western League last year. He disappeared during training season and was arrested in Arkansas with a stolen car. Becker was serving twenty-five years for robbery.

Lankershim in Arms Over New Water Charges

Some 300 property owners who voted a portion of a $750,000 bond issue to extend city water mains into Lankershim are up in arms over the fact that they must pay an additional $1.40 a front foot to bring city water to their property.

A committee representing the district laid a complaint before the State Railroad Commission Saturday night, alleging that in addition to the trouble over city water their present service is inadequate. For some time they have received water from W. G. Bentley, they said, and recently the city mains were laid down streets which border their tract, but service has not been extended to their property.

The city water department maintains that when the general survey was made to determine what amount of bonds were needed, the Bentley tract was considered as acreage. Subsequently the area was subdivided and streets opened, but there is not sufficient money now to carry the mains down these streets. To provide this service property owners must pay $1.40 a front foot, they say.

Track Extension on Fifth Waits Convention End

The extension of the Fifth street track of the Los Angeles Railway west of Olive street will start soon after the close of the Shrine convention, according to G. J. Kuhrts, general manager. Track was laid on Fifth street between Grand avenue and Flower street several weeks ago so that the entire roadway could be paved at once. The new job will include the installation of switches and special track material for connection with the existing rail at Fifth and Olive and Fifth and Flower streets.

As soon as this work is completed the line "C" cars will run directly west on Fifth street to Flower street and turn north at that point. These cars now run by Fifth, Olive and Sixth streets to Flower street. The change will remove one car line from Sixth street immediately but plans for other changes for cars using Fifth and Sixth streets are held in abeyance pending the outcome of the city's proceedings for the opening of Fifth street west of Flower street.

Extension of the Melrose-avenue line of the Los Angeles Railway from Melrose and Normandie to Western avenue is progressing satisfactorily and the line is expected to be completed in about three months.

Back Lot Chick Farm Couple in Divorce Court

During two years of married life H. J. Forsaith and Frances Adonia Mecum Forsaith have acquired the following community property, according to Forsaith:

Now Forsaith wants Judge Gates of the Alimony Court to take cognizance of the barnyard equipment and see that both sides get a fair deal while he sues Mrs. Forsaith for divorce. She has been pestering him over money matters, he said in his complaint. Once, when she pulled a gun on him, he declared, he prevented any casualties by taking the weapon away from her, but she had him arrested and he languished in Jail five days before his lawyer could get justice done him.

Mrs. Forsaith was penurious, Forsaith said. When he loaned a friend a dollar, once, she protested he was "taking the bread and butter out of her mouth," he declared.

TASTE OF WINE IN WATER PIPE

Consumers Take Matter to State Officials

Engineer Traces Trouble to Pre-Volsted Tank

Condition Rectified and Old Order is Restored

Essence of pre-Volstead wine piped into homes along with the water supply and without additional charge was a surprising condition State officials last week were—more surprisingly—asked to rectify.

That such a condition actually existed was confirmed Saturday when Water Engineer VanHousen of the State Railroad Commission checked back to the local office after making what he reported as exhaustive tests of the condition and finally doing away with it.

VanHousen's report brought to light that consumers of the Consolidated Water Company in the vicinity of Eighty-sixth street and San Pedro avenue several days ago found themselves drinking a diluted wine with their meals. Some are said to have passed it off with the remark that it was the consolidated water.

But reports came to the State commission. Housewives related that their recent sprinklings had given plants an old-time luster. Business men came home early from work for a change. Engineer VanHousen was sent out to investigate.

The report he now has made recounts that it was discovered that the Consolidated Water Company about a year ago purchased a tank in which wine had been stored. With the increasing business it was necessary for the company to connect this tank with the water system for additional storage purposes. After emptying the tank of its contents the engineer reports that he devised an asphaltum preparation which has successfully made the tank suitable for its new use.

MAPLE LEAF WILL OPEN

Harold Roberts, conductor of Roberts' Golden State Band, and Howard Shaver are opening on Thursday night the Maple Leaf Chateau, 1137 South Hope street, a dance hall. Music for the opening will be furnished by the Roberts band of fifty-one pieces and a six-piece orchestra. Vaudeville numbers will also be presented.

UNIVERSITY CHAIR GIVEN TO PERIGORD

Pasadena Mentor to Take French Civilization Post at Southern Branch

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 24.—Capt. Paul Perigord, professor of economics and European history at the California Institute of Technology, has accepted a call to the newly created chair of French civilization at the University of California, Southern Branch, it was learned from authentic sources here today. Dr. Perigord could not be reached at his home, 1261 San Pasqual street, but at the California Institute of Technology it was admitted that the report was authentic and that the educator will terminate his connection with the Pasadena institution at the close of the spring semester this year. He will begin his work at the Southern Branch with the opening of the college year in September.

Although no official announcement has come from the board of regents of the university, it has become known that the chair of French civilization has been created expressly for Dr. Perigord, whose career in the French army during the World War was a brilliant one.

Enlisting as a private in 1914, Dr. Perigord was promoted for valor on the field, and with America's entrance into the conflict came to the United States as a military instructor for the "Yankee Division" at Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., where he remained a year. From 1918 to 1919, he was a member of the French High Commission to the United States, and made a tour of the country, speaking to hundreds of thousands of people.

Since coming to Pasadena in 1919, he has taken a keen interest in the development of art in this city as a member of the board of directors of the Community Playhouse Association. During the past year he has been president of the association.

Capt. Perigord was graduated from the University of France with the class of 1901, receiving his bachelor or arts degree. The following year he obtained his bachelor's degree in philosophy, and in 1913 his master's degree from Columbia University, New York. Two years ago the degree of doctor of philosophy was conferred upon him by the University of Minnesota.

TWO HURT IN LUMBER PLANT FIRE

Falling of Shed, Unruly Hose, Result in Injuries; Blaze Destroys Home

Two firemen were injured while fighting a fire that last night partly destroyed the plant of the Interstate Lumber Company at Slauson and Vermont avenues. The fire, of undetermined origin, was extinguished and surrounding industrial property saved, after a stiff fight. Damage was estimated at $5000.

The injured are: Michael Farley, 38 years of age, of 1213 West Sixty-sixth street, and Wylie Dawson, 27, of 1140 1-2 East Fifty-second street. Farley's knee was cut when he fell with a section of a shed, but he escaped burns. Dawson was knocked down and his back was wrenched by a high pressure hose that got out of control. Both men are members of Engine Company No. 31.

A fire of mysterious origin burnt to the ground the home of Tony Micell at 795 Boundary street, last night, and spread to the adjoining house occupied by William Wilkins, 790 Junipero street. Damage in the former case was estimated at $2000 and was slight in the latter.

Both fires are being investigated by the fire and police departments.

MAGAZINES BOOTLEGGED NOW

Salacious Publications, Barred From Mails, Find Way to Hands of Children by Freight; Dealers Hand Them Out Secretly; Some Flaunted on Stands

Friends, meet the magazine bootlegger.

He deals in salacious publications which the United States Postoffice Department deems unfit for transportation by mail. If a publisher, he sends his wares by freight or express. If a dealer, he may not display them publicly in his racks, but he will get one for you from under the counter on request, or he may display and sell them openly.

To the sophisticated, the magazines are tame enough, all except the titles, which are suggestive of thrills aplenty. But when considered in the light of effect on the youth to whom life is unfolding a new world, the situation has become such as to attract Parent-Teacher associations and such organizations the country over.

BARRED FROM MAIL

High school children, especially, and even grade pupils and younger college men, get a "kick" out of reading the double-meaning stories. Usually the stories point a splendid moral—after describing details in such a way that might leave doubt which is the more glittering, the vice or crime or the moral, and in such a way as sometimes to cause authorities to describe them as "lewd" or "obscene" stories.

Recently in Chicago the postmaster there ordered the May and June number of a Chicago-published magazine withheld from the mail. From Washington yesterday came the news that Postoffice Department officials upheld him and declared the publication unmailable under the postal laws.

The magazine openly was on sale in news stands here yesterday. The local distributor said it came by freight. Many publications about which no question is ever raised concerning fitness for the mail are transported by freight or even express because that transportation method is less expensive.

The lead article in the magazine is "Our Jazz Age," by Rudolph Valentino, jazz-vamp of motion pictures. Other stories bear such titles as "Love's Error," "Tessie's Temptation," "The Affair of a Restless Wife," "Loves of a Factory Girl," "A French Flirt on Broadway." Ruth Clifford, the actress, writes on "Are Blondes Cold?" and there are such other articles as "Hollywood, Intimate Close-ups of the Studios," "Our Port of Missing Girls," "A School Girl's Misstep," Boudoir Gossip."

Whether any of the articles in the magazine are questionable, apparently was a matter of difference of opinion between the publishers and postoffice authorities and it is conceivable that such differences of opinion might exist in other minds.

NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

A week ago complaint was made to Clark E. Webster, chief postoffice inspector, that a certain magazine of questionable type is being sent through the mail to subscribers. After conferring with U. S. Dist.-Atty. McNabb, he ordered an inquiry. He said last night that there is nothing new in the situation.

The news dispatch from Washington accompanying the story of the Chicago magazine said:

"The campaign being conducted by the authorities in various cities of the country has disclosed that numerous magazines are continually being barred from the mails, but they are transported in other ways. The efforts of city officials in many sections, postal officials believe, are beginning to show their effect."

A Midwest Parent-Teacher Association some time ago began a national movement to have Parent-Teacher associations the country over instigate campaigns in each community against salacious magazines because of their effect on school children among whom they were said to circulate extensively.

WAR CAMERA NOW GETS NEWS

"Times" Man Uses Ingenious Glasses

May Allison Inspects German Binoculars

A SMALL long-distance camera built so as to appear as an innocent pair of binoculars, taken from a German spy during the World War, is now owned by George Watson, head of the Times photographic department. Mr. Watson uses it to take pictures for The Times.

Even a good look at the "glasses" does not reveal the fact they are in reality a very efficient "trick" camera. The resourcefulness of the German is revealed in its clever construction. There are nine different lenses within the barrels of the "binoculars," built of twenty-five separate pieces of glass. Some of the lenses are single and some double. Hidden in small compartments underneath the eye-pieces are six lenses, some of them no greater in diameter than a pencil.

This unusual camera was demonstrated for May Allison, film actress in First National's "The Viennese Medley," now in production. It was while visiting The Times photographic department that Miss Allison saw the camera. No money can separate Mr. Watson from his binocular-camera. Miss Allison learned that when she sought to purchase it.

PASADENA MAN WEDS IN ST. LOUIS

A. C. Buttolph, Jr., of Bond Broking Company Bringing Bride Here

Albert Charles Buttolphe, Jr., member of a pioneer Pasadena family, was married in St. Louis Saturday to Mrs. Florence Mott Watts, according to dispatches from St. Louis yesterday. Buttolph resides at 1200 New York avenue, Pasadena, and is a member of the bond broking firm of Casamajor, Doty & Buttolph. His bride, according to advices from St. Louis, obtained a divorce two weeks ago from Lawson M. Watts, vice-president of the First National Bank and widely-known amateur sportsman of the Missouri metropolis.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Mrs. Watts's aunt, Mrs. David Alonzo Bixby, in the presence of fourteen guests, by Rev. Howard Billman of the Church Federation. Immediately afterward, Mr. and Mrs. Buttolph are said to have left for California on a honeymoon trip. It was understood that the couple met in Pasadena, the former Mrs. Watts having spent her time here since her separation from Watts in June, 1924. Her divorce was obtained on the grounds of general indignities.

Ear, Bitten Off by Stranger, is Sewed on Again

A total stranger to Mrs. Dora Kidd, 31 years of age, colored, last night rushed up to her and without further ado bit off part of her right ear. She picked up the severed portion of the ear and hurried to the Receiving Hospital, where Dr. Saverien sewed it on. Mrs. Kidd could offer no explanation for the unseeming conduct on the part of the stranger.

FIREMEN DASH TO AID STORK

Hurry Call for Pulmotor Saves New Baby When Breathing Stops

Smoke-eaters yesterday played first aid to Doc Stork with results satisfactory to all concerned.

A baby boy was born to Mrs. Jessie Stork, 3926 Waverly avenue, at the French Hospital. Soon after birth the infant's breath stopped. A hurry call to the fire department brought a pulmotor and other delicate respiratory instruments. In half an hour the baby's respiration was normal and he and his mother are doing well.

The boy, who in the future may fittingly thrill when he sees the fire trucks pass by tipped the scales at twelve pounds.

SAN FERNANDO BEGINS CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

ARMY SEEKS $150,000 FOR ACTIVE PROMOTION OF MAJOR PROJECTS

The Greater San Fernando Valley Association's "advertising army" of 650 men and women will begin a campaign today to raise $150,000 from valley property-owners to advertise the valley and to promote major development projects.

Under the direction of President A. Z. Taft, Jr., and I. H. "Bing" Malin of San Fernando, general of the campaign, the eight divisions of the army, which averages more than seventy-five workers to a district, will visit all property-owners, both resident and non-resident for subscriptions to the fund. Requests for subscriptions will be based upon the assessed valuation of real property.

The advertising of the valley is considered one of the most important problems of its growth. Other development projects, President Taft said, include the installation of a rapid transit system, flood control, sewers, industries, parks and playgrounds, more highways and additional residential growth.

AUTOIST IMPALED ON WINDSHIELD MAY DIE

Frank Fahrankrug, 25 years of age, of 7312 Marbrisa street, Florence, was impaled on glass from the broken windshield of his car last night after it turned over on Compton avenue near Nadeau street. He suffered critical injuries to his abdomen and was operated on by Drs. Manning and Saverien of the Receiving Hospital staff and Dr. De Baughan, but will probably die.

The accident is believed to have been caused by the sudden locking of a rear wheel of the victim's car while the machine was traveling at a fair rate of speed.
